RE-ELECT CRAIG STATE PRESIDENT

NEXT CONVENTION WILL BE HELD IN PHILADELPHIA

HER LAST TALK WITH REPORTERS

Ruth Elder's last interview with New York reporters at Roosevelt Field, L. I., before taking off over the Atlantic with George Haldeman, in her plane, American Girl.

Future Plans Of Ruth Elder Are Not Known

Daring Girl Flier May Take Up Stage Or Movie Career Is Predicted

BACKERS OF TRIP NEAR COLLAPSE

It's Entirely Up To Ruth, Says One Of Financial Backers Of Flight

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Whatever Ruth Elder's ambitions may be for a stage or movie career—and it appeared today there were ample opportunities for both—they will not be known until she returns to the United States.

The promoter of the near-tragic Paris flight and one of the financial backers, who had slept little since the take-off, declared today: "It's entirely up to Ruth."

T. H. McArdle, Florida promoter, and H. E. Cornell, one of the flight sponsors, said today they had "received a number of telegrams" but declined to divulge the exact nature of the offers for Ruth's services—if they were offers, at all.

Don't Know Plans.

"I don't know what Miss Elder's plans are. All I know is that her ambition was to be the first woman to fly across the Atlantic," McArdle said. "She never said whether she wanted to go into the movies or on the stage.

Report Fliers Trans-Shipped By Dutch Tanker

Messages Say Ruth Elder And Haldeman Placed On Board Steamer Signale

(International News Service)

LISBON, Oct. 14.—A dispatch from the Azores today stated that Ruth Elder and George Haldeman, the American flyers picked up by the Dutch tanker Barendrecht when their plane "American Girl," was forced down into the Atlantic while attempting a non-stop flight from New York to Paris, have been trans-shipped to the steamship Signale. The dispatch follows:—

"The American Girl was forced down 500 miles northeast of the Azores. The flyers were rescued by the steamship Barendrecht. Later they were trans-shipped to the steamship Signale bound for Ponta Delgada, St. Michael Island, the Azores, where it is expected tomorrow."

Earlier advices made no mention of the flyers being taken off the Barendrecht, but had stated that the Barendrecht would put in at the Azores tomorrow to land them.

Name Syling As Delegate

County Superintendent Is Named To Attend Convention In Boston

ANNUAL INSTITUTE SESSIONS CLOSE

At the closing session of the Lawrence county teachers' institute, held in the Shenango township consolidated school at East New Castle, John A. Syling, county superintendent of schools, was chosen as delegate to the National Education Association convention, to be held in Boston.

Two delegates were elected from the elementary and one from the high schools to attend the convention of the Pennsylvania State Education Association. From the elementary schools Mrs. Gula Hess and Miss Verna Green were elected, while E. Preston Sharp was elected to represent the high schools.

In the election of officers of the P. S. E.A., C. B. Book was elected president, Grace Reed, secretary, and Mrs. Carrie Roberts as treasurer.

Auditors as elected by the institute were R. F. Conway, supervising principal of Union township schools, and Howard Butler, principal of Mt. Jackson high school.

The Principals Association announced the subjects for the different departments of the contests to be held in the county high schools. They are: oration, "American Ideals"; essay, "The Spirit of the Pioneers"; declamation, "Bobby Shafto"; debate, "Resolved: that voting be made compulsory in all of the states of the United States."

Mr. Syling in a closing talk expressed his gratitude to all the teachers of the institute for their fine cooperation in making this the best institute that he has ever known.

Ruth Elder And Haldeman Break Two Air Records

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Although failing in its ultimate goal, Ruth Elder's dramatic bid to be the first woman to fly across the Atlantic succeeded in smashing two records, one of which is shared by her pilot-navigator, George Haldeman.

The fliers took their plane, American Girl, over a 2,574-mile transoceanic course, exceeding by 181 miles the previous record for flight over water established by Lieutenants Hegenberger and Maitland in their flight from San Francisco to Hawaii.

To Miss Elder also goes the record of the longest flight ever made by a woman.

DEATH RECORD

William Manning, 73, Shenango township.

James Myers, 66, Lawrence county home.

Fliers Battle With Elements Before Rescue

PERFECT LANDING ON OCEAN WATERS

(Copyright, 1927, by International News Service.)

ABOARD THE S. S. BARENDRECHT BOUND FOR AZORES, Oct. 14.—The rescue of Ruth Elder and Captain George Haldeman was effected after these two daring flyers had battled for hours against the terrific storm in the skies.

The "American Girl" had excellent flying during Tuesday night and Wednesday but on Wednesday night it hit a storm area which caused both pilots to exert their utmost energies to keep the ship aloft.

Miss Elder states very frankly that both were worried for fear they would not be able to bring their plane thru the storm.

Yesterday morning the two flyers, seeking to get out of the storm area, veered southward and were headed towards the coast of Spain when their oil line failed.

With their gauges showing a failure in oil supply and their engine heating rapidly, Miss Elder and Haldeman knew they could not keep the ship in the air long and as soon as they sighted the Barendrecht they came down.

The landing of the aeroplane upon the sea by the two flyers was executed safetly and was a fine bit of aerial maneuvering, but when attempts were made to salvage the aeroplane, it exploded and burned up. It is believed that the overheated engine caused the explosion.

Miss Elder and Haldeman came down after they had been in the air for 35 hours and had flown 3,000 miles according to the best estimates they were able to make.

Farrell Worker Instantly Killed In Steel Plant

(International News Service)

FARRELL, Pa., Oct. 14.—A white hot rod burning its way into his lungs was blamed today for the almost instant death of Nick Demartinis, 20, a blacksmith employed by the American Steel and Wire Company plant here.

Coroner William McGrath returned a verdict of accidental death when he learned that Demartinis was helping to [illegible] the rod from a furnace, when he fell against it.

English Woman Starts Flight To Australia

(International News Service)

CROYDON AIRDROME, England, Oct. 14.—The longest airplane flight ever attempted by a woman began at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon when Mrs. Keith Miller hopped off for Australia in a small monoplane piloted by Capt. William Lancaster, of the Air Force Reserve. The distance of the flight is 13,000 miles.

Have Cornerstone Laying Ceremony Thursday Afternoon

"Every time a new school building is erected our government is strengthened," declared Dr. Martin G. Brumbaugh, a former Governor of Pennsylvania, now president of Juniata College of Huntingdon, in his address at the cornerstone laying exercises of the new Euclid Avenue Junior high school, held in the auditorium of the Senior high school, Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

"The people of this country are really the government, and the quality of our government depends upon our citizenry. Our children should enter life, fit, and especially loyal to their government, city, state and nation," the noted educator added.

Applause came from the audience when Dr. Brumbaugh stated: "In my opinion, anyone coming into this country should learn the language spoken here, in five years. If this was not done, the person in question should get out of this republic."

Ceremony at Senior High

Owing to the bad weather prevailing and also to the condition of the ground surrounding the new Junior high school, it was decided to carry out the cornerstone laying program in the Senior high auditorium.

Several speakers of prominence were listed on the program. Rabbi J. B. Meukes of the Temple Israel delivered the invocation.

Dr. O. T. Corson, Commissioner of Education of Ohio, gave an excellent address.

State Senator George T. Weingartner congratulated the school board and the people in general for erecting such a fine building and he stated that he hopes the influence of this new school building on the boys and girls who attend it, will go on, on, on.

A. L. Thayer, architect of the new building complimented the school board on erecting the new building and stated that everything possible was being done to make this one of the best equipped schools of the modern day. He added that the U. S. Bureau of Education and the Pennsylvania Department of Instruction were conferred with in order to obtain the best ideas of modern school buildings.

J. Clyde Gilfillan, contractor of the new Junior high building spoke next. Mr. Gilfillan stated that: "The cornerstone of the new building could be placed much better by the workmen on the building than by the men on the stage, but what is needed in a cornerstone laying, he said, are men who are able to start us to thinking." Mr. Gilfillan, in charge of the work-

Coolidge And His Party Slip Quietly Out Of Pittsburgh

Only Handful Of People At Station To Bid Farewell To President

Coolidge Party Spends Busy Day In Pittsburgh; Carnegie Tech Speaker

By CARL L. TURNER,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14.—Quietly and almost unnoticed President Coolidge and his entourage sped across Pennsylvania in a special train early today, returning to Washington after the first visit to the Quaker state since his vacation.

The President and Mrs. Coolidge spent a busy day in Pittsburgh yesterday, being hurried from one section to another by the reception committee to give as many persons as possible the opportunity to see the distinguished visitors.

Mr. Coolidge came here to speak at Founders' Day exercises at Carnegie Institute, founded by the Late Andrew Carnegie, steel king, but his presence acted as a magnet that drew

Wheeling Backers Of Elder Flight Are Satisfied

Will Discourage Any Further Attempts By Daring Girl Flier To Span Ocean

(International News Service)

WHEELING, W. Va., Oct. 14.—Any plans Ruth Elder may have to attempt again a flight to Paris will be discouraged by her eight Wheeling backers, it was indicated today in a statement by their legal advisor, Howard D. Matthews.

"Let's forget it," he suggested. "We are closing the books satisfied that something has been done for aviation."

FORMER ELKTON PASTOR FINED

(International News Service)

ELKTON, Md., Oct. 14.—Richard P. Westren, the unfrocked Methodist pastor on trial recently on charge of performing marriage ceremonies without proper religious or legal authority, was fined $500 and costs in a decision given by Judge W. L. Wickes, of the Cecil county circuit court, today.

Westren, who had been the "Marryin' Parson" of Elkton until he was deprived of his office last Spring, said he would appeal the decision. The 1000 marriages he performed during his brief career were validated by a decree of the court, in order to protect the contracting parties.

Westren is now driving a wagon for an Elkton laundry.

Here's Million That Says Reed Shouted Truth, Will Offers

(Special To The News)

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Oct. 14.—Say, did you read what Jim Reed called the Republicans? Why, you would think if they had any pride at all they could come out and deny it. I guess they would if they could. It took Missouri seven years to find out that Jim was right.

I hope the nation can catch on quicker than that.

I would love to see Jim in that White House.

He would sure have some of those old rich boys going in and bringing ticks out of the water for him.

WILL ROGERS.

P. S.—I only got one more bet to make and then I'm through. I'll bet one million dollars everything Jim said about the Republicans are true.

Five Pioneer Letter Carriers Of City Gather

Have 40th Anniversary Celebration At Leslie Hotel Last Night

EARLY DAYS ARE AGAIN RECOUNTED

Postmaster Crawford And Few Other Guests Share Program

New Castle's first five letter-carriers, the men who delivered the mail in 1887, held their first banquet in 40 years at the Leslie hotel last night, where once again they lived the career of the man who trudges through days heated by torrid sunbeams, streets curtained with sleet and ice, and, in fact, the man who braves the elements to help keep Uncle Sam's pledge that "the mail never stops."

It was a banquet at which the usual high-flowered oratory was missing but a get-together of five men, who in 1887 were the first young men to wear the gray uniform of the U. S. postoffice department while they delivered letters, packages, circulars and other mail to New Castle people, who at that time totalled 10,000.

Men at Banquet.

The gentlemen who were New Castle's first letter-carriers and who banqueted last are J. D. McIlvenny, G. R. Dufford, W. S. Rice, L. L. Eagan and Dan Mooney. F. A. Schultz, a general delivery clerk in 1884, was a guest as was the present postmaster, Edwin Crawford and a representative of the New Castle News.

Prior to assuming their duties the quintet compiled a directory becaused in those days the houses were not numbered, street signs were absent and there was considerable open territory. The city proper on the west ended at the West Washington street bridge and only a few houses had been built north of Lincoln avenue.

To be more exact those were the days when different sections were known as "Mullentown", "Reynoldstown" and "Slabtown". Some of the principal stores were located in Mo-

Many Hazardous Ocean Flights Now Under Way

(International News Service)

While the world awaits full details of the rescue of Ruth Elder and George Haldeman, who came down at sea during an attempted trans-Atlantic flight, other hazardous flights across the Atlantic are under way.

Dieudonne Costes and Lieutenant Lebrix, French aviators, hopped off today from St. Louis, Senegal, with Natal as their objective.

The Junkers hydroplane, piloted by Fritz Loose, started today from Lisbon for the Azores and may continue to America if conditions are perfect.

The Heinkel hydroplane, piloted by Horst Merz, made a new start from Wilhelmshaven for Amsterdam on a flight to New York.

Mrs. Frances Grayson still awaits favorable weather on the Maine coast for her projected flight to Copenhagen.

NEW CASTLE MAN UNANIMOUS CHOICE FOR COMING YEAR

Philadelphia Is Challenged To Make 1928 Convention Bigger And Better Than Epochal One Closing Here This Evening; R. E. English Of Grove City Is Added To Vice Presidents Of State Organization; Year's Budget Will Be Raised; Resolutions Urge Christian Citizens To Get Out And Vote At Every Election

At the morning session of the 65th annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association, held in the Scottish Rite Cathedral, Percy L. Craig of this city was honored by the delegates of the greatest convention held to date in being re-elected for the ninth consecutive time as the head of the state organization.

With him were re-elected all the present members of the board of directors and vice presidents, and one new vice president, R. E. English, of Grove City, Mercer county, Pa. The election of Mr. Craig and his companion officers was unanimous upon recommendation of the nominating committee, of which Clifford S. Heinz of Pittsburgh was the chairman.

Next Convention in Philadelphia

Other features of the business session of the convention were the unanimous approval of the recommendation by the committee on place of next meeting that Philadelphia have the convention in 1928, the approval of the report of the committee on recommendations and resolutions in which it was urged that one of the duties of a Christian was to exercise the ballot in all elections.

Another thing that brought approval from the vast audience was the announcement by President Craig that the money already raised toward the budget of the association for the coming year was $56,615, and that more was in sight. He also announced that the registered delegates to this convention, now numbering 4,150, the greatest number in the history of the conventions of the state association.

Challenges Philadelphia

When it was announced that Philadelphia had been selected as the next convention city, President Craig arose, stating that he was speaking as a member of the Lawrence County Sabbath School Association, and not as president, and challenged Philadelphia County Association to beat the record in attendance of this convention. W. D. Reel, secretary of the Philadelphia County Association, came to the platform and after thanking the convention for giving his city and county the convention, stated that he accepted the challenge on behalf of his organization, and also that while this was the greatest convention that he had ever attended, that Philadelphia expected to go it one better.

The reports of the various committees followed by the election of officers and special business, was the business of the convention from 10:30 to 11 a. m. It was one of the busiest half hours of the entire convention.

Prof. O. R. Myers, Huntingdon, Pa., a vice president of the association, presided at this session. J. O. Hertzler of Erie county, chairman of the recommendations and resolutions committee, made the report of the committee, which was accepted and adopted by the convention.

Resolutions Presented.

The committee reported in part as follows: "That the convention had revealed its purpose in a rededicated faith in Christ, faith in the Holy Bible and in a clear knowledge of God's purpose and plan.

"It is recommended first the building of better Sunday schools and the use of a consecrated leadership. Also that the Sunday schools of Pennsylvania shall ever maintain in their curriculum the firm faith in Christ as contained in the Holy Writ. The conquering of that great persistent enemy, 'Indifference'.

"Recommends the support of the Near East Relief for the current year.

"Urge the full performance of every Christian duty, which always includes presence at the polls at every election held in this commonwealth and the exercise of the privilege and power of the ballot.

"That a stand be made squarely and steadfastly for strict law enforce-

Delay Paving Of Greenwood Avenue

Councilmen indicated during Friday's meeting in city hall that Greenwood avenue paving bids will be rejected and the improvement will not be made until next spring.

Arthur Mometer

This may be just Friday to many of you, just a week day, no more nor less, but for some of us it means more than that, its an epochal day I guess. Its a birthday date, for a couple of folks who mean quite a lot to me, and for dinner tonight there's a bit of a spread, and that's where I'm going to be. Its a birthday spread for a boy and a girl, though their ages are far apart, for the girl has silver flaked in her locks, but the boy is just making his start. Its the second time that he's seen such a day, and he's not sure what to do, but the lady has had them for many a year, and to her they are nothing new. But though their ages are far part, they both mean a heap to me, a little lad, and his mother's ma, the weather is fifty-three.

ravia street, Neshannock avenue was the aristocratic section of the city and the Raney-Berger furnace was the most southerly industry and a canal coursed through town.

Mooney's Route Longest.

The men carried, proportionately, as much mail as the carriers of today. The longest route was traversed by Dan Mooney, who had the fourth and fifth wards. The rest of the city was allotted as follows: McIlvenny, third; Rice, second; Dufford, first, and Eagan, Beaver street to Snakes Rest, out Harbor road and west side to the brewery.

In recounting their experiences during the time Major William Gordon was the postmaster they described how foreign letters were sent collect and they had to collect postage and a humorous incident was recited by Dan Mooney, who said he stopped to read a postal card one day while the lady who was to receive it saw him from a window.

Several deliveries were made each day and it was often that the carriers had to wear 'gum boots" to travel through thoroughfares because in 1887 there were few paved streets. When they first started they had to knock on the door, determine the right of the person to receive the mail then deliver the letter. There were no letter-boxes.

Whenever any of them would declare the other carrier had the shortest route, the postmaster would declare: "O. K., I'll change you all around and then you will all have the shortest route." This changed the entire complexion of things and after Mooney's speedometer showed 24 miles on his route, arguments became nil.

In 1887 the work was more laborious than it is today as trucks now relay heavy material to different points for carrier delivery. The amount of material carried then, proportionately, was about the same as today. Then there were five carriers; today there are 37 exclusive of the rural delivery service.

During the banquet several letters of congratulations to the "Original Five" were read, among them being one from Congressman J. Howard Swick, who congratulated the men, especially Mr. Eagan, who is now the only member still in service. He is in the railway postal service.

Another of the letters was from Mont Forney, president, and Fred Kuech, secretary of the local branch of the National Association of Letter Carriers, who conveyed greetings to the men who were carriers in 1887. There were other similar letters from prominent men and organizations.

Following a well delivered poem by Dan Mooney in which he likened the game of life to a game of cards, the five men, who are creeping toward age, the banquet was concluded with the promise of all of them to be present at their 41st anniversary to be held in 1928.

men, pledged the support of their organization in erecting the fine institution.

C. H. Young, a member of the school board and also a member of the Pennsylvania Public Service Commission, expressed the school board's appreciation to Dr. Brumbaugh and Dr. Corson. After giving a brief review of the history of the New Castle school board, Mr. Young, presented the cornerstone box to Mr. Thayer instructing him to place the box safely in the stone.

The cornerstone box contained the minutes of the board of school directors, when the resolution to erect the new building was adopted, a roster of the board of school directords and the officers of the administration, a roster of the city government, a copy of the New Castle School Bulletin, copies of the New Castle News and a program of the cornerstone laying exercises.

Mr. Thayer then accepted the box. He stated later that the box would probably be deposited in the stone about Monday.

Rev. C. J. Williamson, pastor of the Highland United Presbyterian church, pronounced the benediction.

Dr. Corson of Ohio, in his address, remarked that nowadays we are forgetting that living is more important than making a living. He said that there is a more important thing than making a living and that is to make a life. "Today, we are too proud to pray," he continued. One thing that is the matter with the world today is that we are too proud to pray to God, our Creator," he added.

At various times during the program the Senior high school orchestra rendered selections. Before the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Williamson the audience sang the Star Spangled Banner.

Students from the North Street Junior High, Martin Gantz, West Side and Highland schools were present as well as teachers from these schools. Teachers and students from other schools in the city were also present.

Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of city schools, presided.

Newly Elected Executive Board Holds Session cell, had raised $2,000 and sent it to Cincinnati to aid his defense on the murder charge.

Daughter Brings Fund

The money was brought here by Romola Remus, daughter of Mrs. Lillian Krause Remus, the first wife. "I have not a dime in the world," said the former bootlegger. "This sacrifice of the wife I deserted and my wonderful daughter will assist me beyond belief."

The Hamilton county grand jury is expected to indict Remus today. It has heard eye-witnesses of the shooting, relatives of the slain woman and associates of Remus, including George F. Conners, his premier of rum king days, who has been making an unsuccessful search for $1,800,000 Remus claims Mrs. Imogene Remus and Franklin L. Dodge, Department of Justice agent, and her asserted paramour, hid in bank vaults.

Speedy Trial

It was expected notice of the indictment would be served on Remus in his cell by noon today. Under Ohio law this would allow him to plead at noon tomorrow. Otherwise he will be arraigned Monday before Judge Chester Shook of criminal court.

Remus will plead not guilty, alleging that the slaying was homocide justified by the acts of Mrs. Remus and Dodge.

Judge Shook and Charles P. Taft, Hamilton county prosecutor, have indicated that Remus' expressed wish for a speedy trial will be granted.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 14.—The Hamilton county grand jury today returned an indictment charging Geo. Remus former "Bootleg King" with first degree murder in connection with the killing of his wife, Mrs. Imogene Remus, whom Remus shot to death in Eden Park here October 6.

The indictment charges Remus "with deliberate and premediated murder and kill" Mrs. Remus.

Remus probably will be arraigned Saturday morning.

The indictment was returned after two days spent by the grand jury in probing the killing.

It seems as if pretty nearly every program nowadays has to have its beauty contest.

The way to drain one kind of "wet spots" of the country is to encase its sources with cells.

Exposes Inside Workings Of Big Bond Theft Ring

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Oct. 14.—B. H. McKeehan, Wyoming business man who was first to be taken into custody in the investigation of a widespread bond theft ring here, today gave authorities their first real information concerning the "fence" who brought thousands of dollars worth of stolen bonds here for disposal.

Testifying in the investigation into the campaign funds of Dr. F. D. Thomas, county coroner, whose fund in his unsuccessful race for sheriff was alleged to have been aided by stolen bond money, McKeehan gave what authorities termed the "inside" story of the bond theft ring. He said that the mysterious Benjamin Harris for whom authorities have been searching was the man who furnished the securities for sale here. Harris demanded 80 per cent while McKeehan was to be given 20 per cent to use in the campaign, McKeehan testified.

McKeehan said Harris turned over to him $50,000 in securities. He said he first met the man on the street, striking up an acquaintanceship through the fact both are members of the same lodge.

FUTURE PLANS OF RUTH ELDER ARE NOT KNOWN

The flight was uppermost in her mind as far as I know.

"We, as backers, cooperated with her in this ambition and made no other provisions. We are standing by awaiting developments. We understand she is being taken to the Azores, and we may not hear from her before Saturday or Sunday."

McArdle, who has promoted various enterprises, including oil well developments, was in bed when interviewed, preparing for his first real rest since the take-off. The table in his hotel room was strewn with telegrams.

The promoter added that he was "through promoting enterprises that put human lives at stake." He has received no word from Ruth since the first brief cablegram, he said.

Raise Funds To Oppose Reed And Smith Candidacies

(International News Service)

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 14.—The Missouri Anti-Saloon League today launched a campaign to raise $50,000 to oppose the presidential candidacies of either governor Al Smith or Senator James A. Reed, according to Parker Shields, state superintendent. A circular letter seeking contributions to the fund has been mailed over the state. The letter states the organization will oppose "Senator Reed or Governor Smith or any other candidate of similar attitude toward prohibition."

Shields declared the fund will be known as the Wayne B. Wheeler Memorial fund.

political leaders to Pittsburgh from all parts of Pennsylvania.

Silent On Politics

The president cordially received all but he declined to talk politics, preferring to confine his remarks to the set speech which he delivered in Carnegie hall praising the industrial and cultural life of the steel city.

Shortly before 10:30 p. m., last night the presidential party drove up to the East Liberty station of the Pennsylvania railroad and boarded the four-car special train. The president and his immediate party occupied the last two cars, while the others were occupied by secret service men and a score of correspondents.

After bidding goodbye to Col. Samuel H. Church, head of the Institute who acted as his escort during the brief visit, President Coolidge entered the observation car and remained inside until a few minutes before his departure, when he walked to the rear platform and smilingly bid farewell to the little group that braved a cold rain to see him off.

Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon returned to Washington with the president, but Secretary of Labor Davis, the only other cabinet member present, returned to his home in Sharon, Pa., where his father is ill.

HALLOWEEN ONE NIGHT

IT MAY seem a bit unjust to the very young whose Halloween frolic is to be confined by police orders to one night alone, but it is a very appropriate restriction on the increasing number of "rough-necks" who choose several nights this time of year to commit vandalism.

The pitiful thing is that Halloween, fascinating ceremony that it has been for many years, pretext for many acts of mischief, has been distorted by a few disorderlies in many communities into an occasion for senseless destruction of public and private property.

Householders can endure much from children and even the older ones conceived in the spirit of fun, but when property is wrecked, or air let out of tires of a large fleet of automobiles, the most popular thing the police can do is to use clubs and handcuffs on the rowdies if they can be caught.

The nation almost lost a Fourth of July celebration because the extremists knew no limits. Other holidays have been imperilled also by inappropriate observance. Halloween is too picturesque and ancient a ceremony to be ruined by a few toughs.

"STAY EAST," URGES JORDAN

IT HAS been many years since Horace Greeley stirred the imagination of an earlier generation by his cry of "Go West, Young Man!" That might have been good advice at the time, but if we accept the judgment of many thoughtful persons of the present era that command has now been changed to: "Stay East, Young Man!"

In the course of an able address at the thirtieth annual harvest festival of the National Farm School at Doylestown, Secretary of Agriculture Charles G. Jordan of this state declared that farming in the East offered quite as great possibilities, if not greater ones, than the West. The fact that this is contrary to the opinion held by many, makes it all the more interesting comments the Philadelphia Inquirer. There is something epic about the huge scale on which farming is conducted in the western states, but after all, it is the production per acre and the financial results which are obtained that count in the prosperity and the contentment of the farmer.

The point that Mr. Jordan endeavored to emphasize was that the young man about to enter on the business of agriculture did not have to look far afield if he be in search of a successful career as a tiller of the soil. "It is probably not generally known," he informed the young men at the Doylestown school, "that Pennsylvania produces more wheat per acre than Kansas and more corn per acre than the Middle West generally, and there is every reason why he should be as much of a success in Pennsylvania as in any state in the union." Not the least of its advantages lies in the proximity of its markets.

Pennsylvania's reputation for leading all states in its mineral and industrial productions sometimes causes us to underestimate its importance as an agricultural commonwealth. The last census showed that we had more than 200,000 farms, with a total acreage of 17,657,513, producing more than $500,000,000 of crops. Lancaster is credited with being the richest agricultural county in the United States, and we would have to go very far to find more prosperous counties than the regions around Reading, Lancaster and York.

The farm school at Doylestown produced over $30,000 worth of foodstuffs in the past year, and it is typical of what may be done in other sections of this wonderful state. It is the old story of "acres of diamonds" at our own doorsteps. Distance may lend enchantment to the view, but it is pleasing to think that those who have the industry and intelligence may find ample work to do within the territory with which they are most familiar.

ADVERTISING AND PROGRESS

ADVERTISING has proven itself to be the barometer of progress. It has not been long since business advertising was as severely criticised and ridiculed as boasting of personal qualifications.

Business is ever the standard bearer and apostle of progress, and so it was business which discovered that advertising was a vital factor in all growth. When advertising was admitted to the fireside of business it was not the big business of today. Big business traces its beginning with its employment of advertising.

In its conversion to advertising business was soon followed by industry, commerce and the professions. The benefits of advertising had made themselves manifest in each step forward.

That was the evolution of advertising, until today advertising plays a part in every phase of life and is the working instrument of all except the doctor and the lawyer, who still consider it "unethical" to advertise for business. He may place his "card" in the weekly newspaper in patronage of the publisher, but it is professionally forbidden for the doctor or the lawyer to inform the public of its capabilities.

Nothing in life has attained perfection and evolution as an eternal, ever-continuing advancement. The evolution of advertising will not stop with its adoption by medicine and jurisprudence, but that adoption will establish another milestone of progress.

Trouble with having a grouchy look is you seldom get a pleasant one.

The best example of a vote of confidence is to eat the hash.

The fancier kitchens are made, the shorter time women spend there.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 5:22. Sun rises tomorrow 6:11.

They endow beds in the hospitals but no one endows seats in the street cars.

The Sunday school convention is about all over by this time and it will go down in history as a great event in the state of Pennsylvania. People were here from every part of the state and they went away well pleased. This pleases us more than we can tell because that is what the citizens of New Castle worked for.

We heard a man say at the convention that a place should be set aside for men who lost their wives. We have an idea some try to lose them on purpose.

We are advised to use street cars instead of riding in automobiles when it takes us into congested districts. Walking will be terrible for some people now after riding every place they have been going.

The thing that pleased us a lot during the Sabbath school convention was the spirit displayed in New Castle. The Jewish people and the Catholic people called up the Hints and Dints man and offered their cars and everything needed to make the convention a success. New Castle is bound to boom if such a spirit prevails. We thank you!

Police authorities in some cities declare that petting is an indoor sport. We agree with them if they mean in the winter time.

Next Sunday Mr. Berquist will ask the people of New Castle to make their donations for the operation of the Rescue Mission for the coming year. We are for Berquist in every way. We like to support his mission in this newspaper and we give him the amount of money each year he tells us he would like to have. Help him with his great work.

Highways will have to be larger or automobiles will have to be smaller and that is why an effort will soon be made to make a lot of roads wider.

You are not hopeless a bit unless you are a wee bit hopeless.

It is said that goat meat is growing more popular in this country. Ma-a-a!

When the weather bureau calls for fair weather it probably will rain tomorrow.

More dry members are promised to be elected next year and a bone dry president is also promised us by the Anti-Saloon league. One thing can be honestly said about the league and that is it will tackle a job no matter how difficult and hopeless it may look.

Most men do not become conscience stricken until they are found out.

We are glad we had a part in the Sabbath school convention held in this city, for two reasons: the first, on account of the glorious cause of the Sunday school ,and second, because the president of the association is a New Castle man and we are proud to be his friend and to be even a small part of the great effort made in this city to make him happy and proud of his fellow citizens. Mr. Craig, our hat is off to you!

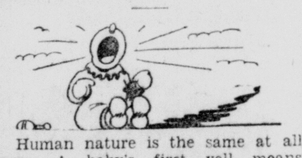
A three million dollar fire was caused in Ocean City, N. J., by a careless cig smoker throwing a lighted cig into something, that started burning. A cig is all right if left alone by humans who are careless.

It is no disgrace to wear a patch on your pants if your coat is long enough to cover it.

We had the great pleasure of being one of the first persons to attend a big luncheon at The Castleton, when Mr. P. L. Craig entertained his coworkers in that beautiful new hotel. It was wonderful and the visitors praised it highly. That hotel is going to be a great asset to New Castle.

If it comes in cans most married men have had some.

New Castle will profit greatly by the Sabbath school convention being held here. When 4,000 or 5,000 people leave their homes and spend their money for a cause most every person not interested in Sunday school work will start to sit up and take notice. When that many people work for a cause there is something worth while in it. We are for the great American Sunday and the Sunday school all the time.



Human nature is the same at all ages. A baby's first yell means "gimme."

GETTING THE "BIG HEAD"

Humankind is getting the big-head, the Smithsonian Institution says.

Scientific investigation by Dr. Ales Hrdlicka, the Smithsonian's anthropologist who was in Europe to check up on the early cave men, is expected to supply conclusive proof that the human brain is growing larger.

Dr. Hrdlicka has been permitted to examine the bones of the Java ape man, who lived a half million years ago and is the nearest approach to the "missing link" yet found.

"The average man's brain is about 1550 cubic centimeters in size," says Dr. Paul C. Van Natta, who is Dr. Hrdlicka's aid at the national museum, "whereas the brain of the ape man was approximately 900 cubic cenitmeters.

The mighty gorilla, often eight feet tall and weighing 600 pounds, has a brain not quite half as large as that of man. The brain of the chimpanzee, a much smaller but far more intelligent ape, is about half the size of man's and the orang-outang runs the chimpanzee a close second.

Man's brain is equaled in size only by such massive animals as whales and elephants, says Dr. Van Natta. In proportion to his bulk, he has by far the largest brain.

The human brain is larger because it has been used more, the increase in size having naturally followed the progress up the evolutionary ladder, the scientists explain.

Lloyd's, of London, insures parents against having twins, and actors against train delays interfering with performances in the next town. These "laws of chance" figures will interest mothers: In America quadruplets are born only once in every 400,000 births. Triplets arrive once in every 8,000 births. Twins are not rare—one in 90 births.

He said he was well pleased with the progress New Castle is making. Mr. Wardrop was the first depositor in the Union Trust Company of this city when it was started as the Savings and Trust Co., some years ago and has been such ever since and will continue to be one. He has Book No. 1 and is proud of it. His many friends were all glad to see him.

A coolie assaulted a policeman in Shanghai the other day, and after the trial the court ordered the cop to sock the coolie three times on the nose. If a rule like that was in force in this country we'd get a lot of pleasure in being a cop, just to soak some of the people who ought to be socked.

Dante and the Gas Range.
They Will Fly.
Her Quivering Flesh.
Rattlesnakes Are Easy.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1927, By N. Y. American, Inc.

Dante and Virgil traveled the frightful parts of Hell where spirits writhed and rolled in red hot pitch, then going deeper found Satan himself, held captive in ice up to his waist, his waving bat-like wings supplying the cold as with three mouths he chewed three sinners, including Judas and Brutus.

As strange a combination of hot and cold is exhibited at Chicago's American Gas convention. It's a gas stove and refrigerator combined, no bigger than the average gas range. Here also the heat is above and the refrigerator in the lower part of the unit.

In spite of warnings and disasters men and women continue their flying effort so conquer the oceans.

Two Frenchmen are on their way from Paris to Buenos Aires.

A Fokker monoplane, Southern Cross is ready to start from San Francisco Bay to Australia. Mrs. Grayson will try to fly from Maine to Denmark. A German Heinkle plane is coming here via the Azores. And Ruth Elder, 23 year old American girl, was last seen 300 miles at sea on the way to Paris.

When this was written yesterday afternoon in Los Angeles at 7 o'clock California time four big army planes were flying over the business part of the city and a big Gord plane was making its daily arrival in Los Angeles from San Diego with an invitation from San Diego's chamber of commerce to fly down and watch San Diego grow for one day.

Those who run risks today will have contributed to absolute safe flying in the future. Lindbergh says flying overland with a good pilot and machine is safer now than automobiling.

Beter machines will soon make ocean flights as simple and safe as a flight over the English channel for which Northcliffe a few years ago offered a $50,000 prize.

Moving picture shows Lionel Barrymore holding the redhot branding iron, Aileen Pringle providing the snow white shoulder and quivering flesh to which the "redhot" iron will be applied.

Thousands shuddering at this branding will hardly realize that such torture would have been considered natural a few years ago. Men were skinned alive, impaled on sharp shafts and left dying for hours. At the time of Henry the Second a workman was branded on the cheek with a hot iron if without permission he left his parish to find work in another.

Those Henry the Second workmen may comfort united coal mine workers of America, forbidden by court injunction to interfere with the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation's open shop.

That injunction and others like it will do a good deal to make unions powerless. But it isn't as bad as being branded for going out of your parish to look for work. We do improve although slowly.

Near Riverton, Wyoming, Ted Lee killed 15 rattlesnakes with a shovel.

Rattlesnakes rely entirely on poison and conceit which makes it easy to destroy them. So with those that pervert truth in history, religion or otherwise. They rely on a poison which is not reliable and are disposed of easily.

Senator Reed of Missouri dissatisfied with national conditions says "the times are ripe and ready for a change." He thinks the Republican party must be thrown out "if this people are to remain free."

It will be difficult however to throw out a Republican party that has nation-wide prosperity a cash surplus of $400,000,000 and a voting plurality of 7,000,000 behind it. Very heavy to lift and throw out.

Every year there are born in Germany 15,000 pairs of twins, 200 sets of triplets. And a sprinkling of quadruplets. No nation has so many.

This human fertility is more important to Germany than any of her other factories. The real wealth is human intelligence and industry and the world's mothers create its real wealth.

A New York Stock Exchange seat sells for $250,000. There are only 1,100 seats on the stock exchange, many "inactive," kept for sentimental reasons, by men who do no "trading."

Those 1,100 seats may well be worth eleven hundred million dollars some day. We are in the billion dollar area.

Dr. Crane's Editorial

HONESTY

J. E. B. Maxwell, a garage keeper, has recently had impressed upon him the honesty of most men.

Three years ago Mr. Maxwell was servicing a chance customer and hung his tire gauge on a ring on the door of the car. The driver drove away and took the gauge. Recently, after three years, this customer stopped in Maxwell's garage again and returned the gauge, telling where he had found it. He had intended to return it sooner, but could not remember the garage.

This illustrates the fact that honesty is a commoner trait than supposed. David, the psalmist, alleges that he said in his haste, "All men are liars." David was mistaken. Most men are honest.

The postmaster at Springfield, Illinois, once told me that if the average man made a mistake of two cents at the stamp window, he would walk a block or two back to rectify it. He would rather take all that trouble than to be bothered with the consciousness that he had swindled somebody.

I once got some money at a bank window and when stepping aside to count it I found that the clerk had given me ten dollars too much. I said to him, "You have made a mistake in giving me my money."

"We do not rectify mistakes once they are made at the window. Please step aside," said the clerk.

"But the mistake was in my favor. You have given me ten dollars too much," I said.

That was different, and the clerk accommodatingly counted the money and found that he had been mistaken.

Some people will cheat by picking up a newspaper and not laying down the money on the stand if the dealer is not there. Some people will try to cheat the railroad company and be delighted when the conductor overlooks them. But most people are honest, as the news dealer testifies when he leaves his pile of papers unguarded and trusts people to lay down the money when they take a paper.

Whether it be a moral sense or the discomfort of having done a wrong deed or the fear of being found out, the fact is that the average man finds it more comfortable to go along without cheating.

The card cheat is a rare bird and the clerk, who taps the till is the exception contrary to the prevailing opinion.

Most people have a conviction that they are going to get along better if they keep in harmony with the universe. The fact that the stars in their courses fight against the wicked may be a mere superstition, but we don't like to take chances.

Tomorrow—Safety.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

SUBWAYS AND POLITICS

The Tammany Organization of New York has ever since the subways were built by the City of New York and leased to the operating companies, insisted that the five-cent fare be the limit of charge. Today a passenger may ride all day upon the trains of the underground for a five-cent charge. It has been proven over and over again that upon a five-cent charge no adequate return can be made to the taxpayers of New York upon the money invested in subways, and it is very hard for the operating companies to show any profit whatsoever. They are compelled to use every expedient to cut down expenses. Among them has been the doing away of guards upon the platforms of every car. In the place of guards, automatically opened and closed doors are used, and in the operation of these doors much grief is caused. Yet Tammany still insists upon the five-cent fare, believing, and probably rightly believing, that it is a great vote getter for Tammany.

A visitor from Pittsburgh who had read a good deal about these five-cent fares, decided to learn from personal experience how Tammany's idea worked, so he made several excursions on the Interboro subway. He was aghast. The sardine-like packing in rush hours amazed and shocked him, but it was the operation of the automatic doors which helped turn his hair gray and crystalized his opinion of New York as a "civilized" city.

On one trip what were apparently a father, mother and young son attempted to leave the car. The father and mother reached the platform, but the closing door left the boy imprisoned on the train as it moved off. On another occasion a grandmother pushed a small girl to the platform and the door shut off the grandmother's exit.

"Who", demanded the Pittsburgher, "pays for the damage suits and the heartbreak of New York's transit 'economy'? A visitor sizes up a city by what he sees—New York is big, but it seems to be in a far backward state of civilization."

TALKING OF STRANGERS

"Strange people do not interest me," she said.
"I'm never at my ease when they are near.
I look upon a crowd in utter dread.
Let's take a side street where the path is clear."

"Life's an adventure," later he replied,
"The lure of it comes never to an end.
I never from a stranger turn aside,
For fear I may be casting off a friend.

"You say you don't like strangers. I can prove
By that gold ring you wear it isn't so.
You have a husband whom you dearly love.
He was a stranger not so long ago."

SEVEN DISGRACES—

To live in a town and add nothing to it's goodness.
To accept wages from a firm and not help it make a profit.
To have a conviction and then sell it.
To accept a mother's love and then repay it with neglect.
To make money out of making trouble.
To run away from duty and come back in time for the glory.
To live on the mercy of God and never offer Him thanks.

C. B. D. CHARLES B. DRISCOLL

THESE GOOD OLD DAYS.

The good old days you will find are these days in which you and I are living. There may be better days in the future. We hope so. But there have never been better times in the past.

There is no limit to the number of points in which this modern time exceis all times past .But let us take just one instance.

Humanitarianism is something new in this world. Regard for the rights of others, regardless of class, wealth, birth or situation in life, is somewhat of a novelty.

The immortal Pepys kicked his housemaid soundly when the girl made some error such as misplacing a glass or breaking a cup. And Mr. Pepys in the good old days of Charles the Second did not care whether the housemaid liked it or not when he gave her a kicking. His only worry was lest he might have done it awkwardly and thus might have made himself a bit ridiculous in the eyes of some neighbor of quality who might have been looking on.

Can you picture a respectable, wealthy householder, holding high public office, kicking his housemaid today? Just let him try it on! It would mean a national scandal. The maid would be the least vociferous of the complaints. The man would be ousted from office and considerably disgraced before his constituents.

But it couldn't happen. Men no longer have any desire to kick their servants. It is an action no sane man would countenance for a moment either in himself or in his neighbor. People have come to regard the rights of housemaids along with the rights of others since those good old days of King Charles.

There was a time in the days of romance and chivalry, when kings and other persons in authority could put peasants or slaves to death without answering any questions. The czar of Russia in that same glamorous age during which Pepys lived, wanted to show off to a new ambassador from England. He ordered several of his servants to dash their brains out on the paving stones of the courtyard three stories below the czar's chamber. Of course the poor devils obeyed instantly. The czar didn't think it worth his while even to look out of the window to see how thoroughly the job was done. He went right on talking. He had shown his authority and his glory.

People were not shocked by those things in the good old days that are so happily past. Now our rich and powerful men are giving away millions of dollars annually to make life easy and more interesting for victims of malaria, hookworm or other ailments. These rich men of today actually support organizations that use their energies in regulating the activities of the very men who support them. This is humanitarianism. The big employer doesn't want to abuse his employes. He respects their rights. We take it all for graited. Yet it wasn't that way in the good old days that so many people sigh for.

Foil Jail Break At Mercer Prison

Six Prisoners Are Alleged To Have Been Concerned In Effort

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Pa., Oct. 14. — An attempted jail-break on the part of six inmates of the Mercer County jail was foiled shortly after 11 o'clock on Thursday night, due to the alertness of a woman.

The woman in the case happens to be Mrs. W. A. Bone, wife of Sheriff Bone, who heard strange noises in the corridor of the jail and spread the alarm that prevented six prisoners from enjoying their freedom, and a breath of the night air.

An investigation by Sheriff Bone, County Detective Leyschock and Chief of Police L. L. Shaw revealed that several bars in the jail cells had been sawed off and that two others were partly sawed. It is believed that the prisoners had intended to first get out of their cells, then drill through the jail wall and drop to the ground through the hole in the wall.

The prisoners alleged to have taken part in the attempt to gain their freedom are: G. W. Patterson, Grove City, held on a charge of passing worthless checks; Lester Riley, Greenville, held on a larceny charge; Dennis Livermore, Sharon, held on a larceny charge; Leroy and Delbert Rowe, Grove City, held on selling liquor charges; and Charles Semple, Clarksville, held on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

It is believed by the authorities that the saws were carried into the jail by friends of Patterson, the saws being discovered in the cell occupied by the Grove City man. Patterson was recently visited by two male friends and a girl.

The Mercer jail was recently renovated and new cells installed.

The six prisoners will be arraigned on a charge of attempting to break jail. The break had it been successful would have been one of the most daring and sensational in recent years in this section.

Organ Recital At Third U. P. Church

AN APPRECIATION.

York, Pa., Oct. 13, 1927.

Mr. Geo. W. Conway, Editor,
The News, New Castle, Pa.

My Dear Sir:—

I am in receipt of the issue of the News of yesterday and want to compliment you upon the very thorough way in which you are covering the record breaking convention of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School association, as well as upon the entire paper itself.

I recall the many courtesies extended me while I was in your midst last April conducting the "Bundle Day" for Near East Relief.

With highest regards, I am

Adverse Weather Delays Start Of Grayson Plane

Unfavorable Weather Today Detains Plans For Hop To Copenhagen

(International News Service)

OLD ORCHARD, Me., Oct. 14.—Due to unfavorable weather reports, Mrs. Frances Grayson announced at 5:30 a. m. today that she was forced again to postpone her flight to Denmark.

All was in preparation for the take-off at sunrise.

Mrs. Grayson said she hoped weather conditions would be favorable for a take-off across the Atlantic by 8 o'clock tonight.

At 5 a. m. weather reports from the Radio Corporation of America, the S. S. Leviathan and Sable Island were brought to the plane's crew at their hotel. After studying the reports for a half hour Mrs. Grayson announced that the flight had been postponed.

She expressed keen disappointment but was convinced that an attempt to take-off would have been foolhardy.

The next low tide is at 8 o'clock tonight and Mrs. Grayson said she hoped to be able to take advantage of it and start for Copenhagen.

Weather reports stated that a 45-mile an hour gale was blowing half way across their route and the S. S. Leviathan reported a heavy swell in mid-ocean.

Potato Crop Will Be Below Normal

MERCER, Pa., Oct. 14.—The potato crop in the county despite several record breaking yields will be below normal, says Farm Agent Nagar today.

This is due to the fact that so many crops were failures due to blight.

Warsaw Woman Hides In Trunk To Watch Hubby

(International News Service)

WARSAW, Oct. 14.—How jealousy drove a wife to lock herself in her husband's trunk in order to supervise his behavior on business trips was revealed here when railroad porters found the pretty young Mrs. Stephanowa Plymanski, wife of a Polish manufacturer concealed in a large sample case.

All indications of a gruesome trunk murder became apparent when the porters regardless of the silent instructions "Caution, do not tip!" labelled on the trunk, bumped it on the platform with a bang, when a deep groan emerged from inside. The station master with the assistance of four policemen opened the trunk.

Stephanowa explained the mystery of her hiding place and her discovery caused much laughter in Warsaw society circles.

Two Stores Robbed, No Clue Is Left

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., Oct. 14.—Thieves who entered the Thomas drug store here and the Corcoran store, Beaver Falls, and stole merchandise valued at $600, left no clues behind, say the police. Entrances were gained to both places by jimmying rear windows. Automobiles were used to cart the stuff away.

Peter's Adventures in Animal Land

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

TWELVE AFTER ONE

"Skip along, now, children. You can't hang on mother's tail every moment, you know. Summer is coming and you will want to forage for yourselves, but if ever you are going to learn how 'tis high time you began.

"It is growing darker every second. Soon you will be able to see everything that moves among the shadows. Look, babies! Right in front of you is a furrow in the earth. Mr. Mole is just beneath the surface. If you hustle you can scratch him up before he has time to dig himself in.

"Let's see which one of you reaches the ridge first, and the winner shall have a fair chance to bring up the blind burrower. Right-o! Now you're on the right road. Good luck to you, babies!"

"Twelve after one! Poor Mr. Mole is in bad luck."

Peter looked about to find the speaker, but the lady, whoever it was, kept well ought of sight.

"'Twelve little 'possums went skipping down the lane," began the same high, squeaky voice, in a sing-song tone. Suddenly the cheerful humming turned into a squeal of dismay.

"Oh, dear! oh, dear me! What can the matter be? Danger in sight or Mrs. Rabbit would never be scampering through the field like that.

"Just watch her! She isn't even taking time for a nibble, and never in my life have I seen her race thru the clover without so much as a passing bite at the pink and white tops!"

The squeaky voice sounded much nearer than it had at first. Just to the right of the rabbit hole lay a fallen log, and out from behind this log popped a whiskered face. Catching sight of Peter standing at the rabbit hole, the creature wrinkled its long nose, wiggled its ears and showed its sharp teeth.

OUT FROM BEHIND THE LOG POPPED A WHISKERED FACE.

Three Believed Dying And Fourteen Others Badly Hurt In Wreck Today

(International News Service)

SPANGLER, Pa., Oct. 14.—Three workmen were believed dying, and fourteen others were recovering today from injuries received in an accident on the Sprangler-Nicktown road in which the closed motor truck in which they were riding overturned.

The three believed fatally injured were: John Hazey, 30; Raymond Clawson, 30; and Alvie Folckmer, 18, all of Belsano, near here. They received fractures of the skull.

The men were brought to the miners hospital here by a passing truck. Seven were later discharged and allowed to return to their homes, after their injuries were dressed.

The first taste says "BAKED"

The first taste tells the story. So does the last. Heinz Beans are really baked—baked in ovens. Nothing else could give them that rich, golden brown, appetizing look—that tender mealiness—that honest-to-goodness oven-baked flavor.

You also get Heinz own delicious tomato sauce which permeates every bean.

When you ask for baked beans, be sure you get beans that really are baked in ovens. Beans not baked cannot be labeled "baked". Read the label. • The taste is the test.

NEW CASTLE BUTLER AND JEANNETTE

W. J. OFFUTT CO.

NEW CASTLE BUTLER AND JEANNETTE

The Daybook OF A New Yorker

BY BURTON RASCOE

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Shortly after the middle of last month, for more than a week the daily sale of radio receiving sets in New York was phenomenal. Proprietors of small shops began to have visions of ocean travel and expensive cars. Radio department managers of the large emporiums had the glint that comes from success in their eyes.

On Sept. 23 there began a perfect deluge of returned sets. The sets had been sold on approval, with a ten days' free trial. After two or three days of this depressing slump of sales together with the enormous returns of trial sets, the explanation of the phenomenon dawned upon the depressed radio tradesmen.

Hundreds of people had taken advantage of the ten days' free trial offer merely to hear the reports of the Tunney-Dempsey fight. The radio people hereafter, I hope, will suspend the trial offer a fortnight before every big prizefight.

The incident just recorded seems to me highly reprehensible. In anything like general practice it might mean the bankruptcy of a great many small dealers in radio sets. Not that they might not eventually sell all the returned sets, but because their credit might not be extended over the time required to dispose of the sets thus brought back on their hands.

In New York a similar trickery is practiced quite frequently in another field of merchandise, and usually by people of more than moderate means. People of merely moderate means are not afforded an opportunity to be so mean. I refer to the practice of ordering gowns and dresses to be sent out on approval and returning them to the stores the next day after wearing them to a dance or a party.

The head of a women's wear department of a big department store told me recently that her department had to check up a loss of several thousand dollars every year in depreciated values and ruined gowns on account of this practice. Women who are in the wealthy class are the worst offenders, she said. They will have party dresses for their daughters sent out on approval and return them the next day after the daughters have worn them to dance—often returning them ripped, crinkled or stained with beverages only too frequently alcoholic.

The stores in most cases of this kind, she said, cannot afford to raise a row because the customer's actual expenditures at the store may be very large annually; but it does put temptation in the way of department store managers of retaliating against such people by soaking them higher prices than are demanded of honest persons, whenever the opportunity affords.

Speaking, as I was, of the radio, my hat goes off to one radio salesman. I was riding in the subway the other afternoon when the train got stalled. There is nothing more exasperating than a stalled subway train. You can't get out, no matter how long you are required to wait. The air gets bad; the passengers get fidgety; boredom sinks upon the mind like an incubus. In the car where I was was a radio salesman. He took out a portable radio he was carrying and after a short time had music—tea dance music, in fact—floating through the dreary length of the subway train. His fellow passengers were soothed and delighted by this innovation and beamed upon the ingenious fellow. When the train started up again, he shut off the radio and getting to his feet, marched up and down the car distributing his business cards. It was the first time I ever saw my fellow citizens actually appear happy when handed those pasteboard appeals for business.

The less important night clubs have "runners" out to drum up business, much as do the cheap-John stocking and lingerie shops down around Thirty-fourth street. These club runners station themselves along the sidewalk in the theater district and pass out cards to wide-eyed out of towners, all set to see the wickedness of the big city. Usually the runner has his name scrawled on the back of the card, so that when the prospect is trapped, the man responsible for him gets a rake-off on the check.

Berlin And Tokio To Be Linked By Radio Telephony

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Oct. 14.—Berlin, for four war years cut off from virtually all the world, is rapidly making up for lost time by establishing wireless connections with every civilized city on the globe.

Recently successful experiments with radio telephony between Berlin and Buenos Aires have led to the announcement that within a few weeks similar connections will be established with Tokio.

Count Arco, first wireless expert of Germany, declares that all probabilities point to the speedy success of experiments now being carried out for telephonic communication with Tokio by means of short wave radio. The great sending station at Nauen already sends wireless telegraphy to Tokio, but the Japanese have not yet finished their sending station and the communication is only one way. A German short wave sending outfit is now on its way to Tokio and as soon as it arrives the first step will have been taken for establishment of regular radio telephone service between German and Japanese capitals.

At the same time it will be possible to look forward to the practical application of radio to the transmission of photographs between Tokio and Berlin. Count Arco explained that wireless transmission of photographs was sufficiently developed to be commercially profitable wherever short wave stations exist.

"Rough Neck" Boy Is Famous Preacher

(International News Service)

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 14.—Kicked out of a church when he was a lad because he was a "rough neck" the Rev. Ezra Cox a Denver resident today is the leader and supervisor of more than 500 foreign speaking Methodist churches in the United States. He insists that he has been able to build his future to the job he now holds only by remaining loyal to the youth of the country.

The title of Mr. Cox is secretary to foreign speaking churches in America of the Methodist Episcopal church. Dr. Cox declares:

"I would rather have the honor and respect of the boys of my neighborhood than of the mayor of the city and all the traffic cops in existance. And what is more the minister derives more benefit from association with harum-scarum kids than the boys themselves.

It is the duty of the Rev. Mr. Cox to travel all over the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, San Domingo and Porto Rico. Each year he visits church that give services in 13 languages.

Historians Study Odd Shaped Stones Of Ancient Millers

(International News Service)

READING, Pa., Oct. 14.—Historians and achaeologists of Berks county are making a study of 40 or more oddly shaped stones unearthed near Birdsboro by a Kutztown contractor engaged in the building of a road from Birdesboro to Philadelphia pike.

The stones bear appearances of those possibly used by grist mills and for medieval threshing. The historians are of the opinion that the aged stone pieces were used by Indians who inhabited the section centuries ago.

According to tradition Daniel Boone, the famous Indian hunter, born in the Oley valley helped to chase Indians who molested early settlers on the barren farm lands of Berks county.

Decendants of pioneers of Oley Valley often tell of how the early settlers when hearing of approaching Indians, hid their farm implements such as grist mills, stone teeth harrow and plow shares. Very frequently in the rural sections uninhabited until the advance of automobile highways excavators have dug up odd stones and bones doubtless buried for two centuries. The museum at Reading bears flint pointed arrows and other Indian relics including stone axes found from time to time. There still lives in the Oley Valley descendants of the adventurer, Daniel Boone who crossed the Appalachian Mountains in 1769.

Street Publicity Charges Raised

PARIS, Oct. 14.—The city of Paris has started to levy real tribute on street advertising and the use of the sidewalks. There always has been a charge for space occupied by cafe tables on the sidewalks and for billboards around buildings under construction, but the rates have been small. Some of the charges have been multiplied forty times.

All sorts of business signs, canopies and even upper bay windows that extend beyond the lot lines are to be charged according to the space used and the rental value of the location. Paris has been divided into six classifications, on a sliding scale.

Billboard space on a building that was leased for 75,000 francs a month by the contractor recently paid only 3,216 francs to the city. The new charge would be 125,000 francs, which still would leave plenty of profit for the billboard owner.

TWO WOMEN FOUND HELP

Their Sickness Banished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mrs. Nina Matteson, Box 206, Oxford, N. Y., writes—"If it had not been for your medicine, I could not have done my work as it should have been done. Mother told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I had read in different papers what it had done for different women. She wanted me to try it, so my husband got me one bottle at first; then I took two others. * * * Now I am feeling quite strong again."

Mrs. Ernest Tanguay of Adams, Mass., says she was ill for four years and could not sleep nights or go out on the street. She read about the Vegetable Compound and decided to try it. After taking eight bottles she was able to do all her work and go anywhere and is quite herself again.

This dependable Vegetable Compound is a household word in thousands of homes. The fourth generation is now learning the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. If this medicine has helped other women, why shouldn't it help you? At your druggist's.

Seek Sure Method To Measure Light

(International News Service)

PASADENA, Cal., Oct. 14.—Light—whose velocity has been an enigma to scientists through the ages—will be called to an accounting during the coming season by Dr. A. A. Michelson of the University of Chicago in a series of experiments conducted between Mount Wilson near here and Mount San Jacinto, 82 miles away.

Mr. Michelson winner of the Nobel prize in physics a score of years ago is computing figures compiled through a quarter of a century of scientific observations to confirm his deductions.

The velocity of light in the opinion of Mr. Michelson is 186,284 miles per second, some 100 miles at variance with previous estimates and astronomers and psychists

An eight sided mirror is being installed on Mount Wilson which will be revolved to flashing light upon a stationary mirror on Mount San Jancinto. Knowing the exact distance between the peaks the scientist expects to obtain accurate figures on time required to transmit the beam of light between the points.

Vessels Plough Through Stormy Atlantic To Verify Report Of Daring Rescue

STEAMER BOUND FOR AZORE ISLANDS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The attentions of two continents today were centered upon a little tank steamer which was ploughing through the troughs of the Atlantic ocean towards the Azores.

On that steamer were Miss Ruth Elder, daring aviatrix, and her co-pilot, Captain George Haldeman, miraculously saved from death in the ocean wastes when their plane, American Girl, was forced down in a flight that was to have terminated at Paris.

The steamer, the Barendrecht, was expected to reach the Azores tomorrow morning.

Meanwhile today, efforts were being made to get in touch with the small Dutch oil tanker by wireless and vessels were rushing out to meet her in order to supplement that meagre announcement yesterday that the fliers had been rescued and the plane burned.

The Barendrecht carries only a small wireless and was unable to get in touch with shore stations; the news had to be relayed by other vessels. The Barendrecht was setting a course to Baytown, Texas, but after picking up Miss Elder and Haldeman changed her course towards the Azores.

When it fell, the American Girl was about 350 miles northeast of the Azores. A broken oil line forced it down when it had flown approximately 3,000 miles across the Atlantic.

Cross-Ocean Flight Purely Stunt, Says Sir Alan Cobham

By CHARLES A. SMITH.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Oct. 14—Adding his opinion to the dozens which have already decried or approved the many trans-Atlantic flight efforts, Sir Alan Cobham, the distinguished British aviator and one of the world's foremost long distance pilots declares that a cross-Atlantic flight in a single engined aeroplane is a "stunt" pure and simple and not true aviation .Such long over-seas journeys should be made in flying boats, in the opinion of Sir Alan.

"The failures of the Atlantic flights are possibly primarily due to the inability of the airmen to pilot and navigate the craft through the extremely bad weather conditions, however," he says.

"The first thing we must concentrate on doing is developing aircraft capable of flying on an even keel through the worst weather conditions unaided by the pilot and at the same time pilots must practice the art of flying by the aid of instruments alone and navigators must be capable of navigating by radio until we reach a stage of efficiency when it will be possible for pilot and navigator to go into an enclosed cockpit and fly a machine across the Atlantic without looking outside during the whole trip. When this stage of efficiency is reached bad weather conditions will be encountered without risk.

"I believe that most of the disasters have been due to the fact that owing to continued cloudbanks and bad weather the pilots have been unable to control and navigate their machines with the aid of instruments alone.

"Only two per cent of the pilots in the world can fly with instruments only. Pilots of my acquaintance who can fly for any length of time in dense clouds can be numbered on the fingers of one hand."

THREE FATAL ACCIDENTS IN LAWRENCE CO.

(Special To The News)

CUTICURA HEALS HARD PIMPLES

On Face. Itched a Great Deal. Lasted About a Year.

"I had pimples on my face. They were hard and red, and some were large and some were small. Some of the pimples festered and scaled over and itched a great deal. The trouble lasted about one year.

"Other remedies were used without relief. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they helped me, and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment I was healed, in about three and a half months." (Signed) Miss Winnifred Lepley, Rt. 2 Winfield, Pa.

PROTECTION

Waterproof, Preserve and Shine your shoes, all at one operation. No messy paste, no sticky wax. No bother.

Protection is Different
You can apply it in a few moments, with a sponge or rag. It dries quickly, leaves no coating nor odor, penetrates deeply, softens the material, renders it more pliable, and preserves it indefinitely.

And All These Effects Are Enduring
Because Protection contains no gum-shellac, varnish or paint, it neither wears off nor fills the pores. It renders each individual fibre water-resistant without leaving a coating.

Keeps Your Feet Dry
Waterproofs, Softens, Preserves and Strengthens your shoes, no matter what material they are made of.

A Kind for Every Need
Protection is made in "black" or "colorless." Choose the variety you prefer and apply to all parts of your shoes. After drying, you can polish them anytime merely by rubbing with a rag. Provides and retains a better polish—no other preparation necessary.
Protection renders your shoes waterproof, yet allows free ventilation through the pores of the material; makes them last longer by keeping them soft and pliable.

Try It On Your Spats and Goloshes
Then you can wade into the slush or deep snow without fear of wet feet.

Council Orders Knowles Company To Cease Survey

Company Wants Additional Sum To Employ Men To Make Survey

Council today ordered the Morris Knowles Company to stop conducting a traffic survey here as a result of the firm's information to council that unless Boy Scouts took a count, the firm would either abandon it or employ three men at a cost of $300 additional to the contract price of $2,500.

Some time ago council was requested to have the Boy Scouts conduct the work free. They decided that as the firm is getting paid for the survey they should make the request or conduct the count inasmuch as it would not be fair to the scouts to ask them to do something for which the firm is drawing money.

The firm today told council in a letter that the price of $2,500 had been based on the "anticipation" that the Boy Scouts would do the work and this was followed by the information that unless it was so taken the count would be abandoned or three men hired at a cost of $300 to the city.

This sort of jarred the even tempermaent of councilmen and Councilman Burns urged that the firm be ordered to stop. Councilman Davies offered the motion which was seconded by Genkinger and passed. Unless the firm recedes from their position indications are that the traffic survey will be abandoned insofar as the Morris Knowles company is concerned.

Seek Pre-Approval Of Gas Properties

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—An application has been made to the Ohio Public Service Commission for a pre-approval of the acquisition by the Columbia Gas and Electric Co. of gas properties in Ohio valued at several million dollars owned by the Ohio Public Service Co. and the Toledo Edison Co., subsidiaries of the Cities Service Corporation, controlled by Henry L. Doherty and Co., it was announced here today.

The extensive electric facilities and service rendered by the Ohio Public Service and Toledo Edison will not be affected by the transfer of the properties in question, it was said.

The announcement confirmed the exclusive story of the purchase carried by International News Service yesterday.

NORTH STREET JUNIOR HIGH CLUB ELECTS

North street Junior Hi-Y got off to a fine start when they met for the first time this year in the Y. M. C. A. recently.

After an interesting business meeting and discussion of plans for the coming year, Tom McConnell, missionary from China, who is in America on a furlough, talked to the boys.

Officers were elected for this year and are:

President—Carl Mitchell.

Vice president—Phil Chambers.

Secretary—Dave Harris.

Treasurer—Bill Shira.

Practice for the football team was then called and Cliff Pollock and Merle Hart of the senior high school, former members of the Junior Hi-Y, were appointed as coaches.

Discussion concerning change in the meeting night resulted in it being kept on each Tuesday night at 7:30.

It is estimated that this year's surplus corn crop will yield nine million gallons of genuine maple syrup.

Lung Coughs Are Dangerous!

Try Murrmann's Compound!

When that cought gets to your lungs look out! Almost anybody in good health can beat out a throat cough with a few spoonsful of common cough syrup or drops.

But don't take chances with a lung cough. It leads to tuberculosis and a general breakdown. You can't afford to fool with it. When your lungs are effected, even a little, you are in danger! And its when they are first effected that you can regain health rapidly. The tragedy of thousands of sick people, past recovery, is that they might so easily have been cured.

Murrmann's Compound is a great discovery with no 'come-on" stuff, no alcohol, no cocaine, no morphine, no opium or any harmful, habit forming drugs. Wonderful results are being obtained. Also very effective in relief of choking asthma, and bronchitis. G. B. S. In Foreword To Pamphlet For Clerks Inclines To Humor

Old Fellow Clerk Still On Job After 40 Years Stirs Memories

International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Oct. 14. — Humorous reminiscenses of the days when he was a clerk earning the magnificent salary of ninety dollars a year are contained in a foreword by George Bernard Shaw, now one of the highest paid authors and writers in the world, to a pamplet entitled "Trade Unionism for Clerks" and reproduced in the current issue of the Clerk.

"Although my own clerking experience was over before I was twenty," writes G. B. S., "I had, through an accident, been put into a position of trust and activity always previously given to a man of mature years; and my employer afterwards testified that I was a treasure (for which I was so ungrateful as to dam his impertinency in the secrecy of my soul), yet the highest salary I touched was either $360 or $420 a year; I forget which. And I began at $90.

Forty Years Later

"Forty years after I had shaken the dust of that office from my feet I found myself one morning standing in the street outside it, having in the meantime pulled off the great man stunt, and been recently held up to an admiring Europe as 'The Moliere of the Twentieth Century.'

"I was looking for a lawyer to witness some legal profanity or other, and it suddenly struck me that there was one on the first floor of the building where I had slaved as a clerk. It was a good excuse for going in and peering through the glass door of my old prison as I passed. I was disgusted to find that they had built a partition which shut off the view of my part of the formerly spacious room and, as we would have said in my time, made the room look like a pawnbroker's.

"I went upstairs. The lawyer was out. His clerk was no common clerk; he was every inch a churchwarden, frock-coated, large, dignified, prosprous and I could swear a Master Mason in the Lodge next door. Still, only a clerk, legally unable to make anyone swear to a document but his employer.

"I am by profession a commuuniactive person . . . and I mentioned that I had been a clerk myself in that building forty years before. Instantly the distinguished consideration he had been beguiled into treating me with by my air of being somebody in particular changed into undisguised contempt, barbed by incredulity. He expressed the contempt in his tone, and the incredulity in these staggering words: 'I don't remember you.'

Was Still There

"He had been there when I was there. He had been there for forty years. All that time, while I was making six or seven reputations, touching nothing that I did not adorn being abused by all the newspapers as only the famous are abused, and surveying mankind, if not from China to Peru, at least from Stamboul to Jamaica, he had kept on coming at ten every morning and going home at five every evening, and was good for another ten years of it.

"I flew from his majestic presence recalling many memories."

May Change Auto Insurance Law

(International News Service)

BOSTON, Oct. 14.—A definite movement to bring about a change in the Massachusetts compulsory automobile insurance law has been started for the benefit of the summer residents of the state.

Edward G. Stacy, secretary of the Massachusetts section of the New England Council and secretary of the Massachusetts state Chamber of Commerce is directing the move.

Mr. Stacy has urged that greater concessions be given the summer resident in Massachusetts who is now required to make his automobile insurance conform to the Massachusetts statutory policy. It had been pointed out that the summer resident could well afford to pay the cost of automobile insurance but Mr. Stacey and others supporting the move for a change, reply with the assertion that the cost was of small consequence as compared with the annoyance caused by the details of the procedure required in Massachusetts. It was also contended that the recreational industry of the state would suffer because of the annoyance.

Hotel men of this state have attested that wealthy guests were going to other states because they refused to go to the trouble required by the Massachusetts law.

Advocates of the change in the law would have a four months' period of exemption from the insurance law be granted summer residents, particularly if their cars are insured in their own states.

2,000 Delegates At Annual Convention Of Catholic Men

(International News Service)

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 14.—Two bishops and a retired admiral of the United States navy will attend the seventh annual convention of the National Council of Catholic Men October 16, 17 and 18. The prelates are the Rt. Rev. Joseph Schrembs, D. D., of Cleveland and the Rt. Rev. Michael J. Gallagher, D. D., Detroit. The layman is Rear Admiral William S. Benson, U. S. N.

More than 2,000 Catholic men and women, delegates and visitors from every part of the United States, will attend the convention. The local committee on arrangements declares that the acceptance by more than 100 of Detroit's 272 parishes of Bishop Gallagher's invitation for their men to affiliate with the national council insures a record breaking meeting.

Bishop Gallagher will pontificate at solemn high mass in St. Aloysius church, which formally will open with the convention. Bishop Schrembs will deliver the sermon at this mass. In the afternoon the delegates will be taken on a tour of the city, visiting Catholic institutions, including the Sacred Heart seminary, the new episcopal residence of the bishop in Palmer Woods, the University of Detroit and Marygrove college.

A monster mass meeting will feature the second day program. Well known speakers, lay and clerical, will speak.

German Hospital To Study Workers And Mind Effects

(International News Service)

ESSEN, Germany, Oct. 14.—Special laboratories to investigate the physical and mental effects which work has on the worker have been established at a new hospital erected at Steele, in the Ruhr, by the Ruhr Knappschaft, a social welfare organization composed of mine owners and employes.

The hospital, of which Professor Friedrich Gudzent, noted expert on internal diseases, has been appointed as director, is the most modern hospital in Germany. It will make accessible to the Ruhr workers all the latest achievements of science, including radium, treatment and X-ray diagnosis. At the same time, it will lay special stress on the utilization of nature's own healing powers, namely light, sun and fresh air.

The special laboratories are to deal with the whole subject of "labor pathology." Particular attention will be paid to the special ailments to which underground work exposes all miners.

German P. O. Reduces Women In State Jobs

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Oct. 14.—The German post office, which operates both telephone and telegraphs, is gradually reducing the number of its women employes and plans to eliminate them.

The number of women officials has been reduced from 61,462 in 1924 to 46,334, and the number of women employes has cut from 19,185 in 1923 to 8,193.

No official reason for this policy is cited, but the directors of the post office believe that women's field is still limited to the former kaiser's three "K's," namely "Kueche, Kirche, Kinder," that is kitchen, church, children.

Newspapers are protesting against this policy. They declare that through the general impoverishment many women are forced to work and their discharges will add greatly to the hardships of many families.

Senator Fess Says National Prohibition Here To Stay

Dry Amendment Never To Come Out Of Constitution

U. S. Senator From Ohio Speaks To Audience Of Nearly 4,000 Last Night

"WET MAN" NEVER TO BE PRESIDENT

Urges Christian People To Awaken To Duty On Enforcement Of Law

"The eighteenth amendment is in the constitution and it will never come out, and everybody knows this. The Volstead act is an enforcement act only, to prevent the amendment from becoming a dead letter, and when an act is necessary to make it more rigid, Congress will vote it without hesitation."

This was the high spot of the address of United States Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio before the night session of the Pennsylvania state Sabbath school convention in the Scottish Rite Cathedral auditorium Thursday night. To hear the address of the peppery senator from the neighboring state of Ohio, the auditorium was crowded to its capacity. Seats and loges and boxes, even the stage was crowded, and an estimate of the crowd would be over 3,600.

Legislation Enough

Senator Fess declared that we have legislation enough on the books of the United States and that the thing needed most is enforcement, and that this comes from the people. Summing his address up into a paragraph of points, it would be this. The United States is wealthy in material things, but must take more cognizance of the spiritual things. Prohibition is here to stay. An organized propaganda is endeavoring to make people believe that there is more drinking than ever. Problems are settled by legislation, but issues can be settled only by the enforcement and co-operation of the people. A wet man can never be elected to the Presidency. The violation of the 18th amendment is an invitation to a violation of all laws.

Opening his address, Senator Fess said that the strength of a nation is usually expressed in material things, but rarely the spiritual value of things. Continuing, he said: "America stands first in all the world in steam and electric transportation, in industry and mining, and in many other material ways. We are constantly reminded of our position in the world in mining and manufacturing."

Sees It in This Valley

Here in this district I see the evidences of it and no finer display can be found anywhere, and I would not be so foolish as to decry the material greatness of America. I am glad we have it, but I wonder if these things alone make America great?"

Wealth must be determined by the use of it. I am not saying that the wealth of the nation has not been secured by a standard of ethics, but I do state, however, that wealth of itself may not be more than a convenience, for it can be determined only by the use of it. I am reminded of the statement of an influential business man, a former governor, who said that the little town of Concord, Mass., meant more to the civilization of this country than the cities of New York and Chicago. Out of Concord came the Longfellows, the Whittiers, the Louisa Alcotts. I am reminded that of all his works the most valuable of Gladstone are those on religious subjects. I am reminded of John Wanamaker, that prince of merchants, who found time to teach a Sunday school class. If these men found it of value not to neglect the religious value of the Sunday school, what should be said of the rest of us?

Must Think of Spiritual Things.

If there is one thing today that America must be warned against it is the fixing of an eye to first rank in wealth, without thought to the spiritual things. On December 5 the United States senate will meet and as a member of that body I feel that there are many problems before us, but few issues.

Flood control is a problem, a complex problem, but not an issue. One expert tells us that the levee system will cure the flood evil, another the reservoir, another reforestation and still another tells us that none of these is good but that the dyke and spillway system must be used. We who will have to vote the money for such things are concerned how to do it without the waste of money you give us but it will be settled. The payment of the public debt, tax reduction, all of these will be settled, but what about law enforcement? That's different. Other problems are settled by legislation but when it comes to law enforcement it is not settled by legislation but only by an aroused public conscience, to enforce laws we already have.

If Needed, Forthcoming.

I say frankly and dogmatically if any legislation is needed for law enforcement it will be forthcoming. You ask me when will we change the Volstead act and my answer is that we will change it when a change will make it more effective in enforcement.

The Eighteenth amendment is in the constitution and it will never come out and everybody knows that. The Volstead act is an enforcement act only to prevent the amendment from becoming a dead letter. Whenever an act is needed to make it more effective the congress will vote it without hesitation.

When a generation grows up that has never seen a saloon you need have no fear about enforcement and that's what the wets are afraid of. The problem is not to let the good people retire from the field. The legislation is there, enforcement is the thing and that is with the people.

You do not need to fear what congress will do and I may say that you do not need to fear what any president will do. I do not say that a man of wet tendencies cannot be elected to the presidency but I say that if he does, when he takes the chair he will cease to be wet.

Danger in Violation.

The greatest danger in the violation of the 18th amendment and the Volstead act is getting into the trend of the violation of law. If one person is justified in the violation of the Volstead law, then all people are justified in the violation of all laws.

Because I don't like a law is no reason why I should violate it. I have a right to work to change it if I do not like it, and it is the prerogative of people so minded to change the Volstead act if they can but they have no right to violate it.

"There is talk in Ohio about changing the alcoholic content of beverages from one half of one per cent to two and three quarters per cent. How silly. The United States says one half of one per cent and if Ohio says it shall be two and three quarters per cent, does that change it? As a senator what would I say if my state changed it? I would ignore it. I'll say it in the wettest city in Ohio and they know I'll say it."

"Another thing. We do not appreciate the privilege of the ballot. Too small a percentage of the people vote at the elections. In the most exciting campaigns three quarters of the people do not vote."

Greatness Of A Nation

"The greatness of a nation lies in the quality of the people. Not in the numbers of the people, look at China. Not in area, look at Russia. Not in the fertility of the soil or the wealth of mineral deposits, look at Mexico. It lies in the quality of the people. I am confident that an aggregation such as this if properly distributed would leaven the entire world."

The address of Senator Fess was met with applause that swept up over the footlights in a cloud. It was an address in keeping with the kind of a meeting he addressed and the men and women present appreciated it.

Senator Fess was introduced by John W. Vickerman of Bellevue, Pa., a former member of the Pennsylvania State Legislature and the president of the Pennsylvania Organized Adult Bible Classes. In his introductory remarks Mr. Vickerman said:

"This audience should go out and help to make Pennsylvania dry and a decent place to live in. It should remember that next spring we elect our delegates to the National Convention, that we elect some 200 members of the State Legislature, that we elect a senator from the Western end of the state, and I hope a new one from the Eastern end. I believe that next Spring the office will not seek Bill Vare. It is your business and my business to popularize national prohibition and make it more effective."

The cultured Dr. Floyd Tomkins of Philadelphia who has endeared himself to this convention had charge of the devotional period and delivered a real message in the short time he had. The song service was an inspirational one and was under the direction of John W. Owens with Edwin Lewis at the piano.

A musical feature of the evening was a solo by Mrs. Paul Weller, well known soprano of the city who sang "Fear Ye Not Oh Israel," and sang it in a most entrancing way. Her lovely voice met with a worthy response.

Hermon E. Eldredge of Dayton, O., General Secretary of the Christian Church Sabbath School Board was the last speaker on the program and spoke on "Better Homes." His address was replete with kindly humor but with his humor he put over the message of the need of Christian influence in the home. Because of the necessity of making a train he was forced to finish his address before he had planned to do so, much to the regret of the huge audience.

The meeting was one in keeping with the success of this greatest of all Sabbath School conventions, and will be remembered long by the men and women who were present.

Young People's Banquet Thursday Evening Success

Camp Pictures Feature Of Entertainment Program For Banquet

With more than 300 present, the young people's workers' banquet of the 65th state Sabbath school convention was held in the First Presbyterian church Thursday evening at six o'clock.

The dining room of the church was crowded to capacity, needless to say, and there were many more requests by delegates for tickets, but there was no room for them and so they had to be turned away.

The banquet tables were decorated in a color scheme of blue and white, with bowls of vari-colored flowers. A delicious dinner was enjoyed.

Just at the close of the dinner pep singing of popular songs and comic songs were sung with a will and thoroughly enjoyed.

The closing half hour of the banquet program consisted of showing moving pictures of state young people's camps. These were shown by Rev. Edward H. Bonsall Jr., superintendent of young people's division of the State Sunday School Association.

The slides shown were in two reels and were pictures of various activities at these state camps taken during the summer. They included baseball games, volley ball games, races, physical culture exercises, aquatic meets; in fact, the pictures showed practically all phases of camp life in these state young people's camps.

Daily Vacation Bible School Is Discussed At Cathedral Session

When the convention of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association reconvened at 1:45 o'clock Thursday afternoon in the Scottish Rite Cathedral, there was an audience numbering at least fifteen hundred in attendance. This grew as the meeting progressed and the auditorium was well filled at the conclusion of this meeting, when the several divisional conferences were scheduled to be held.

Dr. George W. Wellburn, head of the Christian Education work of the state organization, was chairman of the meeting. The afternoon meeting, was in the interests of the advancing of Christian Education.

The chairman of the meeting made the introductory remarks in which he stated that the convention was fortunate in having the opportunity of hearing a speaker like Dr. Albert H. Gage, pastor of the First Baptist church, Scranton, Pa., and one of the leaders in the work of Christian education.

Dr. Gage said among other things in speaking of the topic "How to Organize the Vacation School," that "I am here to speak to you concerning the great movement that is sweeping the country at the present time, the daily vacation Bible or church school, as it may be termed in the district in which you reside. You will be interested and no doubt surprised to learn that during the past summer there were 1,500,000 boys and girls in the vacation Bible schools of America and that upwards of a 100,000 young people, men and women were acting as teachers and instructors in the same. The time is coming when every church will have a vacation Bible school of its own or be cooperating with other churches in the conduct and operation of such a school.

"These schools are successful in every community, the city, the town, the rural community, the congested district, in fact every where it is started. There is only one place that such a school cannot be conducted with success and that is the community, if there is such a place where there are no boys and girls.

"These schools will grip the thought and life of childhood as none other can. All that is needed to organize such a movement in any community, is one person with the vision of and belief in it. Such a person can sell it to the whole church. It is that which we do in our leasure time that effects us most, especially in the makeup of character. In the summer vacation period, the boys and girls are subjected to their greatest temptations and evil influences. It is then that most churches are locked up and closed. It is a shame that such a condition exists. The summer vacation Bible school does away with this condition.

"No school should be started until the church is ready and willing to do so. I don't believe in a church having a school when it is not wanted. The only way to perpetuate such a school is to have the church behind it and its members putting forth the efforts needed and paying the bills that are acquired by its operation. The church must provide the workers and the finance.

"Your churches will no doubt next summer vote to have such a school. They must decide whether it is to be a school of the church alone or one in which the churches of the community are interested. Sixty per cent of the churches have their own schools. The church that is able to do so should have its own school. Several churches can go together and succeed, if they vote to do so and provide their respective share of the workers and the money required. Count no church in the movement that does not do so by vote of its members and officers.

"Do not have any part in a community vacation Bible school, unless the church votes definitely to share in its work and its expense. I am not opposed to community schools but I believe they are not so successful as the others, when they require but little money and effort. It is not easy to start a vacation Bible school. In fact it is one of the hardest things to do. But it is a blessed thing to do.

"When it is decided to enter into a single or a community Bible school, the next step is to appoint a committee or representatives on the general committee of the several churches involved and decide how, when and where it is to be held. It is best to start it at not too great a length of time after the public school vacation starts.

"If you wait too long, it gives the boy and girl the opportunity of imbibing the street spirit. The school sessions should be four or five weeks in length. More can be taught in a session of this length than can be taught in Bible schools on Sunday in a whole year.

"I believe the schools should be run on the departmental system. Lack of discipline in the Sunday school is one of the greatest drawbacks. If there is no program, the boys and girls will not sit still. They will make a program of their own. The vacation schools must be operated with a definite program and plan.

"It costs money to run these schools. Some cost little while others cost considerable, even more than a thousand dollars but do not miss the opportunity of such a school for the lack of funds, for funds for the boys and girls use, is the easiest money raised.

"The committee in charge must get the teachers, get the money and arrange the program of course, so as to be ready when the school opens.

"Vacations are a thing of joy. If the vacation schools are not an instrument of happiness, they are not set up right. They must be conducted on this basis, to bring joy to those participating. The schools must have a proper administrative head and there must be discipline. The boys and girls do not like you, if you do not make them mind.

"Become interested in religious education and give of your best to the Master."

Children's Work Conference Theme

Miss Harris, Secretary Of Elementary Work, Addresses Delegates

HELP CHILD GROW IN RIGHT LIVING

It is more important to help the child grow in Christian living than to teach certain Bible verses, hymns, etc., said Miss Elizabeth Harris, Secretary of Elementary Work, Missionary Education Movement, of New York City as she addressed the Children's Division Conference of the Sabbath School Convention in the First Methodist Episcopal church yesterday afternoon.

The meeting was presided over by Dr. J. W. Manon, Vice-president of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association of Charleroi, Pa. R. E. Johns of New Castle led the singing and Miss Elsie G. Rodgers, Associate Director of Children's Work in the Presbyterian Board of Education, Philadelphia, during the devotional hour gave an example of a Junior Worship Hour showing how Juniors in the Sunday school would conduct a worship hour.

Miss Harris as she spoke on the subject, "New Ideals in Children's Division Curriculum," said that never before has there been so much dissatisfaction with curriculums, never so much being done and never so many questions being asked about curriculums. Both in general education and in religious education leaders are working on curriculum work. "We should teach the children, not material," said Miss Harris.

In the departmental conferences Mrs. F. W. Tomlinson, Child Division Specialist of the American Baptist Publication Society at Philadelphia, conducted the conference for the Beginners Department. Her subject was "The Circle Talk." She said a real "Circle Talk" was conducted so that the children did not know they were being led.

Mrs. Margaret L. String, Director of Children's Work of the Sunday School Board of the Reform Church led the conference on the Junior Department. She said that in the class period we must try to put ourselves in the place of the Juniors in order to conduct a class successfully.

Miss Harris conducted the conference for the Primary Department. She, in speaking of "Types of Material," mentioned many useful books but said the best material was outside of books in the needs and people about them.

The local postoffice is quite swamped with delegates getting off postcards to their friends back home. Last evening the lobby was thronged with people hastily scribbling a line to friends.

Vickerman Head Of Adult Division

Re-Elected President Of Adult Division Of State S. S. Thursday

PRESIDENT MAKES POINTED ADDRESS

HON. JOHN W. VICKERMAN

Honorable John W. Vickerman of Bellevue, was re-elected president of the Adult Division of the State Sabbath School Association at the second conference of the state convention of the Adult division held Thursday afternoon in the First Baptist church of this city.

R. E. English of Grove City was named vice-president, H. F. Cupp of Johnstown, secretary, Carl Espenshade of Bedford, treasurer. H. C. Gridland, field secretary. Robert A. McKinney of this city was made a member of the committee of the Federation of Adult classes.

The session opened with a devotional service led by Rev. A. W. Gray, Director of Religious Education of the First Christian church. A spirited song service was led by David S. Williams, tenor soloist of the church.

The president, Mr. Vickerman, presided and prefaced the executive session with a most enthusiastic and inspiring talk on the work of the organized Adult Bible class. The speaker pointed out that the Adult Bible class should have a cardinal belief in the work of the Sunday school. A class of this nature should have a specific work to do and should be proud of having the privilege of doing some special duty for the church. No Bible class is as big as the church, Mr. Vickerman asserted.

Support Church Services

It is the duty of the adult Bible class to support the church services and not to leave as soon as the Sunday school lesson is over.

It is the Christian duty of every member of an adult Bible class to register and to vote to put Christian men in office and no member of a Bible class should be excused from Jury duty declared Mr. Vickerman. There is enough potential power in this present state convention to sweep Pennsylvania for right living.

Reports were given from a number of delegates from counties of the state and the keynote of all of them was to save the country for Prohibition.

H. C. Gridland, field secretary, gave an outline of the work of the Federated classes. Among them were: Urge personal observance of Sunday laws; demand enforcement of laws; provide recreation and expose menacing amusements.

Adult Division Survives

The address of the afternoon was given by Rev. Charles Darsie, D. D., who spoke on "A Bigger and Better Adult Division Program."

Dr. Darsie said in part: The Adult Bible Class movement is the most outstanding work of adults in the church in the last century. It has outlived all other movements formulated in the twenty-five years of its organization.

The Brotherhood movement which was begun some years ago perished for want of an objective. The Layman's Missionary movement organized to create a greater interest in modern Missions failed utterly as did the Inter-Church movement. The Adult Bible class is a tremendous asset to the modern church.

An invitation was accepted from the city of Scranton, Pa., for the Adult Bible class Federation to meet in that city on March 10-11, 1928.

Fifteen Hundred Attend Convention Mass Meeting At First M. E. Church

Big Church Is Crowded To Hear Dr. Gage And Miss Slattery

Work Among Children Is Theme Of Addresses Of Evening

One of the largest gatherings of the convention of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association, outside those in the Scottish Rite cathedral, was that in the First M. E. church last night for the workers of the children's division and others who are interested in the Christian education of children.

More than 1500 men, women and young people crowded the auditorium, Sunday school room and choir section of the First M. E. church and heard two of the outstanding addresses of the convention.

The speakers were Dr. A. H. Gage, pastor of the First Baptist church of Scranton and Miss Margaret Slattery of Boston and their addresses were most helpful, inspirational and a departure from the stereotype sayings of the average and ordinary speaker.

The themes discussed gave the workers something for them to consider in their work of the future and gave an insight into a better way to bring the children of today into the fold of the church and retain them. "Make provision for the smaller children and see to it that their surroundings are such that they will be interested in your church," was the suggestion of Dr. Gage, "and your church will grow and your young people will stay with you," while Miss Slattery suggested "that honesty, truth and the elimination of fear in the thought of God" would mean the perpetuation of the church and its continued growth and power.

Senator Steele Presides.

Senator Charles Steele of Northumberland county was the chairman of the evening, while Dr. M. Hadwin Fisher of Gettysburg was the leader of the devotionals and brought the message of the evening at its inception.

The music was in charge of R. E. Johns, one of the city's best known singers and choir directors, while Mrs. J. Carl Miner presided at the piano and Miss Marie Snyder at the pipe-organ.

The selection rendered by the Castle quartet consisting of George Anthony, Joseph Stritmater, R. E. Johns and Harry Evans was of such an outstanding character that there was prolonged applause when it was completed. The selection rendered was "Lead Kindly Light."

Dr. M. Hadwin Fisher after reading the scripture lesson, gave a short discourse in which he said that it is better to suggest those things to the children that are true, are honest and founded on justice and kindly report.

He said among other things: "We engage in things that may be true but often it is not honest. Is it true, is it honest, is it just to call attention to a man's failure? People today clamor for scandal but it is not just, often it is true. But the papers must publish it because there are those who demand it. A man does not go wrong in a minute. It comes about by thinking about it. He goes into it step by step, then he falls.

"It is better to think of the things that are lovely, good and glorious. It is better to find out the nice things and tell them, yet there is that other person who says 'he's a nice fellow, but——'.

"Would it not be better to think of the things that are uplifting, the kindly deeds? Yet there are those of us who seek the dirty things, not those that are true, honest and lovely. The Christian church through its children's division should teach its youth to think of the things that are honest, pure, just and lovely. Of those things that are of good report. In impressing these things on the minds of the younger generation, the church will be building according to God's plan."

Dr. Gage Speaks.

Senator Steele, the chairman, then introduced Dr. A. H. Gage of Scranton, who said in part: "I come as a pastor with a message to the teachers of little children. The older people are trustees that control the life of the church. There are two verses, which I believe convey the best method of reaching the little children. The first is the 17th verse of the first chapter of Luke which reads, 'And he shall go before him in the spirit and power of Elias, to turn the hearts of the fathers to the children, and the disobedient to the wisdom of the just, to make a people prepared for the Lord.' It is probable that most of you never knew that this was in the Bible. What would happen in America, if the fathers and mothers should turn their thoughts to the children? It is necessary, according to a philosophy of my wife, for the parents to take pains at one end or the other of life, with the children. It means that we must give up many things in our lives, when we are small, to gain the joy and blessing that is intended, even our church work if necessary. If these pains are taken at the end of life instead of at the beginning, it often means distress and even shame. What would it have meant to the church if the fathers and mothers of Israel had planned for the children and not entirely for the adults? In the planning of the budget, if the hearts of the fathers and mothers were turned to the children, it would mean honest dealing with them.

"The other verse is the fifth of the 18th chapter of Matthew which says, "And whoso shall receive one such little child in my name receiveth me." Jesus was dealing with a bunch of quarreling disciples when he spoke in this manner. I hate controversy. Every time that there is a quarrel in the church, it loses a generation of young people. What would happen if the teacher would treat the little child as if they could see the face of Jesus in its face. What would be the result if every mother could see the face of Jesus behind the face of the child.

Should Be on Cradle Rolls.

"I would bear testimony that it is the work among the children that counts in the life of the church. Every baby should be on somebody's cradle roll. If the work is not done well the whole future is crippled. It would be well if the men of the church would pay the bills and let the women do something worthwhile instead of earning money for the church. They should be released to care for the babies and the girls. You should build the beginners department of the church to meet the need. The beginners department never grows beyond the capacity of the room in which it is housed. It pays big dividends to study your church building and give the little people a place big enough to expand. There should be separate junior, primary and beginners departments under suitable and trained leadership. It will double the attendance. You can't make the rooms for little children too beautiful. Make them as beautiful and homelike as possible. Make them clean, beautiful and attractive. It will pay."

Miss Slattery was the final speaker of the evening. Her address was out of the ordinary and instructive to say the least. She said in part: "Everybody thinks about God. What we think before we are 12 years of age, is what we think in more mature years. It is almost impossible to eliminate from the mental picture of God, what we have gained before the age of 12. By the definition of God that you give it would be possible in almost every instance for me to determine the denomination to which you belong. There are characteristics in the teachings of each denomination to which you belong. There are characteristics in the teachings of each denomination that make this possible.

"The world at one time thought of God as an object of fear. While there are races that still retain that sense of fear in connection with their thought of God. Fortunately that is not true of all. Such a teaching is in deadly conflict with the truth.

Free Child From Fear.

"America, I believe, has come to think of God without great fear: It is not good to be fearful. The Pilgrim Fathers were courageous, cold, hard, unforgiving, ungenerous. They burned poor old women as witches and drowned them in ponds. We are not like that. The race will be better that goes on and up.

"One way to do this is to reconstruct the thinking of the child and free it from fear. Fear paralyzes the mind and body. We ought to take the risk and set our children free from the fear of God.

"To the child of eight, there are no miracles but at 80, its different. We are beginning to let the glory of freedom come through knowledge. There are those who believe that should the fear of God be eliminated there would be chaos. The child who fears a thing will eventually do that thing just to see what will happen. Fear takes away hope. A mother loves the child because it is her child and not because it is good. The spirit is trying to say to us to make God so big that the child will never know him in that fearful way. Teach the child so that he will investigate and find out for himself. Don't make him afraid.

"When the child asks a question you cannot answer, don't cheat him. Tell him you do not know. Too often we teach the child one thing and do another. The child will seek the truth in such things. Always tell the truth about religion.

"Only recently the American people paid a lot of money to see two men fight. How many of you did not know the result before the next morning? (Some hands were raised here and there.) How many of you listened in on the radio?

"Be honest with yourself. Look yourself square in the eye.

"There are those of us who are good citizens at home. We go to New York and there we go to see the play that is not elevating. I am told that it is we good people from the outside that keep them going, not the people of New York. We sholuld not be one thing here and another some place else. Why chastise the child for an infraction of the law and then disobey one ourselves in front of them.

"We should keep ourselves straight and not teach those things which are in conflict with what we do.

"The educational system is not responsible for the loss of religion among the graduate of high schools, colleges and universities. Its the teachings instilling fear of God that helps do it. Those things that are taught to the youth before reaching the age of 12 can never be fully undone, no matter how long you live. We should teach God as being something other than that causing fear. We make this world and everything that is in it. We are the masters. We will have whatever we make it."

Miss Slattery was tendered an ovation at the conclusion of her address.

Young People's Work Discussed

Conference At First Presbyterian Church Addressed By Able Men

PLANS OUTLINED FOR SCHOOL WORK

The second young people's division conference of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath school convention was held in the First Presbyterian church, on Thursday afternoon. Inspiring speakers of the general sessions were Roy A. Burkhart, and Rev. E. H. Bonsall, Jr.

The auditorium and balcony were entirely filled with people, both young and old, all interested in the work of the young people in the Sabbath school and church.

Presiding over this meeting was Mrs. W. B. Easton, vice-president of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association of Stroudsburg, Pa. The meeting started off with singing a number of gospel hymns. Mrs. Easton conducted the devotionals, to close the exercises there were a number of sentence prayers.

"The Christian Quest," was the subject Roy A. Burkhart, associate superintendent Young People's Division, International Council of Religious Education, had chosen for his subject. In introduction to his topic Mr. Burkhart spoke of the completeness in living the goal of people, and what determines character and what doesn't.

Mr. Burkhart also spoke, telling quite fully what is contained in the Christian Leader's Manuel, telling of the various topics listed in this book, such as Christian idealism, foundation and purpose in life of the young people; how to test growth, and how a leader uses organization.

At the close of Mr. Burkhart's address, the delegates adjourned to the various places for the departmental conferences. The Young People were lead in conference by Charles E. Garran, general secretary Malden Council of Religious education, the people interested in the senior group by Roy A. Burkhart, and the Intermediates by Dr. Frank McKibben of Baltimore.

At the separate sessions the different problems of these groups were discussed, first by the leaders and then by a general discussion group.

Rev. Edward H. Bonsall, Jr., was the speaker when the audience returned to the auditorium at the close of the separate sessions. His subject, "Adolescent Curriculum," was discussed briefly and to the point. Dealing with the training for teaching in the Sabbath school, suggesting graded lessons for the younger pupils of the Sabbath school while suggesting elective subjects for older scholars, such as church history, and other special topics, including suggestions for vocational guidance and ideals for the young people.

Delegates In Conferences

Three Groups Meet In Cathedral On Thursday Afternoon

DISCUSS METHODS FOR S. S. EFFORTS

Following the program of Wednesday, the afternoon session of the State Sabbath school convention held Thursday afternoon in the Scottish Rite Cathedral was divided into three simultaneous conferences.

All three conferences resolved themselves into instructional periods with the men and women present participating in the open forum which followed the short talks made.

In the Cathedral auditorium Rev. Edward H. Brewster spoke on "Promoting Religious Interest and Growth Through the Church School" and Rev. F. W. Tomlinson made his address on the Vacation School, a joint affair with the audience taking part. Rev. A. M. Stump had the devotional period.

Steen in Charge.

Frank H. Steen of Belle Vernon, Pa. had charge of the conference in the gallery center room with Dr. A. Monroe Hall of Williamsport speaking on "The Convention Possibilities."

Prof. Fred W. Diehl of Danville and Prof R. G. Mowery of Quincy, Pa., speaking on "What Sort of Tours" and Rev. F. J. Scott of Connellsville speaking on "Standards—Shall we Exchange?"

Frank H. Parkhurst of Wilkes-Barre, was in charge of the meeting in the east lodge room with Dr. Frank M. McKibben speaking on "Better Aims in Administration" and Rev. Albert H. Gage speaking on "How to Win Scholars for Christ."

All of the conferences were productive of good and the delegates will undoubtedly go back to their home schools filled with the inspiration gathered at them.

THREE THOUSAND MEN IN CONVENTION PARADE

Led by the New Castle Senior High school band and two motorcycle policemen, three thousand men paraded through the down town district last night and marched up to the Scottish Rite Cathedral, where, in a body, they attended the adult night of the convention.

The parade was quiet, but impressive. Three thousand men, without the usual fanfare of trumpets, floats, and the stuff which usually goes to make a parade marched up Washington street, to County Line street, countermarched to Mill street and then strove determinedly up the hill to the cathedral, all faithful and all sincere.

For all men, the parade started promptly at 6:45, and it was seven o'clock when the last of the marchers had filed out of Jefferson street and on to Washington.

First came the New Castle High school band, then the marchers from the various counties of the state, and the men of the New Castle Sabbath schools. The Croton avenue school band was in line followed by still more men, the Benjamin Franklin Junior High school band, led another section, and the Third U. P. Fife and Drum corps headed the last delegation.

The parade was in charge of W. A. Meyers, of this city as chief Marshal, and was a demonstration of adult Bible school classes for the state and county in connection with the sessions of the State Sabbath School convention being held in the cathedral.

No banners were carried by any of the delegations, but all were massed in solid lines. Flags were the only things carried by any of the marchers, large American flags being carried at the head of each section as it moved along the street.

CONVENTION SIDELIGHTS

There must have been easily 4,000 persons in the audience in the Scottish Rite Cathedral as Senator Fess made his address last night. In addition to the auditorium seats being filled to their utmost capacity, there were some 500 persons on the stage. After the immense chorus choir had been seated, all the available space behind them on the stage was filled with spectators. It was a wonderful sight.

And despite the fact that the auditorium crowd numbered fully four thousand, it was possible for every person in the building to hear easily and well everything that was said. The acoustic properties of the Cathedral were tested to the limit last night. A News man, seated in the topmost row of the second balcony, could hear every word spoken by the senator on the stage far below.

Honor Forty Veteran Sabbath School Workers Of State

Recognition Is Given To Forty

Have Served Over 50 Years In Sabbath School Work In State

ONE WOMAN HAS RECORD OF 69 YEARS

Forty veterans in the service of the Lord, 40 white-haired men and women of the Sabbath schools of the state of Pennsylvania, mounted the platform at the Scottish Rite cathedral this morning and received recognition for 50 or more years of continuous service.

They were greeted by no salvor of applause. Only light bursts came from the delegates of each county as each of their veterans ascended the stage. The affair was solemn, much too solemn for any outbursts of cheering.

Clifford S. Heinz of Pittsburgh presented each with bronze medals, significant of the time that they had spent in service.

County Representation.

The list is long and imposing. Forty men and women, representing almost every county in the commonwealth, were on the stage.

Representing Allegheny county in service was E. M. Hill of Pittsburgh, with 59 years of service; Edwin S. Gray of Pittsburgh, with 50 years of service in the Sabbath schools of the state; the Rev. W. W. Thompson of Universal, 54 years; D. H. Hainer of Ingram, 56 years.

Armstrong county was represented by Mrs. N. W. Matthews of Apollo, who has seen 50 years of continuous service.

With six veterans, Beaver county had the largest representation, including William M. Smiley of Rochester, with 50 years of service; Mrs. A. N. Guttermuth of Rochester, with 51 years of service; J. D. Mahan of New Brighton, 51 years; Fred Marquart of Economy, 57 years; Ruth J. Webster, Rochester, 54 years, and Mrs. Emma Hicks, Monaca, over 50 years.

Berks county was represented by Benjamin Y. Shearer of Reading, with 63 years of service, and Blair county had for its representative Daniel W. Aurant of Altoona, with 51 years of service.

Bradford county had two representatives, Mrs. Helen Cogswell of Warren Center with 57 years of service, and Mrs. Henry Davis of Neath with 57 years of service.

Two persons represented Butler county at the award of medals and they were V. F. T. Kelly of Bruin and Mrs. L. A. Balsiger of Butler with 57 years' service.

C. L. Gramley of Rebersburg was the candidate for the badge from Center county with an unknown service period.

From Columbia county there were J. M. Betz of Espy with 51 years, and Mrs. Anna S. Wolfe of Bloomsburg with 52 years.

Captain E. Laubenstein of Harrisburg, with 50 years of service, was the Dauphin county representative.

From Erie county there were William Brogden of Erie, 59 years; Henry Sims of Erie with 61 years, and R. M. Cross of North Girard with 52 years.

Fayette county—Miss Annie E. Cunningham, Brownsville, 59 years; Albert Gaddis, Uniontown, 51 years; N. E. Porter, Brownsville, 53 years.

Lackawanna county — Henry R Gough, Scranton, 53 years.

Luzerne county—Mrs. Mary E. Behrens, Hazleton, 69 years; John W. Krapf, Hazleton, 63 years.

Lycoming county—Mrs. Mary E. Farrell, Picture Rocks, 54 years; Mrs. Kate Little, Picture Rocks, 50 years; Mrs. A. B. Winter, Muncy, 50 years.

McKean county—W. H. Dennis, Bedford, 54 years.

Mercer county—Elijah W. Hodge, Greenville, 68 years.

Montgomery county—Mrs. Thomas Gillian, Ambler, 52 years; the Rev. E. S. Anders, Lansdale, 52 years.

Northumberland county — John Minnard Park, Montandon, 53 years.

Washington county—C. H. Lambie, Washington, 52 years.

"It is a great privilege to serve God for over 50 years—not for nothing—but for the dividends which come from it," declared Clifford S. Heinz, who presented the veterans with medals. "You people receive dividends from the boys and girls that you taught. You have had the pleasure of seeing most of them rise to be God-fearing Christian men and women. That, alone, should be enough."

As he presented each of the men and women with the medal which they had served so long to receive, Mr. Heinz shook each one by the hand and congratulated each one personally.

Boy Scouts Doing Great Service

Local Troops Have Performed Valuable Service To Convention Success

Signal service is being rendered each day by the New Castle Boy Scouts of America at the Scottish Rite Cathedral, where they are assisting the delegates to the Sabbath School convention in any way that they can.

Scouts open the doors, scouts tell persons where to go, scouts page persons wanted in the lobby, and scouts assist people to get to their cars. In fact, scouts are doing all that they can.

All this work is under the direction of J. Lee Calahan, scout executive, who has spent quite some time in organizing the boys so that they will do the work efficiently and well.

Childrens' Division Workers Have Banquet

Over 260 Children's Division Workers met in the dining room of the First M. E. church last night for the annual Children's Division Supper of the State Sabbath School Convention.

The supper was an informal affair of fellowship in which the Children's Division workers had an opportunity to get acquainted with the leaders of the division and with several leaders of the convention. Miss Elsie G. Rodgers who for several years has been State Superintendent of the Children's Division presided.

Mrs. E. B. Bartlett and the ladies of the First Methodist church who prepared and served the supper were given a fine recognition by the chairman of the meeting and the applause of the assembled guests.

When Miss Rodgers introduced Percy Craig, state president of the Sabbath School Association, Mr. Craig turned the affair into a farewell to Miss Rodgers and after speaking several words of commendation of her work and regret of her leaving, he, in behalf of the State Association presented Miss Rodgers with a beautiful bouquet of roses. Miss Rodgers is leaving her position with the state staff to take up a position with the Presbyterian Board of Education at Philadelphia as Associate Director of Children's Work.

Mrs. Percy L. Craig and Mrs. Earl Craig were also present at the supper and were introduced to the workers by Miss Rodgers. Miss Rodgers then introduced several of the guests and workers who made several fitting remarks in acknowledgement of the introduction. Among those who greeted the guests were Walter E. Myers, General Secretary of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association and Mrs. Myers; Mrs. M. E. Vaughn, Superintendent of the Children's Division of Lawrence County; Rev. and Mrs. H. C. Weaver, pastor of the First Methodist church of New Castle; Mrs. E. W. Baer, chairman of the Decoration Committee; Mrs. Minor, chairman of the Music Committee; Mrs. Leohner, chairman of the Ticket Committee; Mrs. Boyd, Reporting Secretary.

Miss Rodgers also presented Clifford S. Heinz, Director of the State Association; Dr. J. W. Manon, vice president of the State Association, and Mrs. Manon; Hon. Chas. Steele, State Senator and vice president of the Association; Dr. M. H. Fischer, recording secretary of the convention; Dr. Geo. W. Wellburn, superintendent of Christian Education of the State Association; Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Tomlinson of the Baptist Publication Society; Mrs. Margaret L. String, Director of Children's Work of the Reform Sunday School Board, and Miss Elizabeth Harris, secretary of Elementary Work, Missionary Education Movement, New York City.

Says Parson And Police Can't Save Civilization

In the last session before noon of the state Sabbath school convention at the Scottish Rite Cathedral this morning, Rev. Frank M. McKibben, D. D., gave an inspiring address on religious education in the week-day religious education school. Levon N. Zenian, representative of the Near East Relief, gave an interesting address on "Continuing in the Near East".

Final Session Tonight

At the final meeting this evening special music with a junior chorus will be the feature. The addresses of the evening will be given by United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle and the noted lecturer and author, Miss Margaret Slattery. This meeting will not only be for accredited delegates, but will be open to all the public.

Dr. McKibben said that civilization is facing a great challenge in the youth of this day. He said that if Americans are not taught religion and true morals in their childhood and youth, then it is impossible for the parson and the police to save civilization when these same Americans grow to manhood. If the youth are not reached in their homes in the villages and towns, never can they be reached when they go to the cities. If they are not taught an abiding faith in their homes and churches, they cannot be won in the great institutions of learning.

In the high schools, said Dr. McKibben, the youth are being graduated with an 18-year-old understanding of science, history, etc., but a 10 or 12-year-old understanding of religion and morals.

No Complaint

Dr. McKibben said that he had no complaint to make against the present generation of young life, their way of dress and actions. Never has there walked on the stage of history a finer, nobler lot of youth than we have in Pennsylvania right now. Nor has any complaint against the public schools and their system, but his complaint is of an educational program that permits and tolerates a leaning back in religious life and morality while going forward in all other lines.

The home should not think that they have less responsibility since the schools are taking over so much. Parents, by some type of the family altar, grace at meals and especially by practices of honesty, truth and other virtues before their children, have the greatest part to play.

But in addition to the home, we must develop the week-day school and co-operation with the public schools to see that religious training may be given the boys and girls which they are needing and asking for. Dr. McKibben told of boys and girls coming to him and saying, "Why can we not have Bible study every day? We like it the best of all."

Mr. Zenian, a Silician by birth and a Pennsylvanian by adoption, brought vividly before the people the need of aid in the Near East, not only as a humanitarian act, but in order that the Christian church there might be preserved and the faith of Christ perpetuated in the children rescued from death and devastation during the war and since.

The Near East relief work is one of the greatest opportunities for church union, said Mr. Zenian, for in it all denominations of Protestant Christianity are joined in a real Christian work, just as in the Sabbath school association they are united.

Dr. W. B. Smiley of Rochester, Pa., who has just returned from a trip to the Orient and the Near East, gave his testimony to all that the speaker said and said that nothing impressed him like what he saw in the Near East.

Onen of the features of the Sunday school convention parade last night was the drum corps representing the Third United Presbyterian church. The flag carriers were Fred Book and Clyde Wick and they were attired in tall silk hats and long ulsters or raincoats of a tan color. Their associates were R. M. Campbell, Ben Kennedy, Bill Shoaff, Floyd Book, Ernest Long, Harvey Brest. The corps received generous applause all along the route. This corps represented the congregation, which dedicates a magnificent new church next Sunday.

Award Shields For Attendance

Bessemer Has Largest Number Of Delegates In County

BUTLER COUNTY SHIELD WINNER

Wayne County Gets Award For Largest Delegation In Proportion

That Fayette was the only county which was added to the 100 per cent class during the past year was the report made by Walter E. Meyers, general secretary of the State Association of Sabbath schools when he announced the counties that would be given banners for being 100 per cent this year.

"In these twelve counties that have gone 100 per cent, we have the districts to consider," said Mr. Meyers. "It means that more than one half of the districts in each county are 100 per cent, and more than one half of the schools on each district are 100 per cent. After all, it all trades itself back to the local schools: they are the mainstays of the organization."

Adams, Blair, Clinton, Cumberland, Franklin, Juniata, Lawrence, Lycoming, Monroe, Westmoreland, Indiana, and Fayette were the counties to get banners for being in this class last year.

Call For Mr. Craig

Immediately after the banners were presented, Clifford J. Heinz of Pittsburgh, who, was presiding at the time, extolled the work that was being done by President Craig and his Lawrence county cohorts. The crowd rose to their feet and clamored for Mr. Craig to make a few remarks.

'Our budget is $72,400 for the coming year," stated President Craig, and so far we have raised $56,615." At this point he was interrupted by a great ovation from the assembled delegates." But we still have about $16,000 to get before we can call the job completed. We must have the amount, and the delegates will do well to remember this when they go back to their homes."

Attendance Awards

Attendance awards, given by the Rotary, Lions, and Kiwanis clubs of New Castle were next given by Robert M. Strickler of president of the Lawrence County Sabbath school association.

The Kiwanis shield, which was presented to the school in the county having the largest number of registered delegates in porportion to the size of the school, was awarded to the Bessemer Presbyterian Sabbath school, P. W. Griffen coming on the stage to receive the award.

Butler county won the competition between Butler, Mercer, and Beaver counties to see who would have the largest number of delegates at the convention, and their plaque, awarded by the Rotary club of New Castle, was presented to W. B. Furgeson, president of the Butler County Sabbath School association.

To the county outside of Lawrence, Beaver, Butler and Mercer who had the largest delegation at the convention, a shield was awarded by the Lions club. It went to Wayne county, which had the largest attendance in proportion to the size of the county, and it was received by F. L. Hartford of Elmhurst.

A motion was then made, seconded and carried to thank the Rotary, Kiwanis, and Lions clubs of New Castle for their interest in the affair.

Up at the Cathedral there is postoffice service, too, through the courtesy of Miss Cora Ritchie of the Y. M. C. A. and a few of the News reporters who always bring down an armful of mail each time that they leave the Cathedral.

Select Philadelphia.

Recommendation of the committee on place of meeting that Philadelphia be selected as the convention city in 1928 was presented by Rev. Charles G. White of Blair county, a member of the committee, and was unanimously approved by the convention. Rev. White stated that the invitation of the Philadelphia county association was endorsed by practically every religious organization, all of the civic bodies and the Chamber of Commerce of Philadelphia. Every facility and every cooperation was promised, he said, to make the convention a success.

It was at this time that President Craig arose and announced that the enrollment of registered delegates had reached 4150 and challenged Philadelphia county to better this record next year.

W. S. Reel, general secretary of the Philadelphia county association, came to the platform and after thanking the delegates for the selection of Philadelphia, accepted the challenge and stated that Philadelphia planned to go New Castle one better. President Craig urged that he must start at once to try and do it and Mr. Reel said that he was leaving soon to start.

Report of the committee on nominations was then presented by Clifford S. Heinz of Pittsburgh, its chairman. He announced that the committee had recommended the re-election of Percy L. Craig as president, and all the vice presidents, directors and other officers and also the addition of R. E. English of Grove City, Mercer county, Pa., as a vice president. The announcement was received with rousing applause and when the delegates were called upon to approve the nominations by rising from their seats, every person in the auditorium got up.

Officers Elected.

The officers re-elected and elected are: President, Percy L. Craig, New Castle; treasurer, H. E. Paisley, Philadelphia; legal counsel, Romain C. Hassrick, Esq., Philadelphia; recording secretary, H. W. Deitz, York, Pa.; members of the board, Mrs. Barclay Warburton, Philadelphia; Ives L. Harvey, Philadelphia, and the Hon. J. W. Vickerman, Bellevue, Pa.; vice presidents, F. E. Parkhurst of Wilkes-Barre, Mrs. W. Burnet Easton of Stroudsburg, Mrs. John Y. Boyd of Harrisburg, Hon. Charles Steele of Northumberland, H. C. Heckerman of Bedford, John C. Silsley, Esq., of Greensburg, Prof. O. R. Myers of Huntingdon, John E. Person of Williamsport, Dr. J. W. Manon of Charleroi, Arthur P. Zuck of Erie, Frank H. Steen of Belle Vernon, Bishop William M. Bell of Harrisburg and R. E. English of Grove City.

There was then a demand for remarks from the president. President Craig called those members of the board present to his side and then said among other things: Nobody knows my weaknesses better than I do. I'll never forget my election for the first time eight years ago. I didn't sleep the night before the election and after being told that they wanted me to serve. I prayed all night. I take all my troubles to God, even the smallest things. I did not agree to take the position until that venerable Dr. Henry said to me that it was a "call from God and that I dare not refuse it." What he said took the rebellion out of my heart and I said I would do anything that was the will of God. I have done the best I know how but you all are entitled to credit in the work done. You have a responsibility as never before along with me and the loving group of members of the boards. This budget must be raised. Make it a matter of prayer and we will succeed.

His remarks ended, President Craig then led the assemblage in prayer, after which Walter E. Myers, the general secretary, announced that he had a message of congratulation from the New York State Sabbath School Association in which it was stated that it now had the services of W. G. Landis, former general secretary of the Pennsylvania association and secretary of the World S. S. Association. The convention directed that a message be returned to the New York association and also to Mr. Landis expressing the appreciation of the Pennsylvania body for the message and congratulaitng both it and Mr. Landis on his retention as general secretary.

It was then that E. B. Throckmorton of Mt. Morris, Pa., arose in the convention and spoke at some length on the wonderful manner in which the Boy Scouts had performed and asked that the convention accord them a vote of thanks which was given in a hearty manner.

You may not know it, but Lawrence county leads the state of Pennsylvania in the per capita contributions to the state association. The per capita in this county is .125, while Philadelphia is only .121. Lawrence county is a 100 per cent county also, in the listing of the counties.

Yellow Journalism And Sex Magazines Flayed In Addresses

Yellow journalism is a killer for the best things in life and it is an incentive to make men and women killers in the social life of the community, was the opinion expressed by Roy A. Burkhart, division superintendent of Christian education, in an address delivered to the young people's workers mass meeting held last evening in the First Presbyterian church.

"Youth of today do not know the difference between love and passion", he went on. "They do not realize that petting gets stale after three or four months of married life. They do not know that real love is centered in the spirit and not in the passions.

"Civilization, when we judge it by the things that people read, seems to be something that the few have enforced upon the great unwashed, the mob. Sex is the big thing today, both in reading and in life.

"In good books we can find the panacea of all these evils. Good books help one to rise from the physical to the spiritual. They give one the power of the inexpressible; they will hold before one the ideal.

"The man who plays with love and life will lose them and they will never return. Customs alter, but the passions remain. Good books point to the future, the present and the past. They hold up the glory of the commonplace. There is no source more vital for character than the field of books."

In his peroration Mr. Burkhart again launched a flaming attack against yellow journalism and the sex magaizines that are so popular today.

Following Mr. Burkhart on the program was B. A. McGarvey of the field staff of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association, who spoke on the home fires and the best way to keep them burning in the hearts of the young people.

"We are bringing up a generation of lawbreakers in honest Christian homes," he proclaimed. "Children of today are using the home merely as a jumping-off place: a place where they can eat, sleep and dress. Nowadays the young folks go outside of the home to have their good times.

"It takes more than four walls, a roof and furniture to make a home. There is the fire of truth: the parents must be truthful to their children, so that the children will be truthful to them. Then there is the fire of discipline, the fire of courtesy and the fire of social life. All these must be kept burning on the hearth of the home. Their flames must never be let flicker or go out.

"Then we have the fire of confidence, the fire of high ideals and the fire of the family devotions."

In closing Mr. McGarvey took up the question of feminine smoking and stated that he believed that the women of today have as much right to smoke as do their fathers or husbands. "The adult leaders in the community are damning youth for doing the same things that they do themselves."

Devotionals opening the young people's workers' mass meeting were led by the Lawrence county young people's officers, while Clifford S. Heinz of Pittsburgh presided over the main meeting. The Rev. E. H. Bonsall pronounced the benediction.

CONVENTION SIDELIGHTS

Even Senator Fess was somewhat overawed when he stepped out onto that stage last night and faced such a magnificent audience. "I had no idea when I was asked some time ago to come to New Castle to address this convention that I would find anything like this in New Castle," he said, speaking of the magnificent auditorium and the crowd that filled it.

This convention has been a fine thing for New Castle. The three thousand or more visitors will take back home with them the impression of one of the greatest convention halls and buildings to be found in the great Keystone state. And it might be stated for the benefit of these visitors that audiences such as they saw in the great building on Thursday night are not uncommon to New Castle and Lawrence county folks. The building has been filled to capacity for numerous affairs. One year ago there was a banquet in the structure at which 2,600 persons were seated and served at the same time.

Winding up a parade by climbing the Highland avenue hill to the Cathedral after marching a mile or so about town was a test for many of the men who marched Thursday night. While most of them made it, they realized that they had been extended to keep up with the procession.

A parade is a parade, but it is different when 3,000 men march to show their fidelity to God. To this writer it was reminiscent of a great religious crusade: all faithful and all determined.

While the job of taking care of this epochal state convention of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association has been a big one for the New Castle Sabbath school workers, it is hoped that when the delegates leave tonight they will have a pleasant memory of their visit to this city, and their treatment while here.

Taking care of a convention where there were 4,000 persons enrolled is a bigger problem than has ever been attempted at any state Sabbath school convention in the past, but it is believed that New Castle proved well equal to the task.

Even though there were literally thousands of automobiles parked around on the streets of the North Hill for blocks around the Cathedral in every direction last night, there seemed to be the same number of cars battling for parking space in the downtown areas, as on usual nights.

Some idea of the immensity of the state Sabbath school convention being concluded in this city today can be gained by scanning the facts about last night's sessions. With nearly 4,000 at the Scottish Rite Cathedral session, there were two other big meetings. At the First Methodist Episcopal church some 1,500 or more were assembled, while at the First Presbyterian church probably 400 or 500 more were gathered at a third meeting. Altogether, there were at least 6,000 persons attending meetings of the convention in this city last night.

About 300 or more attended the young people's division superintendents' mass meeting held last evening in the First Presbyterian church. Thousands more were at the Cathedral and hundreds more were at the First M. E. church, where Miss Margaret Slattery delivered the address. The convention is large, very large; in fact, it is the largest and greatest convention of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association that ever was held or will be held for some time, say many of the officials of the state organization.

Lawrence county has 127 Sunday schools, with a total enrollment of 27,604, which is about the average of the state.

The Bell Telephone company, not to be outdone by the various civic organizations that are helping the visiting delegates at the Scottish Rite Cathedral have installed special phones in the lobby for all and sundry who care to use them.

And more than that, in charge there is John Rankin Dunfee, city manager for New Castle and it is through his efforts that this extra service is possible.

It seems a pity that Robert Rakes the eminent Englishman who first started Sunday schools in the city of London, could not have returned to earth just to see this convention. His idea was a small one when he originated it, but it has grown to mammoth proportions. In Pennsylvania alone there are 10,609 Sunday schools, showing a total of 2,216,554. In other words, nearly one out of every four people in the state is a member of a Sunday school.

Percy L. Craig, president of the state association for the past eight years, "did not choose to run" this time for the presidency, but the delegates went right ahead in spite of that and elected him.

James A. Lansing, chairman of the board of directors, is more than enthusiastic about this convention. "I've seen a lot of them", said he. "Percy L. Craig and myself started on the board together 18 years ago, and we've seen many conventions come and go, but there never was one like this. Everything has been handled so efficiently, so smoothly and so pleasantly that this convention will stand out as the best one we have ever had thus far. New Castle people can be proud of what they have done."

Miss Cora Ritchie is a lady of ideas, and when they asked her to serve at the information desk she decided that stamps and post cards would be appreciated by the delegates. Her idea has been a success, for the visitors here have been sending out a young landslide of cards each day.

There are a lot of tired workers around the Cathedral today. Tired but happy, for their work blossomed out into a convention that will go down in the history of the state association as the best ever.

The service division of the Scottish Rite Cathedral has done a splendid job of ushering. That's a hard job any time, and particularly when one does it all day long.

The state Sabbath school convention has demonstrated one thing, and that is, New Castle can handle a convention. This has been a big one, a mighty big one, and yet at no time has any feature of it been out of control. Now bring on some more state conventions.

The largest convention in the history of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association was reported this morning when Percy L. Craig, president of the state association, stated that at 9:52 a. m. the registered delegates numbered 4,150.

Immediately the crowd rose to their feet and gave a demonstration.

"It makes me proud to be connected in any way with this association," stated President Craig in an aside. "I am sure that in coming years the association will even grow to be bigger and better, and I hope that it does."

President and Mrs. P. L. Craig today entertained at luncheon the members of the board of directors of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association and their wives, who were in attendance at the convention. The luncheon was held at the Craig home on Lincoln avenue and was of a pleasing and interesting character and was given as a testimonial to the associates of Mr. Craig on the board.

The manner in which the traffic was handled at the Scottish Rite Cathedral during the Sunday school convention was a matter of general and favorable comment on the part of many of the delegates. The city police officers in charge during the convention were Frank Reynolds, Ray Richards and D. T. Nelson. Those persons with whom they came in contact expressed themselves as more than pleased with the courtesies and assistance rendered them and said that they had never had better treatment in their lives. There were no accidents and the traffic situation was as good as could be expected under the circumstances.

Registration Is Near 4,300

Final Day Of Record-Breaking State Convention Is Full Of Activity

DR. ELLIS MAKES MORNING ADDRESS

With two record-breaking days back of it, the annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School School Association began the third and final day of its meeting today in the Scottish Rite cathedral, with a program that will fill almost every minute of the entire day and evening.

Officers were elected, the place of the next convention set, a World's Pilgrims dinner is to be held and seven conferences held, and then the final session tonight in the Scottish Rite cathedral, with Hon. Charles H. Tuttle, United States attorney, and Miss Margaret Slattery, noted Boston evangelist, speaking.

Total to Reach 4300.

Early today it was indicated that the total registered delegates would reach 4300 at least, 4145 having been registered up until 10 o'clock this morning. This number so far surpasses any other previous convention that it seems unlikely that any convention will surpass it for some time.

The morning session in the cathedral auditorium opened at 9 o'clock with Rev. Walter B. Greenway of Philadelphia presiding. Due to the absence of Dr. Floyd W. Tomkins, Rev. A. G. Gage held the devotional period and spoke on Four Ways to Find Christ. The song service was under the direction of John W. Owens.

At 9:30 Dr. Calvert Ellis, the speaker of the morning, addressed the delegates and visitors on "The Function of Christian Education." Among other things he said:

Dr. Ellis' Address.

The agencies of Christian education are many, and not the least of them in its opportunity and in its influence is the Christian home. But whether the agency be home or school or church there are at least two things involved in the function of Christian education. They may be designated as the pedagogical function and the practice function.

The pedagogical function of Christian education is to promulgate thru every agency and by every method what Professor James Orr of Scotland aptly called "The Christian View of God and the World." Of course, there is much that is frankly not Christian at all in the thinking of our time, but is it not amazing what a contradictory series of philosophies are trying to shelter themselves under the overhanging eaves of the house of Christian thought? And is it not equally amazing that so many of the children of the home do not sem to know whether they belong there or not? Is it not the least that we can ask Christian education to do, to make our youth familiar with the great Christian classic we call the Bible, until their knowledge of it instead of being a reproach to our negligence shall enable them at least to recognize anti-Christian propaganda when it meets them wearing a Christian cloak? It would be a happy circumstance if we could believe that the Virginia high school Bible test would get a higher score in other states. I fear we flatter ourselves if we think so.

But Christianity is not only a view of God and the world, it is a way of life here and a way to the life to come. There is not only a Christian ethic there is a Christian morality, and the practical function of Christian education is to make regnant in the individual life and in the social life this Christian morality, this Christian way of living. Christian education has a practical function in support of the Christian home, the Christian Sabbath and the Christian church. It has the task of Christianizing the goals of all education. It puts God on the horizon of life and Christ in the heart of life and inspires all life with sacrificial devotion to ideals of service. It cannot rest simply with teaching truth, it aims to incarnate the truth in living souls, regenerate through the historic fact of Calvary's cross and the ever-present reality of the Spirit of the risen Christ. And across the uncertain gropings for light on the life to come it flashes the certain truth of Him who told of the many mansions in the Father's house and thus gives men courage to live now in the hope of the life that is yet to be. It is of the function of Christian education to inspire men not only to live, but to live right, and to live in the assured hope of living blessedly forever.

Aged Woman Suffers Stroke At Cathedral

Taken To Shenango Valley Hospital; Believed To Be Ella Beckwith

Shortly before noon today an aged lady, thought to be about 80 years of age, suffered a stroke in the auditorium of the Scottish Rite Cathedral and was removed to the Shenango Valley hospital.

All that is known about her is that she has on a Lawrence county delegate badge. A purse was found near her but this contained no card of identification, but did contain about $66.00 in money.

At the Shenango Valley hospital where the woman is being cared for, she was unable to speak, but understood that an effort was being made to ascertain her identity and wrote "Ella Beckwith, Elmwood," on a piece of paper, this afternoon. This is believed to be her name, and street address.

It was later definitly established that the woman is Ella Beckwith of Fern street, this city

Leaders Plan Family Group In Next Senate

Insurgent Bloc Will Be Given Recognition In Chairmanship Posts

SEEK TO PREVENT MUCH WRANGLING

Republican Leaders Suffer Change Of Heart Toward Insurgent Groups

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Assured of their ability to organize the 70th Congress, Republican leaders today took steps to insure complete recognition of the insurgent block in the assignment of new committee chairmanships as a further means of promoting peace in the party.

The insurgents and independents will be given major committee chairmanships with a lavishness that would have dazed the Republican leaders in the days following the 1924 Presidential campaign. It was in the fall of 1925 that four insurgents were expelled from the Republican party in the Senate, but since those days a great change has come over the Republican leadership.

This new regard for insurgents can best be illustrated by the fact that one of the expelled senators—Lynn J. Frazier (R.) of N. D.—will be given the important chairmanship of the Indian Affairs committee while two more independents will be promtoed to chairmanships and four more retained in their present posts as heads of other large committees. The promotions will go to Senator Robert B. Howell, (R.) of Neb., who will become chairman of the Public Lands committee which a few years ago unearthed the Teapot Dome oil scandal.

New Chairmen.

The insurgents and independents retained in high posts will be Senators George W. Norris, Neb., as chairman of judiciary; William E. Borah, Ida., as chairman of Foreign Relations.; Hiram W. Johnson, Cal., as chairman of Imigration and James Couzens, Mich., as chairman of Education and Labor.

In all, due to the retirement of older senators, about twelve or thirteen new chairmen will be named in the new Senate. These will include: Senators David A. Reed, Pa., as chairman of military affairs; Samuel Shortridge, Cal., as chairman of privileges and elections; Jesse H. Metcalf, R. I., as chairman of manufacturers; Henry W. Keyes, N. H., as chairman of public buildings; Hiram Bingham, Conn., as chairman of printing; Frederick M. Sackett, Ky., as chairman of executive expenditures, and Frank R. Gooding, Ida., as chairman of pensions, succeeding Norbeck.

There may be more changes if Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio accepts chairmanship of the committee on audit and control of contingent expenses of the Senate, Vice Keyes. In that event Senator Frederick H. Gillette, Mass., would become chairman of the library committee, which Fess now holds. The chairmanship of the patents committee will go begging as no present republican member of the committee is eligible. A newcomer will get this chairmanship.

While the Insurgents are being widely rewarded, the so-called old guard will retain most of the big committee chairmanships. Among those continuing in high places will be the venerable Senator Francis E. Wurren, Wyo., as chairman of appropriations; the likewise venerable Reed Smoot, of Utah, as the finance chairman; Charles Curtis, Kas., the Republican floor leader, as chairman of rules and James E. Watson, Indiana, as chairman of interstate commerce. Senator George H. Moses, N. H., will remain chairman of post offices, and Senator Charles L. McNary, of Ore., will remain chairman of agriculture. A half dozen others will retain less important chairmanships.

All in all, the Republican leadership will be looking forward to a nice Republican family gathering when it comes time to organize the senate.

Although she has written verse, Margaret Tennyson, great niece of the late poet laureate of England hesitates to publish it because of the high standard which the family name has set. She is 22 and is engaged in gardening work in Wales.

U.S. To Insist On No Change In The Tariff

Commercial Conference At Geneva Opens Today To Study Duties

American Delegates Are Instructed To Insist On "No Tinkering"

By MAURITZ A. HALLGREN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Once again delegates from the United States are attending an international commercial conference in order to protect the American tariff system from possible attacks by other countries.

When the Conference for the Abolition of Import and Export Prohibitions and Restrictions met in Geneva today, Hugh R. Wilson, Minister to Switzerland, and several Department of Commerce and Tariff Commission experts were present as the official representatives of the United States. Ostensibly they were on hand to aid in the work of abolishing the arbitrary trade barriers which have arnsen in Europe since the war and thus provide virtually a free movement for American goods on the European continent; but actually, because of the intimate interrelationship of the two problems, they were under implied instructions to rush to defense of the American tariff if and when it should be subjected to debate.

American representatives at the World Economic Conference in Geneva last May and those attending the International Chamber of Commerce meeting in Stockholm last July played the same roles.

Trade Treaty

The conference opening today is to consider a draft treaty to do away with restrictions on international trade. Several European countries, particularly some like Czechoslovakia and Jugoslavia, which have been created in the last decade, have since the war prohibited or limited certain imports and exports in order to protect home industries and provide employment for their people.

This course rather than the imposition of high tariff duties has been adopted to control foreign trade because of various factors which make prohibitive tariff rates unfeasable. Economists, however, see in these arbitrary restrictions a barrier against the free movement of goods in international commerce.

But countries that must protect their home labor and industries for various reasons may be reluctant to surrender this priviledge of regulating their trade unless the only other method of control, that of imposing high tariff duties, is also curtailed or eliminated.

No Tinkering

The United States cannot, of course, consent to any agreement whereby its tariff system would be subjected to international control or limited by international convention. The American delegates are under strict instructions to permit no tinkering with the tariff and will leave the present trade barriers standing, so far as the United States is concerned, if their removal endangers the tariff system.

None of the restrictions which from time to time this country has imposed on imports will be considered at the Geneva meeting. These include prohibitions of certain articles on grounds of public health; prohibitions having in view the protection of animals and plants against disease, degeneration or extinction; prohibitions imposed for moral and humanitarian reasons, such as those placed on intoxicating liquors.

The Geneva conference will, therefore, have little to consider that affects the United States directly, unless the tariff issue is brought to the front.

Drunken Automobile Drivers Are Scored

PHILADELPHIA Oct. 14--Branding drunken automobile drivers as a "criminal menace to the safety of the highways," the Keystone Automobile club, in a bulletin issued here urged that no sympathy be given men and women arrested for operating machines while under the influence of liquor.

Vigorous action by police authorities to stamp out the menace is urged in the bulletin which declares that drunken drivers constitute "an unnecessary hazard to motoring."

The bulletin issued by the club follows:

"Hardly a day passes that the newspapers do not record one or more accidents attributable to John Barleycorn at the steering wheel.

"If only an occasional accident was traced to this cause the situation would be serious, but with drunk crashes becoming commonplace, the menace becomes deadly.

"Every motorist is entitled to take his wife and family for a drive without being subjected to this extra hazard. With the streets and highways crowded with motor vehicles, steady hands and clear brains are absolutely essential to automobile operation. A man befuddled with moonshine belongs on the back and not the front seat of a motor car.

"The Keystone Automobile club has stood for highway safety since its organization 21 years ago. It believes that one of its highest public duties is to protect the innocent, law-abiding motorists from encroachments of unprincipled and criminally careless drivers. It neither invites into its membership a man who is known to take a chance on driving while under the influence of liquor, but it will not permit a membership to be retained if a charge is substantiated.

"It has repeatedly refused to go to the aid of motorists unquestionably guilty of driving while drunk and it will maintain this attitude.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle.

Ran into an interesting newspaper clipping Thursday afternoon. Met O. P. Brown who said that he had a clipping from the New York Times which might be of interest. It was. It was an account of the death of Sam Warner, moving picture magnate who died several days ago. In the history of his start was recorded. Back in 1903, along with three brothers he opened a picture house in New Castle, hiring 99 chairs from a funeral director, and here in a little room on South Mill street was the first picture house which later developed into the giant Warner Brothers combine.

Sam Warner is remembered by the older citizens of the city and probably many of them saw the flickering film productions he showed there, sitting on one of those 99 funeral chairs.

Met an old New Castle citizen in the Sabbath School convention on Thursday afternoon, Harry Quest of Johnstown, Pa. Mr. Quest at one time was a resident of New Castle but left some years ago to locate in Johnstown. He is representing the Franklin Street Sunday School, and is just proud of the way New Castle is handling the convention as though he were still a resident here.

Many of the delegates have marveled at the combination of light harmonies which can be produced in the cathedral. One evening during the convention it was requested that a demonstration be given, and Bob Thompson, the expert who knows the lighting system like you know your own coalshed, gave them one. Of course it got a hand.

This thing called Love certainly plays havoc with a chap's peace of mind. The Cub, who has his "mill" next to mine is usually just getting into love or just getting out and as a result is an emotional wreck most of the time. This time it's a triolet he dashes off, in the best State College style. A little soft music, professor.

To.....(I Daren't Mention Her Name)

Another year
Of sighs and songs—
Will life be dear
Another year?
But banish fear!
To us belongs
Another year
Of sighs and songs.

.....THE CUB

Horrors! For a moment it looked as though there wouldn't be any unusual rush around this office after the convention closed, and then I just happened to think that the Castleton opening will be within a short time, and with that there will be plenty of other things to do.

Ancient Bones Brought From Kenya Colony

Light On Early Humans Discovered In Remains Dug Up In Africa

Skull Found Is Said To Be 20,000 To 25,000 Years Old

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Bones, believed to be those of the earliest members of the human race, of persons who inhabited the earth between 20,000 and 25,000 years ago have been brought to this country.

They have arrived as part of the discoveries made by Dr. George L. Collie, Famous anthropolgist, Beloit College professor.

From the Kenya Colony in what was formerly British East Africa and Algeria, the bones have been brought here in hopes that they will throw important light on the earliest of humans.

Chief among the collection is a skull, unearthed in a stone age deposit at Mechta-el-arbi, Algeria, which the best authorities agree is approximately 25,000 years old and convincing proof of the long maintained theory of many scientists that Africa not Asia, was man's first home.

Found Seven Skulls

The Kenya discovery, Dr. Collie reports, was made by L. S. Leakey, heading the Cutler Dinosaur expedition at Tanaganyika. During six weeks of excavating this expedition unearthed seven skulls at Nakeru in a stone age deposit. A complete human skeleton, that of a man six feet tall, buried six feet under ground, with more than 100 stone tools beside it, also was uncovered.

Further details concerning the discoveries are being witheld at present at the request of Mr. Leakey, pending official reports to be made late this Fall. Dr. Collie, however, stresses the importance of the find because of the apparent inexhaustable supply of these remains and also the fact that traces of dinosaurs were found.

Although Dr. Collie had not intended to engage further in personally searching the sources of the early man in Africa he announces that he probably will return to assist the Kenya workers.

"The skull I bring with me, is entirely different from any other of the Aurignacian period, I have ever seen," Dr. Collie said upon his arrival from Africa. "It was found by M. A. Debruge, our French Colleague, of Constantine, Algeria, who gave most grudging permission for the bringing of the skull to this country. It is held as priceless.

"After I had gone to Algeria Debruge was on the point of refusing to allow the skull out of his possession and only after the most ardent persuasion was I able to change his mind."

Will Return Skull

The skull must be returned to Algeria in February. Between now and the time for its return it will be examined by leading anthropologists in middle west, including Dr. Fay Cooper Cole, of the University of Chicago and Professor R. Roemer, noted paleontologist of the same institution.

It is the most perfect specimen of paleolithic skulls, ever found, according to Dr. Collie and the absence of Negroid characteristics makes it all the more interesting, he said. Although men of that period seem to have lived mostly on snails, there is ample evidence that the Sahara desert was not then the formidable area that it is now and that Northern Africa abounded in game.

"This skull Dr. Collie said, has a tremendous development of the glabella, the section of the skull above the nose, but the eye ridges are low. He had a large face with an overdeveloped jawbone apparently for the insertion of huge muscles. It scarcely seems to be that of a man content on snails, but a hunter of big game in the days when it abounded North of the Sahara."

PILL-TAKER FREED FROM HIS HABIT

ALL-BRAN brought natural relief from chronic constipation

Constipation is almost a universal curse—father of more than forty diseases. Yet there is real assurance in Mr. Ladue's letter:

"After sixteen years of taking pills, it cured me. If the millions of people that suffer from constipation only knew what Kellogg's ALL-BRAN would do, some of the pill-makers would go out of business. Every doctor should recommend it. I tell all that I know so that they can get the joy out of life I am getting since I started on Kellogg's ALL-BRAN 3 months ago."

MR. JULIAN LADUE
Burlington, Vt.

Hollow cheeks, pimples, listlessness are some of the symptoms. Don't risk it another day. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to relieve constipation. Two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal.

Delicious with milk or cream—and add fruits or honey. Use in cooking. Comes ready to eat. Sold and served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Recipes on package.

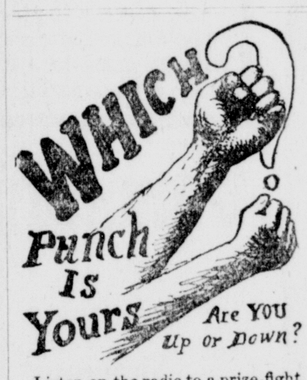
CONFERENCE HERE NEXT THURSDAY

Regional Conference Of Red To Be Held In New Castle

The regional conference of the American Red Cross will be held next Tuesday in The Castleton hotel. Plans for the day are progressing. Invitations have gone out from the local chapter to visiting chapters and local people. Many acceptances of these invitations have been received.

As stated previously the day's program will begin at 10 o'clock. At noon there will be a luncheon in the dining room of the Castleton at 1 o'clock. A courtesy automobile ride is to be another feature of the day. Representatives will be present from about twenty-four chapters of the American Red Cross.



Listen on the radio to a prize-fight. You get excited when your favorite is weakening. Ever get excited when your punch is losing its power? You feel your weakness in many ways—yet don't suspect the reason. Perhaps you have dizzy, nervous spells, headaches, lack of appetite or other slight attacks and laugh them off. You sure would get excited if an examination showed these were symptoms of oncoming System Poisoning—that weakening disease doctors call "TOXEMIA". Why risk losing your punch—your power of endurance—when by taking Partola you can cleanse your bowels and system of poison wastes that cause so much sickness. Ordinary laxative pills and waters don't dislodge the bacteria that cause this strength-sapping malady. Partola is an internal antiseptic and laxative that cleans out the poisons, leaves you bright-eyed, full of pep and bubbling over with health and strength. All good druggists sell regular box of Partola 30¢ double size 50¢.

China Death Rate Double That Of U. S.

PEKING, Oct. 14.—The death rate in China is nearly twice that in the United States according to figures just published by the Central Public Health Society. In China it is estimated that the rate is 3,000 per 100,000 of population. In the United States only 1,183.5 persons out of 100,000 die.

These figures are very inexact since no official system for taking a national census is in operation. Thus the likelihood of the death rate being even higher in the more remote parts of the land is strong.

In Peking and elsewhere along the coast as well as in center interior centers, foreign medical methods and comparative sanitation has cut down the ravishment of disease and accordingly the death rate.

However, a vast area remains virgin to occidental medicine and surgery and the dead pass out uncounted. The most primitive of foreign antiseptics, healing drugs and medicines for correction of ordinary de-rangements of the human interna systems are unknown in such areas where dependence is put on a few native herbs and drugs of doubtfu remedy.

Channel Swimming Failures Expensive; Winner's Bill Small

International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Oct. 14—Edward Temme, the East London insurance clerk who was the only person to swim the English Channel during the season just ended, spent less on conquering the twenty mile stripe of water separating England and France than those who failed.

It is conservatively estimated that more than $25,000 has been spent in attempts to conquer the channel during the past three months—and that of this sum probably $24,500 was wasted money.

Temme's attempt cost him around $500 in tug-boat fees, trainer's and accompanying swimmers expenses, and railroad fares for himself and party to Dover. At the other end of the scale must be placed the attempt of the Zitenfeld twins, who swam for four hours at a total probable cost of $7,500.

Mrs. Corson's unsuccessful attempt cost her in the neighborhood of $5,000, but she is coming to England again next year determined to be the first woman to make the both way crossing.

The best swim of the 1927 season, apart from Temme's, stands to the credit of Miss Logan, Harley-street London doctor, who lasted for 14½ hours in a rough sea. Her summer sport cost her far less than any other unsuccessful competitor, inasmuch as she employed no trainer or swimming assistants.

Festival Choral Society To Sing At Mission Service

Will Render Selections At Mass Meeting In First M. E. Church Next Sunday

MRS. MARY V. PATTERSON

The Old Handel Oratorio Society, famed for its festivals of music in the past years, has been reorganized along still broader lines with a purpose to do still greater things in the cause of music.

With the Scottish Rite Cathedral and its magnificent organ a reality, this splendid group of singers, numbering nearly 400 of the best voices of New Castle and adjoining towns, under its new name, "The Festival Choral Society", is well on the way to the greatest musical festival ever held in this part of the country. Present plans are to hold this festival during the holidays.

Next Sunday afternoon, Oct. 16, at 2:45, at the First M. E. church, the Festival Choral Society will sing two special numbers, "Hail Bright Abode", by Wagner, and "Listen to the Lambs", by Nathaniel Dett. These numbers were chosen that the public may have a taste of the many and varied types of singing which this great choral organization has in preparation. Prof. Paul Browne Patterson will conduct, with Mrs. Patterson at the organ and Miss Ruth Blocker of Ellwood City at the piano.

All those who love to sing and listen to singing should be present at this great meeting.

French Aviators Start On Flight To South America

(International News Service)

PARIS Oct. 14.—A message received today at Le Bourget from St. Louis Senegal, stated that Dieudonne Costes and Lieutenant Le Brix hopped off for Natal, Brazil at 6:23 a. m.

This is the second leg of the French pilots' flight from Paris to Buenos Aires, Argentine. From Natal they expect to fly to Rio De Janeiro and from there to Buenos Aires.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Oct. 14.—William Davenport, convicted, today, of entering an inhabited dwelling, was sentenced to 30 years in the Ohio penitentiary. Testimony developed that he committed an assault upon the woman who occupied the house.

In Day's News

Jacob Epstein, the famous sculptor, has returned to America, the land of his birth. In 1902 he left New York a penniless young man, to study art in Paris. After 25 years he has returned to his native land one of the most-talked-of sculptors in the world. For 15 years he has made his home in London, and five examples of his work are in the Tate Gallery. Epstein was born on the lower East Side of New York City, in very humble circumstances. Even as a schoolboy he displayed marked talents in drawing and modeling. His work was brought to the attention of Mrs. Hamilton Fish, who arranged for him to go to Paris. Not long after his arrival in the French capital he designed the tomb of Oscar Wilde, the first of his works to attract wide attention.

Soviet Young Men Are Physically Poor For Army Service

MOSCOW, Oct. 14—Startling physical difficiencies of the young Russians are revealed in preliminary reports of army medical examinations of young men called for the compulsory two year's service. The test mobilization of all eligibles for military service in time of war, which went on at the same time, showed that as high as 63 per cent in some city districts were physically unfit to serve.

Tuberculosis, heart disease and venereal afflictions are reported shockingly prevalent. Both the test mobilization and the volunteer call of 1905 recruits were answered by from 89 to 98 per cent of the eligibles. The cross section of the population examined was surprisingly large. The spirit and willingness to shoulder arms for Communism was gratifying, the War Commissariat announced.

In Moscow, where 94 per cent responded, only 37 per cent of those liable for service were pronounced unqualifiedly healthy. Fourteen per cent were absolutely unfit, 25 per cent were ordered under physicians' care or sent to sanitariums, 17 per cent were temporarily incapacitated. The rest were found able to perform headquarters duties.

The 22-year-old youths are enlisted by drawing lots after medical examination. About 200,000 will be drafted for the standing army which numbers about 600,000.

Mabel Wilson Lodge Plans For Big Party

Lodge Also Has Initiation At Meeting; Other News Of Seventh Ward

Mabel Wilson lodge, No. 567 to Brotherhood of Raiload Trainmen, had their lodge meeting Thursday evening in the Daughters of America hall. There was a good attendance of lodge members present. The feature of the evening was the initiation of new members. Preceding the initiation program there was a business meeting conducted, at which time affairs of the lodge were transacted.

Plans were discussed at the meeting for a Hallowe'en party. This party will be in two weeks, on October 27, in the same hall. It is planned to make this party a big event. At this party the members of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, No. 955, and their wives and husbands will be guests. Also husbands and families of Mabel Wilson lodge will be guests. Committee named in charge of the affair is comprised of Mrs. Grace Stokely, Mrs. Ouida Collingwood and Mrs Flossie Wilson.

After the business meeting and initiation the evening was spent socially, with chat. Later refreshments were served by the general committee.

G. I. A. LODGE

The Grand International Auxiliary to Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers had their meeting Thursday afternoon in the Clendenin hall.

An important event discussed during the meeting was the jubilee of the G. I. A. celebrating the 40th anniversary of the organizing of the Grand International Auxiliary. This event will be held at Chicago, Ill., on Friday, Oct. 21. A number of local lodge members are planning to attend. At this jubilee there will be representatives from all the lodges.

M. B. CLUB

Helen Woods and Frances Hyde were associate hostesses to the members of the M. B. Club in the former's home Thursday evening. Fifteen girls were present. During the evening the hours were spent in games. The girls are planning to meet once a month and their next meeting will be on November 15.

INDUSTRIAL CLASSES

Organizing of Industrial classes at the Mahoning M. E. church has been progressing. Last week at these classes over sixty children were enrolled. These classes are for Italian children, any may join one of the various classes.

Miss Berniece Schoolcraft, deaconess at the church is organizing these classes and to assist her in teaching the children various kinds of hand craft, she will have eight young people from the church.

BOOTH FESTIVAL

The Booth Festival for the New Castle district is being held at the M. E. church at Grove City on Saturday, October 22. Captains for the booth the Epworth League of the Mahoning M. E. church will have there, will be Miss Ruth Shaw and Henry Hamilton.

Each year the Epworth Leagues of the conference have festivals at which each Epworth League has a booth with all kinds of canned fruit and vegetables, linen, etc., displayed there. These booths are judged and prizes given and after the festival the goods are all sent to St. Luke's hospital.

COMMITTEES NAMED

Committees have been named for the Hallowe'en party or "Ghosts Jamboree" which the Epworth League of Mahoning M. E. church is having in the church on Friday evening, October 28. Committees have been named to be in charge of the event and plans in general for the party are underway.

AT ST. LOUIS

Mrs. D. S. Evans of E. Cherry street left Thursday for St. Louis, Mo., where she will visit with relatives.

CELESTE GIRLS

Miss Frances Vatter, North Cedar street entertained the Celeste Girls in her home, Thursday evening. The evening was spent with music and cards, and prizes were won by Mrs. John Ford, and Miss Marguerite DeJane. Later refreshments were served by the hostess.

The next meeting in two weeks will be with Miss Marguerite DeJane, Madison avenue.

Two Autos Taken; One Is Recovered

Of the two automobiles reported to the police last night as having been stolen, one has been recovered.

Ford roadster, Pennsylvania license 387-936, which was stolen from the garage of the owner, I. E. Swisher, R. D. No. 8, on Thursday evening, was still missing late today.

The Dodge sedan of Melvin Shoaff, R. D. No. 7 reported as missing from Sycamore Way near the Foster Brothers Garage about 7 o'clock Thursday evening, was later reported to the police as having been found and in the possession of the owner.

A Friend Making Rather Than Profit Making Sale

For thirteen years I have been serving the people of this city. For the past five years in this store which bears my name. It is my friends and patrons who have made possible my marked success. I hold this event each year in appreciation of their patronage. To further intrench their confidence tomorrow I inaugurate this sale which is a pageant of worthy jewelry at cost, slightly above cost, or below cost. Come early tomorrow prepared to see great things.

5 YEARS OF PROGRESS

This remarkable growth can be attributed to three determined business principles. First, to guarantee that every article purchased here will be just as represented. Second, that it is better to take a small profit repeatedly than a big profit occasionally. Third, to extend credit on terms that are most liberal, and equalled by few other stores in America.

JACK GERSON.

MY PLEDGE TO YOU!

I pledge myself and this store to always give the city the greatest possible values in jewelry. To sell on credit what most stores cannot equal for cash. To guarantee every article sold to be just as represented—and thus to further the confidence of my patrons and create new ones.

JACK GERSON,
Your Jeweler.

Save 25% to 50% On Christmas Presents

$1 HOLDS ANY ARTICLE IN OUR VAULT UNTIL CHRISTMAS

TIMELY! This sale certainly comes at an appropriate time. With Christmas just around the corner here is an event that places thousands and thousands of dollars worth of gifts on sale at prices that are as much as 50% lower than is possible at holiday time. A deposit of $1 will hold any article safe in our vault for you until Christmas. Come in, look around, meet Gerson in person, see the largest diamond display in the city. Hundreds of values not advertised on display in the window. Practically everything in the store reduced.

Credit to All—As Little As 55c Down

Gerson's credit fame and liberal terms have become famous. Hundreds of accounts on our books are persons who live in distant towns, 10 miles, 20 miles, 50 miles and even 200 miles away. No matter where you live, nor who you are your credit is good. As little as 55c down is enough, the balance at your convenience. Buy now at these low prices, pay next year. Gerson will trust you.

Allged Bootleg Leader Is Taken In Mercer County

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Pa., Oct. 14.—John Baboski, alleged Mercer county bootlegger, was arrested in Sharon last night by County Detective Leyshock.

Baboski's plan, the officers say, was to open a still and place some one else in charge, while he went out to find a market for the liquor. When the still would be raided, he was always missing, but the man operating it would be taken into custody.

Records of the courts here show that no less than 17 men have been convicted of operating stills alleged to have been owned or financed by Baboski. His wife was also arrested with him last night.

Bail for Baboski was fixed at $4,000, the highest ever known in a liquor case here. He is being held while an effort is being made to secure the necessary bail. His wife was released on $1500 bail.

BIG BASEBALL DEAL PENDING

Pirates, Giants And Phillies Said To Be Involved In Big Off-Season Trade

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14.—Scarcely was the last man out in the world series before the post season "trade winds" of baseball began blowing and today a sizeable gale swept across the idle fields.

Rumors printed here stated that a three-cornered deal is germinating. It would affect the Pittsburgh Pirates, New York Giants and Philadelphia Nationals.

Outfielder Cuyler, Catcher Smith and Pitcher Morrison would be traded by the Pirates to the Phillies for Outfielder Leach and Second Baseman Thompson, according to the rumor. Then the Phils would send Cuyler to the Giants for Third Baseman Lindstrom and Second Baseman Thomas, while Smith would be swapped to the Cincinnati Reds for First Baseman George Kelly.

None of the clubs concerned have confirmed the rumor.

Coal And Iron Policemen Are Held For Court

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14—Seven coal and iron policemen employed by the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal corporation were today being held for court charged with aggravated assault and battery in connection with the alleged attack on five Castle Shannon men, four of whom were non-union miners. The officers' bonds were fixed at $1,000 each.

Those arrested were B. E. Hart, S. T. Lovechick, E. J. Kovalick, P. J. Casey, James Crouthers, Robert Freeman and W. E. Beck.

Dayton Team To Quarter At The Castleton Hotel

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner, of New Castle High, announced today that arrangements have been made for the Dayton Steele football team to quarter at The Castleton tonight.

The Dayton Steele party will comprise about 30, it was said, with two complete squads, coaches and school officials. The Ohioans are expected to arrive in New Castle about 11 o'clock tonight via the Pennsylvania railroad.

Tomorrow afternoon the Dayton team will battle New Castle High at Ben Franklin stadium in what looms as one of the most important games on the local card this fall.

There are 78,000 inmates in the almshouses of the United States, or about one to every 150,000 of population.

Funeral Services For William Manning

Victim Of Tragedy Friday Afternoon; Had Been In Ill Health For Some Time

Funeral services of William Mannig, aged 73, will be held from the family residence in Shenango township Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m.

Interment will be at Moundville cemetery.

Mr. Manning's death was briefly noted in yesterday's News. He had been in poor health for some time, the nature of his malady being such that he suffered great pain at times. On Wednesday a nurse had been procured. He was able to be about the house and on Thursday ate dinner with his daughter Etta and the nurse.

After dinner Mr. Manning went into a bed room, ostensibly to lie down. Soon after a shot was heard and on running to the room Miss Manning found that her father had shot himself. There is no question among his friends but that his mind was temporarily affected by his suffering, and that he was not responsible for his act.

Mr. Mannig had been a prosperous and highly respected farmer of the county all his life. He lived for a number of years in Perry township, moving from there to his present home in Shenango township on the New Castle-Ellwood road. His wife preceded him in death many years ago. He was a member of the Center United Presbyterian church and had always taken an active interest in church work and in the affairs of the community.

He is survived by five children. They are Miss Etta Manning at home; Mrs. Vancourt Carr, Wall street, this city; Mrs. Lester Waite, Garfield avenue, this city; William Manning of Ellwood City and Vance Manning of Los Angeles, Cal.

Senior Reserves Have Interesting Group Meeting

The Senior High School Girl Reserves had their first meeting of the Interest groups on Wednesday after school. The members of the club select the group they would like to be in. The purpose of these interest group meetings is that all girls may have an opportunity to take part in the meeting.

These groups and the leaders are as follows. Nature and Astronomy group in charge of Miss Ethel Kelly. Poetry group in charge of Miss Edith Birchard. Miss Louise Crandall in charge of the Music group. Mrs. William Gordon in charge of Dramatics. Dancing group in charge of Miss Maude Wetmore. Handicraft group in charge of Miss Lucile Hamilton.

Verdict Rendered For The Defendant

In the case of Robert Taylor against Isaac Yoder, which was tried before Judge Hildebrand in the Lawrence county court yesterday, the jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendant. Taylor was sueing for damages to an automobile when he collided with Yoder's wagon on the New Castle-New Wilmington road. The jury was composed of seven women and five men.

Sage Tea Dandy To Darken Hair

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. It costs only 75 cents. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well-known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.

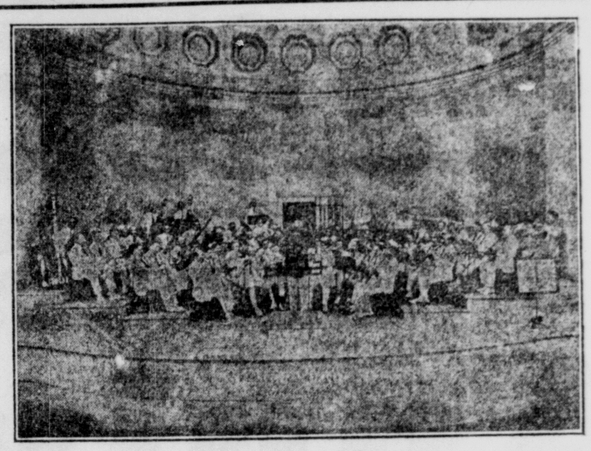
LADIES BEWARE

LENA MAITLAND as Mrs Peachum in "The Beggar's Opera"

"If you heard the abridged radio edition of this "riot of fun" on the chain from New York on Wednesday night, you will not miss seeing this great production which is being presented in New Castle on November 1st, exactly the same as it will be given in New York, Chicago, and other large American cities after a four year's solid run in London."

"Rosamond Johnson and Taylor Gordon

The great gifts of God are not restricted to any particular race. These two highly educated, extraordinarily talented American colored gentlemen are appearing everywhere on the biggest artist series in the country. Why? Because their concert is the proclamation of a great faith; a proclamation that strikes deep into the listener's soul and holds him spellbound; so much so, that after one of their recent concerts in New York City, not a person stirred from his seat, and, according to the New York World, not a dozen moved after five encores.



"THE GOLDMAN BAND

To hear this one wonderful organization in person, is worth the price of a season ticket. Millions of radio fans envy such an opportunity but only Cleveland, Toledo, Chicago, and NEW CASTLE will enjoy this distinct privilege on its brief leave of absence from New York City in December. Scores of New Castle people who have heard it in New York or Atlantic City, will corroborate our statement that there is none better anywhere."

ANNOUNCING

The Fourth Annual Concert Series of the

THE GREATEST SEASON YET

Six Celebrated Attractions in the Scottish Rite Auditorium

1. The Beggar's Opera direct from London. Tuesday, November 1st.
2. The Famous Goldman Band, Monday, December 5th.
3. Gordon and Johnston, Thursday, January 5, 1928.
4. Mary Lewis, Tuesday, February 14, 1928.
5. Richard Crooks, Thursday, March 8, 1928.
6. In April. A Popular Night similar to that which closed our last season with tremendous success.

The guarantors of the Educational Art Society, make it possible for you to hear these SIX WONDERFUL ATTRACTIONS at a scale of prices intended to cover the cost of operation only, WITH NO PROFIT NOR SALARY FOR ANYONE.

Thousands of boys and girls of the city and county are receiving the benefits of the Society's educational program. THIS WORK COSTS YOU NOTHING. IT IS ENTIRELY COVERED BY A TEN PER CENT EXPENDITURE, WHICH YOU WOULD OTHERWISE HAVE TO PAY OUT IN TAX IF THE ENTERPRISE WERE RUN FOR PROFIT. IF ITS SERIES WERE RUN BY COMMERCIAL PROMOTERS, YOU WOULD BE PAYING, IN ADDITION TO THE TEN PER CENT TAX, FIFTY TO SEVENTY FIVE PER CENT MORE THAN PRESENT PRICES FOR SEASON TICKETS...TO INSURE A PROFITABLE RETURN TO THE PROMOTERS. CAN YOU AFFORD NOT TO HOLD A SEASON TICKET FOR SUCH A WORTHY ENTERPRISE AS THIS.

"MARY LEWIS, Soprano.

Some folk say it is worth a ten dollar season ticket to see the entrancing grace and beauty of this Metropolitan Opera Star who has commanded columns in our leading newspapers and magazines during recent months. If that be so, February 14th, when she comes, will be bargain day, for it is worth more to hear her sing."

"RICHARD CROOKS, Tenor

The only thing that need be said about this marvelous young man is the fact that he is coming on March 8th next. New Castle people, who heard him before and have followed his rapid rise to the heights of fame, will enthuse much more about him than this space permits."

BEGINNING TONIGHT 7:00 to 9:00 P. M. Season tickets will be available at the Snyder Piano Co., North Mercer street. Telephone 481-R. during the above hours TONIGHT and TOMORROW NIGHT. Miss Dinsmore, chairman of the Ticket Committee, will be present to supervise the sale. During business hours daily, Mrs. Elizabeth Fleming will gladly take care of your season ticket requests. Save money. Save time. Save confusion. Save a choice seat for yourself. A Season Ticket only costs $4.00, $5.00, $6.50, $8.00 or $10.00. No tax.

DON'T DELAY. DON'T WAIT TO BE SOLICITED. GET YOUR TICKET NOW!

Search For Gun In Lilliendahl Murder Mystery

Officials Start Search Of Graveyard For Weapon Used In Brutal Crime

(International News Service)

MAYS LANDING, N. J., Oct. 14.—After their hope of linking revolvers found in the home of Willis Beach with the shooting of Dr. William A. Lilliendahl, were blasted by the report of Albert Foster, Jr., firearms expert, Atlantic county detectives today turned to the task of removing seven large tombstones from the Beach lot in Oak Grove cemetery, in a further search for a weapon.

Leading them to the graveyard was the rumor that a week after the murder, the man now facing trial with Mrs. Lilliendahl for the murder of the doctor, visited the family lot while laborers were pouring cement for new tombstone bases. If no pistol is found embedded in the concrete, the state's "hunch" will mean payment of $1,000 to the Beach family.

Simultaneously, John J. Gregory, Jr., private detective in the employ of Mrs. Lilliendahl, announced that he had picked up the trail of a man who had seen two negroes emerging from the lonely lane leading from the murder scene. This supports the widow's version of the shooting.

In the report of the firearms expert, the prosecution's case was appreciably weakened. Foster, after examining two revolvers confiscated in Beach's home soon after the murder, said that not only did they fail to groove their bullets like those taken from the doctor's body, but were rusty and had not been fired apparently for many months.

Large Crowd Hears Dr. Corson Lecture

Senator Fess Also Makes Visit To Institute And Brief Address

A full house heard Dr. O. T. Corson, Ex-State Superintendent of Ohio Schools give his popular lecture last night at the Shenango Township Consolidated School where the annual Institute of Lawrence County Teachers is being held.

Dr. Corson spoke on "Why the School" and teachers and others report one of the best addresses of the many he has given during the lecture.

Yesterday afternoon the Institute was favored by the presence and short addresses of United States Senator from Ohio, Hon. Simeon Fess and Rev. Charles C. Ellis, Ph. D., D. D., of Juniata College. They both received a fine ovation from the teachers.

Dr. Henry Klonower, Director of the Teacher Bureau of the State Department of Instruction spoke to the teachers yesterday morning and afternoon. E. G. Chreiman of Pittsburgh, spoke on the Near East Relief. Dr. Corson and Dr. Brumbaugh the chief speakers at the Institute, also gave their usual fine address morning and afternoon.

The Mt. Jackson High School Orchestra furnished the music for the Institute yesterday afternoon while the Union High School Orchestra played last night. Both organizations were well received.

The Institute closed this morning with their annual business meeting in which delegates were elected to the state convention. The present Institute is the best and best attended that has even been held in the county for years says John C. Syling, County Superintendent of Schools. The fine speakers that they have been able to secure has attracted many besides the teachers.

So Easy to Lose Fat

A great number of slender women are telling this story to others. They have done so for two decades. Now you see the results in every circle. Note how slenderness prevails. Excess fat is nowhere near as common as it was.

The story is this: "I took Marmola prescription tablets—four a day. No abnormal exercise or diet was required. New beauty came, new health and vitality. I ceased them when my weight came down to normal. Now I take Marmola only when I start to gain again."

Marmola contains a scientific discovery, based on wide research and thousands of experiments. Men thus found a substance which in the body turns food into fuel and energy, rather than into fat.

Marmola supplies that substance, plus other helps. The complete prescription is in every box, also the reasons for results. Thus you may know just why the good comes, and have no fear of harm.

Marmola has for 20 years brought priceless benefits to people over-fat. Those people have told the results to others, and the use has spread. Millions of boxes have been used to contribute to the slender figures of today.

Go try it for a little time and watch how the fat disappears. Then tell others about it, in kindness to your friends. It means a great deal to many. Go order before you forget it.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out, he will get them at once from his jobber.

STORM AT SEA PUTS HALT TO FLIGHT PLANS

Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson Will Not Attempt Flight Till Storm Abates

(International News Service)

OLD ORCHARD BEACH, Maine, Oct. 14.—"We have got to wait until the weather man over the sea smiles for us" said Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson today, indicating that possibly her flight to Copenhagen, Denmark, might have to be postponed again this evening as it was this morning.

"Fog banks show off Halifax and a storm is raging at sea," she continued. "A storm makes for rough water, and if we were forced to land our 'down' would not fare well. Also I get terribly seasick traveling on the water.

"Our plans are all mapped out and we simply cannot be hurried. We are going to be successful. I am determined to be the first American woman—the first woman in the world—to span the Atlantic by air."

Magnesia Best for Your Indigestion

Most people who suffer, either occasionally or chronically from gas, sourness and indigestion, have now discontinued disagreeable diets, patent foods and the use of harmful drugs, stomach tonics, medicines and artificial digestants, and instead, following the advice so often given in these columns, take a teaspoonful or four tablets of Bisurated Magnesia in a little water after meals with the result that their stomach no longer troubles them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health. Those who use Bisurated Magnesia never dread the approach of meal time because they know this wonderful anti-acid and food corrective, which can be obtained from any good drug store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, sweeten the stomach, prevent food fermentation, and make digestion easy. Try this plan yourself, but be certain to get Bisurated Magnesia especially prepared for stomach use.

Cleveland Police Search For Thugs In Double Murder

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, Oct. 14.—Police today were seeking the solution to another double slaying following the murder of Joseph and John Lonardo, brothers, in a barber shop here last night.

The victims were sugar dealers and reputed to have been wealthy. Detectives say the two supplied bootleggers with sugar for liquor production and that they had considerable authority in "underworld" circles.

Police say the Lonardo brothers had many enemies among local bootleggers and Joe is said to have kept a bodyguard on most occasions.

Make Reports Of Auto Accidents

Lewis Parott, R. D. No. 7, reported this morning, that while driving north on South Jefferson street at the intersection of South street, a car bearing license B 99-438 and belonging to Woods and Golder Construction company and going east on South street collided with his machine. His machine, he stated was knocked off the street and damaged.

F. J. Sanker of 31 South Beaver street, reported Thursday that he was driving and making a left turn from South Mill street onto South Croton avenue, when a car bearing Ohio license A 83-495 made a right hand turn from Croton avenue onto Mill street without lights on and the machines came together head-on. Both were damaged.

A. W. Britzius of 803 Highland avenue, reported that he had his car parked near 320 South Mill street, when another car, the license number of which he did not secure, struck the front of his machine, doing some damage.

Pershing Accepts Bid To Cleveland For Armistice Day

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, Oct. 14.—General John J. Pershing has accepted an invitation to address the American Legion Armistice Day observance here, according to announcement from Legion headquarters.

Walter C. Hart, chairman of the county's council luncheon committee, talked with the General in Paris during the recent Legion convention, and cabled that Pershing had accepted.

Newton D. Baker, former Secretary of War, extended the invitation several weeks ago.

Denver Pastor Opens Gymnasium As Aid To Spiritual Perfection

(International News Service)

DENVER, Colo., Oct. 14.—There recently was opened in the Robert W. Steele gymnasium in Denver, by the Rev. W. S. Rudolph, pastor of the Union Congregational church of this city, a series of gymnasium classes. The classes were started on the theory of the Rev. Mr. Rudolph that "healthy" bodies bring healthy thoughts, and healthy thought lead to spiritual perfection."

An interesting theory of the Denver pastor is that religion should embody instructions in physical perfection as well as spiritual perfection to do the greatest good to society.

The gymnasium plan has been worked out with the co-operation of the Denver Community Chest. No charge is made for those attending the gymnasium classes, but members of the classes are pledged to attend short religious services when specified.

The pastor has arranged to show moving pictures before the regular Sunday evening church services.

New Castle Woman In Butler Hospital

BUTLER, Pa., Oct. 14.—Jane Hinebaugh, aged 25, Walnut street, New Castle, is in the Butler County Memorial hospital suffering from an injured knee, caused when the car in which she was riding skidded off the road near Scottdale about 6 o'clock last night.

According to reports she was returning in company with other persons to New Castle and the slippery condition of the road caused the accident resulting in her injury.

She attempted to return to New Castle in the automobile in company with friends, but when the car reached Butler she was weak and ill, and it was thought that it would be advisable to take her to the hospital.

She will be released from the hospital this afternoon.

Defective Vision

Government investigations have found that approximately 25% to 30% of the children in the public schools have defective vision, and the alarming fact is that this percentage increases with grade progress through the schools. The Government has published quite a large pamphlet, "The Eyesight of School Children," treating on this condition. It cites as one of the principle causes the poor lighting by which children read, write, study and do their lessons at home. Even adults' eyes are affected in the same way, although there are no places like schools in which to gather statistics.

Stewart Says Women Favor Herbert Hoover For G.O.P. Nomination

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—President Coolidge? Oh, he'd be renominated if he only half chose to be, and he may be drafted anyway.

Hughes? Big business likes him.

Dawes?—or Lowden? Either one of 'em ought to suit the farmers.

Longworth? He's mighty popular among the politicians.

Hoover? Why, the women are in favor of Hoover.

This isn't to say that the masculine fraction of the electorate in UNfavorable to Hoover.

On the contrary, he's an all-'round strong candidate.

Undoubtedly also there are women whose first selection would be Charles Evans Hughes, or Charles G. Dawes, or Frank O. Lowden, or Nicholas Longworth, not to mention Calvin Coolidge.

Yet you'll notice, every time the roll of Republican presidential possibilities is called, that you'll overhear, from one corner or another, the remark—

The WOMEN are in favor of HOOVER.

Curious to know whether this is a fact, and supposing it to be so, what the reason is, I took nearly a whole day off, and went around asking all the women I could find in Washington who profess any considerable interest in politics whether it's true that Secretary of Commerce Hoover really is the American woman's favorite pick as next year's Republican presidential nominee, and IF he is, WHY he is?

The answer to the first question was almost uniform—

"Why, you know—I never thought of it before—but now you mention it—yes, sir, I do believe it IS true."

* * *

Replies to the request for an explanation of the phenomenon were more varied.

They boil down substantially to this:

Secretary Hoover's personality stands out preeminently as a humanly helpful one—as in Belgium and the Mississippi valley—a characteristic upon which women seem to think that other women set a higher value than is generally set on it by their husbands, their fathers and their brethren.

He's been prominently identified with the American Child Help and the Better Homes movements.

He's associated in women's minds with the idea of uplifting domesticity—not merely by setting a good example, like lots of public men, but by DOING something for it.

Mrs. Hoover is given a great deal of credit for popularizing her husband with the women of the country.

She's a member of many women's organizations. She's lent an efficient hand in the promotion of their activities. She's a Girl Scout vice president. She's done good work in getting out the women's vote. She believes in them in public life.

In short, she has a very large following.

Large numbers of women, when they hear Secretary Hoover spoken of as a Republican presidential possibility, think of Mrs. Hoover and are promptly in favor of her husband.

Rather peculiarly, most of the women I consulted spoke of Secretary Hoover as "liberal".

Men and women must define liberality and conservatism differently.

KIDDIES' COLDS should not be "dosed." Treat them externally with—

New Gas Mains In College Town

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 14.—During the last week there has been much improvement going on here in the arrangement of the gas and light facilities for the town. The light company has been working on new wires in the center of the town and the gas company now has a gang of 30 men laying new main lines through different parts of the borough.

ADVERTISING

Somebody has said that intelligent discount is developed by advertising. It is well said. Go into the well furnished home of thousands of workingmen in this country and realize that a large part of the improvement in their condition is due to the fact that they have heeded advertising. Better wages do not of themselves make better homes. Better wages do not by themselves lift the family to a higher level and hold it there. Advertising does that. Money fills wants, but advertising creates the wants.

CHOOSING

Some time ago Meiklejohn, who is making a reputation as a teacher in the University of Wisconsin, made a speech in Carnegie hall, New York. "America," he said, "is overwhelmed with our riches. Why, then, is life not good? Simply because we do not know the difference between good and bad, fine and vulgar, high and low."

That's a serious indictment of all of us and pretty much true. How fortunate we should be if we only had the brains and the spirit and the power to measure in advance the things that will yield results of peace and happiness! Without thinking things through we choose the sensation of the moment, the immediate pleasure. We grasp the thing we think we want, though we really haven't thought at all. We seem to lack the power to weigh and measure. We lack the power to proceed deliberately.

ELIMINATING THE UNFIT

A thoughtful New York state judge advocates permanently locking up the mentally unfit so that they can not marry and have children. We have, of course, institutions, but they house but a small part of those they ought to house. The judge wisely says that a weak strain in live stock—whether it is a horse, cow or pig—is eliminated by proper selection. The community permits the unfit to mate with the fit and huge families of defectives are the result.

That's the kind of problem that the leaders of this republic, in state and nation, back away from. But it is the most important problem of the race. Some day, in some way, it will have to be met or there isn't much hope for civilization in the long run.

AS TO DYING

Perhaps you have more to say than you realize about the day of your death. Dr. William Mayo, of Rochester, who knows as much about the human body as anybody, says we can delay our death by five years if, at the age of 40, we will have a good physical examination and abide by the rules that are laid down. Few will do that because it is inconvenient. Most people can stand hardship when the test comes. Few will do the inconvenient thing if it can be avoided. Or aren't five extra years of life worth the price?

Two instances have been reported of Siamese twins being born recently. A pair were born in London several weeks ago, but both died within a few days. About the same time a Chinese woman in Hong Kong gave birth to Siamese twins, both of whom are still living.

BOY'S BODY WAS COVERED WITH SEVERE ITCHING RASH

Skin now without a blemish

Ketchum, Me., July 13:—"About seven years ago my nephew developed a severe case of skin trouble which looked like eczema. His face, hands and whole body were covered with the trouble and his skin became raw from scratching. Many soaps and ointments were tried without success before Resinol Soap and Ointment were prescribed and used. The first few applications stopped the itching and soon he was entirely healed. He now has the loveliest skin I ever saw and, thanks to Resinol Soap and Ointment, no unsightly blotches mar the beauty of his complexion."—(Signed) Vivian M. Eagle, Vernon Street.

Chang Tsolin Orders End To Destruction Of Old Peking Wall

By JOHN GOETTE.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PEKING, Oct. 14.—Stop the destruction of Peking's historical beautiful spots reads an edict issued by the local authorities on the instructions of Generalissimo Chang Tso-lin. The first result of the new order is expected to be the stoppage of work on the demolition of the 20 feet high red tinted walls around the Imperial city.

For many months various petty officials have been making pin money by tearing down this two hundred year old wall and selling the large bricks and yellow colored tiles which summounted it. This destruction was carried on without any cordinated idea of city planning and there is nothing left but the scar of the old wall.

Previous to the issuance of the present order Chang Tso-lin forced the officials to reconstruct a portion of the old wall around a former Imperial temple and now it is hoped that his drastic order will not only stop the demolition but will bring about the rebuilding of the more important sections.

The new edict describes these Imperial City walls as a delight to the eye and one of the allurements of the capital which should be preserved as part of the national treasure.

Five-Day Working Week Is Goal Of Labor Federation

Labor Federation Re-Elects William Green As President Of Organization

Prepare To End Annual Convention In Los Angeles; Other Officers Named

By ARTHUR L. MAREK,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 14.—A five-day-week of forty working hours so that wage earners might have more opportunities for recreation and the pursuit of happiness was the goal of organized workers today as the forty-seventh annual American Federation of Labor convention entered its final session.

The big labor conclave, which has been in session here during the last eleven days, drew to a close this morning as delegates awaited reports from committees on the shorter work day and on international labor relations.

In setting its new goal for a five day week, the executive council of the Federation reported to the convention that during the last 125 years both the work day and the work week have been steadily reduced.

"This is progress of which labor may well be proud," the council pointed out. "It has brought benefits to millions and harm to none, shortening the work day has turned toil into work, has afforded the nation's citizens greater opportunity to participate in national problems, and has made possible better home life."

Green Re-elected

A survey made by the Bureau of Labor statistics in 1926 was cited to show that 40,596 trade union members in 66 cities were enjoying the five-day, 40-hour week. In the clothing industry 10,087 persons had a five-day week brought the total to 64,011 wage earners, with 15,289 of these working more than 40 hours.

With William Green retained as America's labor chieftain and the entire executive council to the federation re-elected for the ensuing year, delegates yesterday selected New Orleans as their place of meeting in 1928.

Besides President Green, officers re-elected included James Duncan of Quincy, Mass.; Frank Duffy of Indianapolis, T. A. Ricket of Chicago, Jacob Fisher of Indianapolis, Matthew Woll of Chicago, Martin F. Ryan of Kansas City, Mo.; James Wilson of Cincinnati and James P. Noonan of Washington, D. C., all of whom were retained as vice presidents of the federation.

Daniel J. Tobin of Indianapolis was renamed treasurer and Frank Morrison of Washington, D. C., was re-elected secretary.

Relics Of Napoleon On Island Of Elba Being Carted Off By Visitors

(International News Service)

ISLAND OF ELBA, Oct. 14.—Unless quick steps are taken, the Napoleonic relics on this little island where the Emporer spent his days of exile, will soon be lost.

The elegant country house which Napoleon built on the vine-clad Elban hills was bought from the heirs of the Bonaparte family by a Russian Prince, Anatole Demidoff, who also erected a fine building nearby to serve as a museum for the relics. It contained sculptures by Canova, Pampaloni and Chauvet together with some celebrated paintings by Gros and Vernet.

For many years the museum was visited by many tourists, especially English ones, then the prince died and his heirs sold by auction all but a few of the precious relics. Those that remain need a more permanent resting place and quick measures should be taken to preserve this historical villa where Napoleon lived in summer.

Evangelists At Nazarene Church

Revival services open this evening at 7:30 at the Church of the Nazarene, West Falls and Beaver streets. Preparation for the meetings have been made for some time and much interest has been anticipated in the success of the revival.

Rev. J. E. and Ada Redmon of Indianapolis, Ind., are the special engaged evangelists. They are both ministers and will alterate in their preaching from time to time. Mr. and Mrs. Redmon also sing and will give special duet numbers at each service.

The meetings will be held each evening at 7:30 except Saturday evenings. Services on Sunday at 10:45 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

This series of meetings will continue over Sunday, October 30.

SENIOR HI-Y HAS MEETING

Football Squads Of New Castle High Are Guests Of Club

The first meeting of the year of the Senior Hi Y was held recently at the Y. M. C. A. with John C. Leonard, boys secretary in charge of the meeting.

Football squads of the Senior high school were special guests at this occasion, and after pep singing and a dinner, the crowd heard Richards and Reider of the football team, Elmer Patterson and Prof. Strothers of the Senior High School faculty.

The main address of the evening was given by Tom McConnell, a returned missionary from China.

John C. Leonard reports that a good year is expected by the organization with the club under the direction of President Bob Sherer, Vice President, John Boston, Secretary Donald McGoun and Treasurer Frank Richards.

The next meeting of the Senior High Y will be held Monday evening, October 17, at 6:00.

Any boys who wish to connect with the organization for the coming year can get in touch with any member at the Senior High school, states Secretary Leonard.

Weather Causes Postponement Of York Pageant

(International News Service)

YORK, Pa., Oct. 14.—The British redcoats made continental congress postpone a session or two in Philadelphia just 150 years ago, and today inclement weather had turned the same trick for local citizens who portrayed the Colonials' part in the York sesqui-centennial celebration here.

The pageant, "White Rose of York," which was to have been given for the first time last night to mark the days when York was the national capital, was postponed. The first performance will be held tonight, and an extra performance will be held Monday.

FIFTY MINERS TRAPPED, BUT ESCAPE ALIVE

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 14.—Fifty miners at the Pecks mine of the Glendale Coal company at Jesseup, near here, today were none the worse for their experience of being imprisoned in the workings for several hours yesterday afternoon.

The men were trapped two hundred feet beneath the surface when the Shieve wheel in the tower of the breaker collapsed, dropping the cage down the shaft, where it jammed, closing the main entry.

All except fifty of the miners made their way out immediately through small openings. Later the imprisoned men discovered an opening thought at first to have been flooded, and made their way to the surface.

French Painter Wins Award At Carnegie Tech

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14.—First prize in the 26th international art exhibition at the Carnegie institute hung over "Still Life," the work of Henri Matisse of France, today. First prize carried a cash award of $1,500.

"Motherhood" by Anto Carte, of Belgium, won second prize of $1,000 and third prize, $500 went to Andrew Dasburg of Santa Fe, N. M. for his canvas "Poppies."

Four hundred canvases entered by 16 nations are on display, on December 5 the painting will be taken to Brooklyn, N. Y. for display and later to San Francisco.

Will Teach Boys How To Swim

Any member of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. who cannot swim is invited to come to the Y every Friday evening at 4:30 to join a special class for those who have not yet learned to swim. There will be no charge for this class.

Special awards will be made to each of the boys when they learn to swim well enough to go the length of the pool.

Another English Woman Conquers Channel Waters

Miss Ivy Gill, 24-Year-Old London Stenographer, Accomplishes Swim

(International News Service)

LONDON, Oct. 14.—For the third time within a month an Englishwoman has swum the English Channel.

The latest woman to achieve success over the trail blazed by Gertrude Ederle last year is Mrs. Ivy Gill, a 24-year-old stenographer of Sheffield, England. She emerged from the Channel on the English side soon after midnight this morning, having made the swim in 15 hours and ten minutes.

The other Englishwomen who have made the swim in the last few weeks are Miss Mercedes Gleitze and Dr. Dorothy Logan, also known as Mona McLennan.

Pittsburgh Girl Has Trying Time

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14.—Abducted, fought over and rescued, all within 20 minutes, was the experience today of Miss Josephine Swick, 17.

Miss Swick was overpowered, bundled into an automobile and her screams stifled, by three men. Two policemen, however, gave chase, fought for possession of the girl, and finally rescued her.

Two of the men were arrested, but the third made his escape. The men arrested gave their names as Brown Sharp, 24, and Joseph Vosuck, 19.

Allentown Woman Named President By Federation

State Federation Of Pennsylvania Women Elect Annual Officers

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14.—Delegates to the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women, in session here at their annual convention today, listened to two addresses and visited the Carnegie art gallery and Carnegie museum.

Homer St. Gaudens, director of the artists of the international art exhibition of 1927", addressed the Federation Women this morning. This afternoon Andrey Avinoff, curator of the Carnegie museum, spoke on "The Special Features Which Make Carnegie Museum Among Museums."

State officers elected yesterday were announced at last night's meeting. They are:

Mrs. John A. Frick of Allentown, president.

Mrs. Ralph W. Johnson, Pittsburgh, vice president-at-large.

Mrs. J. E. Sickler, Scranton, vice president, northeastern district.

Mrs. Richard J. Hamilton, Ardmore, vice president, southeastern district.

Mrs. Margaret Krall, Shippenberg, vice president, central district.

Mrs. Linius L. Strock, Punxsutawney, vice president, northeastern district.

Mrs. John E. McKirdy, Pittsburgh, vice president, southwestern district.

Mrs. Charles W. Hunt, Williamsport, recording secretary.

Mrs. Rollo S. Knapp, Easton, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Harry B. Bradley, Franklin, treasurer.

Directors, Mrs. Louise Poillet, Towanda; Mrs. Walter A. Miller, Lancaster; Mrs. F. W. Haller, State College; Mrs. William P. Rose, Cambridge Springs, and Mrs. John A. Elliot, Beaver Falls.

State College Man To Made Address At Offutt Farm

Professor Huffington of the Pennsylvania State College will address the vegetable gardeners of Lawrence county at a meeting held at the L. B. Offutt farm, near Plaingrove, Saturday morning at nine o'clock.

With Mr. Huffington will be Eleanor Drury of the department of home economics, who will tell the wives of the members about the preparation of vegetables.

Davis Sees Unrest In Wake Of Replacing Men With Machinery

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Secretary of Labor Davis has warned the country that discontent and unrest among the laboring classes may arise as the result of the rapid displacement of working men by machinery.

Although the number of consumers in the United States has been increased by 10,000,000 in the last decade, he said, the factories supplying the needs of the nation are getting along with seven per cent fewer workers. Industry has been able to reduce the number of its workers because of the introduction of labor-saving machinery, and as more of these devices are added the tendency to throw more men and women out of jobs will be proportionally increased.

"Is automatic machinery, driven by limitless power, going to leave on our hands a state of chronic and increasing unemployment?" Davis asked. "Is the machine that turns out wealth also to create poverty? Is it giving us a permanent jobless class?"

The country, he continued, cannot afford to sit by and watch such a class grow. The industrial leaders must "invent new ways of utilizing the man displaced by our machines. With the invention of every labor-saving machine should come the invention of using the man whose labor is saved. There is no other way; otherwise our new machinery does not 'save' labor, but wastes it."

Immigration laws have thus proved an effective check on the evils which might issue from this situation, the secretary said.

Secretary Davis wanted it made clear that he was not counselling any cessation of industrial or mechanical progress.

Found Guilty Of Manslaughter

GALLIPOLIS, O., Oct. 14.—Roy Ellis, 32, Lawrence county, was found guilty by a jury at Ironton, O., of manslaughter for the killing of Theodore Roberts, 60, farmer on July 10. William Hawthorne and Eliza Snyder who were tried with Ellis on indictments charging second degree murder were convicted of assault and battery.

Modern Souls Are Starving For Woods Forestry Head Says

(International News Service)

MEMPHIS, Oct. 14.—The modern soul is starving to be a Leatherstocking in the school of the woods, Dr. William G. Vinal of the State College of Forestry, Syracuse, N. Y., told the national congress of the Playground and Recreation Association here this morning in an address on nature play.

"The chances in the city of liberating the instincts of tree climbing, cave hiding, stone throwing and brook wading—the great muscle and brain developers of the country youth—are reduced to a minimum," he said. "Some one is needed to give the city boy or girl substitute nature opportunities.

"Nature play is science in the making, for nature offers a thousand contacts to the alert mind. Michael Pupin, famous scientist at Columbia University, heard sound waves carried through the ground when he was a shepherd boy in the Serbian hills. If Edison had been born in the city instead of the country he might have been a merchant instead of an inventor.

"Is this an age of tin canned education?" Dr. Vinal asked. "Have our schools lost all the flavor and freshness of the wild? Perhaps our educational processes have become so refined that the very vitamines of thought have been thrown away with the chaff.

Climbing apple trees, chasing butterflies, fighting hornets, pushing across a pond on a raft, and hunting frogs are the serious business of childhood. Every child takes to hunting, fighting and inventing as a duck takes to water or a rabbit to the underbrush."

Orange Lodges To Have Tag Day Here

Tags Will Be Sold Saturday For Benefit Of Orange Home; Girls To Sell Them

On Saturday the members of the three Orange Lodges in this city will have a tag day in this city, the funds being raised for the benefit of the Orange home.

The lodges interested are the Martha Washington Lodge, No. 24, Pride of New Castle 129, and Bethany 200.

Mrs. Morey Frost is chairman of the tag day plans, and will be assisted by committees from each of the lodges.

Flowers will be sold on the streets by young ladies and girls, and it is hoped that a large sum will be realized.

In connection with the tag day affair it is announced that ladies of Bethany Lodge No. 200 will meet at the hall in the Clendenin building at 8 o'clock, Saturday morning, to take part in the day's program.

FRANKLIN, Pa., Oct. 14.—Many local dogs will take part in the broken-straw grouse dog trials to be held at Tionesta on October 17. Harry M. Wilson of this city is vice president of the association.

FARRELL, Pa., Oct. 14.—Farrell has a curfew law with a vengeance. Parents of all juveniles arrested in violation of the curfew law will be fined, according to Chief of Police Slezak, in a public warning.

CLARION, Pa., Oct. 14.—Clarion county's 297 teachers are preparing to attend the 60th annual county teachers' institute scheduled to be held next week. Prominent instructors will speak.

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Oct. 14.—The new First National Bank & Trust Co. will open its doors here November 1. The institution is the successor of the defunct Citizens National Bank that closed August 16.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Oct. 14.—Mrs. James Rossi of Dickerson Run will receive $7,500 for the death of her husband as the result of an accident a year ago in the Dickerson yards of the P. & L. E., according to a compromise reached before the case was called for trial.

SHARON, Pa., Oct. 14.—Milk is costing the Sharon housewife an extra cent a quart now. Milk dealers announced there was a scarcity of milk in this district, making the increase necessary.

WOODLAWN, Pa., Oct. 14.—William Casper, 23, committed suicide at his home by hanging himself from a rafter, according to police reports. No reason was announced as the motive of the suicide.

FRANKLIN, Pa., Oct. 14.—Removal of the Pennzoil Company offices from Rouseville to Oil City is blamed for the change in rating of the post office from second to fourth class.

GREENSBURG, Pa., Oct. 14.—The joint meeting of the Westmoreland County Medical Society and the Rontgen Ray Society of central Pennsylvania will be held October 28 at the Greensburg Country Club.

It is estimated that more than seven million sheep have died as a result of the protracted drought in Queensland. Many farmers are faced with ruin.

ASPIRIN

To break a cold harmlessly and in a hurry try a Bayer Aspirin tablet. And for headache. The action of Aspirin is very efficient, too, in cases of neuralgia, neuritis, even rheumatism and lumbago! And there's no after effect; doctors give Aspirin to children—often infants. Whenever there's pain, think of Aspirin. The genuine Bayer Aspirin has Bayer on the box and on every tablet. All druggists, with proven directions.

Physicians prescribe Bayer Aspirin; it does NOT affect the heart

WERE THEY "GOOD OLD DAYS"?

ONLY a few years ago when you lifted your receiver to make an out-of-town call, the procedure was something like this:

"Number, please?" said the operator.

"Let me have Long Distance."

The Long Distance operator came on the line.

"This is Long Distance."

"I want to get Doeville 1234, etc., etc."

"Thank you, the operator will call you."

A little—perhaps quite a little—later your bell rang.

"Ready with Doeville."

And your conversation started.

TODAY—

"Number, please?"

"Let me have Doeville 1234."

And—practically as quickly as on a local call—you are connected.

That's the kind of service we are giving on out-of-town calls to the places most frequently called.

And the area covered by this new-era service is constantly being expanded.

Wet-Dry Fight To Be Slow In This Congress

Forensic Sharpshooting With Little Legislation Is Present Outlook

Pressure To Make Issue Prominent In 1928 May Bring Many Bills

By KENNETH CLARK
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The perennial congressional wet and dry fight likely will be confined to forensic sharpshooting on floors of both houses and in the committee rooms this year. Little new legislation is looked for.

Drys are well satisfied with the present laws on the statute books and have no extensive legislative program to offer. Their only efforts are expected to be attempts to tighten existing law to curb liquor smuggling and halt diversion of industrial alcohol. They believe that the Lowman-Doran prohibition organization should be given a chance before any tinkering is done.

The wets pressing hard to create an issue out of prohibition for the 1928 elections, will again offer a multitude of bills ranging from repeal of 18th amendment to amendment of the Volstead act to permit manufacture of beer and wines "not intoxicating in fact."

Try To Soft Pedal

The heads of the Republican and Democratic parties want to soft pedal prohibition in the 1928 presidential campaigns. The Republicans probably will be able to do it as they did in 1924, but the Democrats may find a tartar, especially in the nominating convention where Governor Al Smith of New York, the symbol of wetness in the party, will be the leading candidate.

"I believe the friends of prohibition are on the whole well satisfied with Dr. Doran's administration as prohibition commissioner," say Rep. Hudson (R) of Michigan, a House dry leader. I believe Congress will back him up.

"There may be some slight amendments sought to existing enforcement measures but I doubt if there will be any demand for important legislation which can be classed as wholly dry legislation.

"My district would vote for prohibition stronger than ever. The labor vote is dryer than ever before. My district includes Flint, Pontiac, Lansing and Highland Park, all industrial cities which are well satisfied with prohibition."

Dry Leaders' Views

Senator Sheppard (D) of Texas, the Senate dry leader, said:

"I am satisfied with the present laws. I feel that the law is being enforced as effectively as any other law. Congress is predominatingly dry and there will be no chance whatever for wets to make a successful attack on any part of the prohibition law."

The wets in the House will have a new leader. He is Rep. Linthicum (D) of Maryland, who replaces Rep. Hill (R) of Maryland, who was defeated in a race for the Senate.

The Anti-Saloon League will meet here on December 12, shortly after congress convenes, to draft a legislative program, and to pick a permanent successor to the late Wayne B. Wheeler.

Dr. F. Scott McBride, general superintendent, who is now doing Wheeler's work, said:

"In our legislative work we shall continue to protect and promote the interests of prohibition. In doing so we shall maintain the high standards of fairness, honesty, sincerity and courtesy established by Mr. Wheeler."

King Alphonso Has Collection Of Bombs Aimed At His Life

(International News Service)

MADRID, Oct. 14.—King Alphonso XIII, of Spain, has one of the most unusual collections in the world. It might be termed a "collection of attempts," for it contains all documents and articles used on different attempts upon the life of the monarch. Each piece is carefully labelled with indications of the date, place and a resume of the circumstances and events which took place.

The remains of bombs are the most numerous, but there are also daggers and deadly weapons of all kinds and shapes.

A half-filled bottle containing poison which was poured into the milk of the baby-king, figures among the collection.

The king likes very much to show a unique fire-arm made after the drawing which were found in Paris during one of his visits to the capital. The anarchists intended to profit by this little journey to make rid of Alphonso, but the plans were discovered by the police, as well as the details for a special gun. When the king heard of it, he immediately ordered one like the plans.

But the principal piece in the entire collection is the skeleton of the unfortunate horse killed by a bomb on the wedding day of Alphonso and Princess Ena. He was one of the four drawing the wedding coach.

Collegians Hear Sherwood Eddy

Internationally Known Y. M. C. A. Man Speaks At Westminster

OTHER NEWS OF COLLEGE EVENTS

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 14.—Playing fair with one's own conscience and living clean were two of the main issues that Sherwood Eddy, internationally known Y. M. C. A. lecturer wove into his appealing speech made before the Westminster college student body at the chapel hour Thursday.

Under the auspices of the college "Y" organization, Sherwood Eddy will spend two days among the students at the Blue and White institution, unfolding his novel talks on the means of living a truly happy life.

Last night Sherwood Eddy addressed a mass meeting held in the First United Presbyterian church.

Fraternity Affairs.

Men's fraternity groups have been holding special open house parties this week for the purpose of getting acquainted with the new students. The Phi Pi Phi held their open house last night in the chapter house on Waugh avenue with 50 students in attendance.

Refreshments and amusements were provided by an entertainment committee consisting of John Lytle of Latrobe, Robert Bucher of New Wilmington, William Heagen of Cannonsburg and John Stothard.

Pickett Seaks.

Lyman A. Pickett state student secretary of the Y. M. C. A. who makes his headquarters in New Castle was the speaker at the Y. M. C. A. meeting held here Wednesday night in the College Conservatory of Music.

Mr. Pickett took as his subject for his address to the men students, "The Aims and Purposes of the Y. M. C. A."

Ohio, West Virginia, Michigan and Washington are the only states that produce stone suitable for making grindstones.

Buckwheat Crop Best In Years

(International News Service)

CHILI, N. Y., Oct. 14.—Farmers throughout this region have completed the harvesting of one of the largest buckwheat crops raised here in many years.

Faced by heavy losses in bean crops during the past two years owing to continued wet weather farmers turned to buckwheat. Success in their endeavor will doubtless increase the acreage next year.

Its best feature as a cash crop they say consists in its adaptability to late harvesting much of the crop last year not being cut until the ground had frozen.

Wife Shooter Is Given Freedom

Aiming At Woodchuck, Bullet Glances And Kills Spouse

RIDGWAY, Pa., Oct. 14.—In the case of Felix Colle of Caledonia, charged with shooting his wife, Judge W. T. Dafr of Brookville, who has been holding court here this week, gave the jury binding instructions to render a verdict of not guilty.

This verdict was demanded by reason of the fact that a corpus delicti or foundation of the commission of crime was not established by the commonwealth. Felix Colle was charged with killing his wife near their home on July 7, 1927.

He was shooting at a woodchuck and claimed that the bullet glanced and hit her. Before the jury was secured for this case 103 prospects were examined, costing the county about $1,000.

Colorado Museum Gets Primitive Mining Tool

(International News Service)

DENVER Oct. 14.—The Colorado State Museum recently received a rare relic in the form of a perfect stone muller, the most primitive known mechanical means of recovering gold from quartz. It was discovered by Albert B. Sanford of the State Historical Society in Mosquieto Gulch, near Alma, Colo.

The muller was used for centuries by the inhabitants of early Mexico and Central America.

The muller weighs over 100 pounds, is composed of stone with an iron eye, and the bottom is as smooth as glass, denoting much use. In operating the device, it was placed in a Spanish arastra, which resembled a huge stone tub, connected with an upright post to a wooden sweep, at the end of which was hitched a horse or mule. Ore being dropped into the arastra was ground to fine bits when the horse rotated the muller. A stream of water running over the arastra washed the material free of dirt, and mercury in the bottom gathered the gold. Upon heating, the mercury released its load of gold.

Twenty-five years ago, when the automobile industry in Great Britain was in its infancy, the makers of motor cars had to test their machines with gasoline bought by the bottle in drug stores—the only place where it could be obtained.

Weighing 30 tons, a clock made by a British firm has been sent to Shanghai for the new Chinese maritime customs house.

Animal Experiments Valuable In Studying Surgery By Doctors

(International News Service)

ROCHESTER, Minn., Oct. 14.—Animal experimentation has been of inestimable value in developing certain special fields of surgery and in demonstrating the relationship between certain diseases and certain glands, thereby reflecting materially on the welfare of the human race by providing scientific knowledge that has saved the lives or health of numberless thousands. That was the gist of a public address made to a large group of medical men and interested laymen at the Mayo clinic lobby by Dr. F. C. Mann, Mayo clinic specialist, seemingly in answer to constant attacks of the practice by anti-vivesectionists.

"While madical progress as a whole has been rapid during the last half century," he declared, "it has been more rapid in some fields of the healing art than in others. In few fields has it been more rapid, however, than surgery. While surgery, like most of the other special fields of midicine, owes most of its development to a careful study of the disease as it occurs in the human being and the effect of surgical procedures designed to cure or alleviate the disease, not a little of its growth is due to experimental investigation. The former method has been slow and hesitating and has been accompanied with many unavoidable failures. The latter has, on the other hand, enabled surgery to progress more rapidly and in fields not otherwise offered to advancement."

Swansdown Flavor is Always Uniform

SCIENTIFIC methods determine in advance SWANSDOWN'S uniformly fragrant bouquet and rich abundant flavor.

The four fine grades of coffee beans used in SWANSDOWN are first washed; then all broken, "crippled" beans are floated off so that the mellow, full-bodied flavor remains unimpaired.

The selected berries are then blended into one fixed, secret formula which produces a smooth, delicious coffee of perfectly balanced qualities.

SWANSDOWN is then ready to be served in your home. A meal is only as good as its coffee.

CIVIC CLUBS ENTERTAIN FIREMEN IN ROYAL MANNER

Fire Chief Smith Of Pittsburgh Delivers Very Interesting Address Here

Prominent Members Of Clubs Also Say A Few Words At Meeting

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 14.—One hundred and three members of the Civic clubs of this city gathered at a joint meeting last night in the dining room of the Trinity Lutheran church and enjoyed a delicious menu. Much of the enjoyment of the dinner was derived from the delectable jazz tunes played by Mrs. Rolland Haines on the piano.

The meeting opened with the gathering singing "America." Rev. L. J. Baker then pronunced the invocation, after which several group songs were enjoyed. Mr. Smith of the Kiwanis club sang a little ditty of his own composition entitled "Oh Firemen, We're With You Tonight."

Tom Daly, president of the Chamber of Commerce acted as toastmaster introducing Fire Chief Plante of this city who thanked the local Civic clubs and business men of the city for their hearty co-operation during Fire Prevention week.

The next sepaker introduced was the sepaker of the evening, Chief R. L. Smith of Pittsburgh. In presenting him Mr. Daly stated that Mr. Smith and Chief Plante used to be buddies in the ranks and to Mr. Smith's credit he rose to supreme place in a fire department of the ninth largest city in the world.

Chief Smith said in part that naturally from his associations, he had a vital interest in any movement tending toward fire prevention. He stated that the origin of Fire Prevention week came when the powers that be realized that the human and financial toll by fires was gaining in leaps and bounds in this country. Said he: "Citizens should stand back of their fire departments, not only as a matter of civic pride but as good business, as fire prevention is an economic problem that is engaging the attention of the greatest minds today." He further revealed the fact that 97 per cent of the business carried on today is through the credit system, which cannot really exist without adequate insurance. Any money paid to a fire loss is just so much overhead that is felt in the ultimate price of every day necessities. If this vast loss by fire is reduced this will reflect on the prices of all daily necessities.

W. H. Jaeneck, of California, a business visitor at the Mathews Conveyer company, with which he is affiliated, and also guest of F. E. Moore, stated that after the terrible San Francisco fire the city was rebuilt on a zoning plan and built with the idea of future fire prevention in mind, naturally and some of the latest methods of preventing fires is in use at the present time.

W. R. Johnton of the Rotary club spoke favorably on the zoning problem and urged that it be used here when possible.

J. W. Offutt of the National Tube company gave a short talk on the fire fighting problems as they are found in the mill and regretted the fact that many insurance companies didn't see fit to study fire prevention methods and issue appropriate literature on the same.

Special guests present last night were Chief R. L. Smith of Pittsburgh, Chief H. F. Plante and the fire department of this city as follows: Messrs. F. L. Sleighter, C. K. Shaffer, Russel Bates, E. R. Wimer, Cecil Kocher, Clarence Eckels, Charles Orr, F. L. Shimmel, Frank McKim, Arnold Young, Harry V. Wolfe, C. V. Rodgers, P. B. Curry, George D. Milnes, Charles Baird, E. S. French, W. H. DAYTON STEELE PLAYS HERE SATURDAY

Meet Locals At Franklin Field

New Castle High Football Team Primed For First Important Game Of Year ;Dayton Team To Reach This City Late Tonight; Coach Bridenbaugh Satisfied That Locals Are In Good Condition For Gruelling Conflict; Not Likely To Be Any Changes In New Castle Line-Up; Ohio Team Will Be Light And Fast Is Indication; Game Called For 2:30 O'clock

By "BUGS" WALTHER

Inside the "dope-bucket" is to be found several well defined punctures. Each and every Saturday for the past several weeks has added to the distress of the much abused mythical container. Gridiron upsets this year have been as prominent as insects in Panama.

New Castle High football team is going to battle Dayton Steele High at Ben Franklin Stadium tomorrow afternoon, and there is going to be a real football "dish for the hungry enthusiasts. The Ohio horde invaded this fair city today and they have a group of full sized huskies.

The red and black team is going to find Dayton Steele a hard nut to "crack," the cracking process will get under way shortly after 2:30 o'clock.

The local team after a week of most strenuous training in anxiously waiting for the barrier to be sprung and for the Ohioans to appear on the field of combat. The grid battle soon to be enacted in this man's territory shapes up as the contest of the year.

Indications today point to a monster throng in the stands to greet the schoolboy elevens as they amble forth to do their Saturday afternoon matinee. In the event of fair weather the turnstiles should show upwards of 8,000 revolutions.

Hope For Victory

Both teams trained and waiting for the big festival are confident of victory. New Castle High with an unbroken string of victories is going to strive to the utmost to keep the slate spic and span, while Dayton Steele on the other hand is out for a victory that has been sought after by several other teams in recent years, but always as elusive as the greased pig.

Dayton Steele has a good chance to defeat the locals if they can perfect some way to stop that backfield array that Coach Bridenbaugh will most assuredly shove onto the greensward. Four teams this year have found the task of "hog-tieing" that fleet of ball-tossers to be no menial task. The writer does not hesitate the second in saying that New Castle High school football team this year boasts of a set of backfield men as good if not better than the line plungers of the 1925 team that fought their way to the W. P. I. A. L. championship, and that's saying a lot.

Another thing to be considered is the powerful and well built New Castle forward wall, if Dayton Steele's line can shove the locals aside then it's just too bad, but it is going to take a wonderful lot of linemen to outplay the locals.

Locals Unbeaten

Dayton Steele comes to New Castle with their 1927 season marred by a 26 to 0 defeat suffered last Saturday at the hands of Erie Academy High, and it must make the Ohio boys a little hot under the "Arrow" to recall the drubbing handed them by the Western Pennsylvanians. New Castle High enters the game tomorrow with a spotless record in four engagements, and the team that does romp home with the gravy is going to know that they have been in a football contest.

Big Score Unlooked For.

Hopes of running up a healthy score on the Dayton boys are not entertained at the local institution, but on the other hand the red and black jerseyed team will be content to sit down Saturday night and write in their little "diaries" the word victory. An overwhelming defeat by either team in the struggle tomorrow afternoon is unlooked for.

It will be the initial visit of a Dayton athletic team to this city and of course we will want to make an impression on them. New Castle has long been noted for their sportsmanship and good will and let joy be unrefined tomorrow.

Dayton will not likely have many supporters here for the combat. The distance is rather far for a football game and for that very reason the visitors will have to play a lone hand.

It is rumored around the dressing room that there will be a few changes in the New Castle high lineup when game time arrives, but this could not be confirmed. Coach Philip H. Bridenbaugh will throw his heaviest artillery into the battle, there can be no mistake of that fact, but just who will be summoned is a matter of conjecture. Through grapevine channels it is understood that one of the positions figuring in a change tomorrow will be on the line and that there will be a surprise in the backfield.

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner today announced the following officials for the game: Referee, McCullough (Gettysburg); umpire, McClure, (W. & J.); head linesman, Blum, (Pittsburgh).

The admission to the game tomorrow is but 50 cents. At first it was announced by the high management that the gate-keeper would demand a dollar to see inside the tent, but they have changed the plan and the cost will be 50 cents.

Following are the probable lineups as submitted by the coaches today:

New Castle		Dayton Steele
Ostrosky	L.E.	Williams
Cuba	L.T.	Kanaga
DiCarbo or Mike	L.G.	Nolan
Thomas	C.	Stout
Mooney	R.G.	Hoke
Alexander	R.T.	Clendenning
Craft	R.E.	Riley
Reider	Q.B.	Allen
Turk or Sillman	L.H.	Daum
Richards	R.H.	Blackwell
Harper	F.B.	Schubert

Spooning in public in Chicago "must be reasonably clandestine," is the edict of the city's attorney. Quick, Watson, the dictionary!

ADMISSION FOR GRID GAME IS NOT CHANGED

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner of New Castle high school announced today that the admission to the New Castle-Dayton Steele game tomorrow afternoon, at Ben Franklin stadium, would be 50 cents.

It was originally intended to charge one dollar for this major attraction, but the high school officials after a few days deliberation decided to keep the admission at the old price of 50 cents.

Shenango Pottery Girls Team Feted

Members of the Shenango Pottery girls' baseball team were banqueted at the Leslie hotel last evening and it proved one of the most pleasant events of its kind and came as a happy conclusion to the good games played by the girls this summer.

Those present were: Alice Massan, Elsie Massan, Agnes Donley, Leora Donley, Lucille Winter, Margaret Chill, Emma Adams, Ruth Phillips, Mary Padorano, Mary Schass, Lucy Maglarie, Victoria Flazor, Charlotte Thompson, June Thompson and several of the young men who helped the team during its successful season.

GRID CAPTAINS

Eddie Hannegan is the captain of this year's Navy team. He is the signal barker of the eleven and is fast and a good passer.

Last year Navy completely upset the Michigan team by messing up 24 of the 31 passes attempted by the Wolverines. The gobs showed their true power by running up a pair of touchdowns in 20 minutes against the Army.

A Coast Thriller — By Feg Murray

Copyright, 1927, by Metropolitan Newspaper Service

Two of the strongest teams in the country meet tomorrow in the annual football game between Stanford University and Southern California. This game is so rapidly growing in importance that before long it will outdraw the Pacific Coast's annual "Big Game," the Stanford-California battle.

The reasons for this are easily understood. While Stanford and California are age-old rivals and the game between the two universities has all the tradition and history that go to make it the Yale-Harvard game of the Far West, nevertheless, the Stanford-U. S. C. game has the added intersectional interest to it that the Big Game lacks. There is considerable feeling between the Southern part of the state and the Northern half, so the old feud between Los Angeles and San Francisco looms up and adds more kick to the U. S. C. —Stanford game.

The "Thundering Herd" of Southern California also plays California, but since the death of the popular Andy Smith, California has had no wonder teams, and last year lost to U. S. C., 3 to 27, and to Stanford, 6 to 41. Between those two games Stanford and Southern California put on a marvelous battle in the Los Angeles Coliseum before 80,000 people, Stanford finally winning, 13 to 12, after being twelve points behind. Stanford won by as fine a display of fight as any Cardinal team ever showed. Dick Hyland, the flashy halfback, starred in this game, blocking U. S. C.'s try for goal after their first touch-down, and later catching a 40-yard pass and scoring Stanford's second touch-down.

When foxy Glenn Warner and wily Howard Jones meet, something tricky is sure to happen. Both coaches stress offense over defense, although in the game last year Stanford's great defense against the Trojan's passing attack was one of the features of the game. In Captain Morley Drury, Howard Jones has a fine quarterback, for he is a strong runner, good passer, and able field-general.

Feg Murray Says—

There are five St. Mary's Colleges listed in the Football Guide, four St. John's, four Loyolas, and two Unions. It is hoped that if the latter two ever meet, the union suits will not be the same color.

Cleaners To Play West Side Stars

The Smith Cleaners' football team will battle the West Side Stars at the Carnegie grounds on Saturday afternoon.

Coach Factor, well known Ashland college grid star, is confident that his team will annex their fourth straight victory of the year.

The team shapes up as one of the best lightweight junior teams in the city. Any team desiring to play the Smith Cleaners are asked to call the company.

Wilmington High To Play At Sandy Lake

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 14.—Meeting the football team of Sandy Lake high school at Sandy Lake tomorrow, the local eleven starts the first of its important games. While Ellwood City and Sharon have been played on the New Wilmington grid card, the real calibre of the college town team is not evident until it has met teams of its class.

The starting line-up tomorrow at Sandy Lake will probably be: Captain Davis and Hartwell at end, Scholler and McConnell at tackle, McCrumb and Rudolph at guard, Rose at center, Eagleson at quarterback, Neal and Cheers at halfback and Herriott at fullback.

Jack Rowan Is Visiting Here

Jack Rowan, former pitcher for Cincinnati Reds and Dayton, in the Central League, is spending a week's visit here. Jack is a former New Castle boy. He is now engaged as a mail carrier in Dayton.

Westminster Minus Three Of Regulars; To Meet Allegheny

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 14.—With the final light practice drill today Beede's Blue and White gridders are in the pink of condition for the clash with Allegheny's eleven at Meadville tomorrow. Much of the fumbling that has been noticed in the early Westminster games has been erased by Coaches Beede and Lawther in the drills in the rain this week.

The lineup of the Westminster Titan team will lack three of its stars and shows changes in the backfield. Machin, O'Donovan and Smith will be out and Havrilla has been changed over to fullback. The probable starting lineup tomorrow will be:

Westminster.		Allegheny.
Tweedie	R.E.	Slavin
Dombrowski	R.T.	Davis
Ayers	R.G.	Billings
Boone	C.	Behrhorst
Sweet	L.G.	Coher
Furno	L.T.	Beals
Kelly	L.E.	Hughes
Hall	Q.	White
Dible-M'Quiston	L.H.	Moon
Lauder	R.H.	Thompson
Havrilla	F.	Forbes

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By NORMAN E. BROWN

The football season is young yet for the introduction of any all-Americans. But the contests already staged have produced some brilliant football and some outstanding figures of the various teams.

Cagle of the Army, for instance, made his first bid of the season for honors when he tore off those 60 and 52-yard runs for touchdowns against Marquette.

Lloyd, brother service man, stepped into the limelight early with his running, passing and kicking in the game against Drake.

Ed Wittmer, Princeton hope, aroused the enthusiasm of Tiger followers with his line diving against Lehigh.

Paul Scull, when the played a leading part in defeating the formidable Brown eleven after it had won 14 games in a row, signified his intention of demanding some consideration for season honors.

To say nothing of Ralph Welch, a mere sophomore at Purdue University, who played a leading role in defeating Harvard 19 to 0. It was the first time that an Eastern Conference team had invaded Harvard stadium. Recognizing the fact that the western "boilermakers" were mentioned as contenders for the Eastern Conference honors few easterners had the slightest idea that the visitors would trounce fair Harvard.

Then there is Estes, the Georgia University halfback, who ran Yale's defensive men ragged — scored a touchdown against the Bulldog with a neat run from the 35-yard line, and in other ways shoved himself into the foreground.

Trade School To Play Zelienople

The New Castle trade school football team will journey to Zelienople on Saturday afternoon to battle the strong Zelinople high team, it was anncunced today by Coach Norton.

The locals after their setback at the hands of Bessemer high last week will strive to atone for the defeat by snatching a victory from Zellenople.

It is likely that Coach Norton will have his strongest lineup on the field tomorrow afternoon.

Renault-Delaney Battle Tonight

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—What may be termed the inaugural of the 1927-28 series of heavyweight championship eliminations will be staged tonight at Madison Square Garden when Jack Delaney meets Jack Renault in a ten-round bout. Delaney is favored to win, but not by a knockout. Renault is extremely hard to hit when he is hurt and knows as many defensive tricks as any man in the ring today.

Renault's record discloses only one defeat by a knockout, the late Billy Miske putting him away in thirteen rounds five years ago.

Allegheny Looks For Hard Battle

Westminster Is Home Coming Foe At Meadville Saturday

(Special To The News)

MEADVILLE, Pa., Oct. 14.—In spite of the downpour of rain Coach Merritt sent the Allegheny College football team through a long practice Wednesday night. The popular Allegheny mentor realizes that Saturday's game is one of the most important on the schedule, not only because it is the home-coming game, but because Allegheny and Westminster have been rivals on the gridiron for many years. Westminster has not defeated Allegheny for several years, but the followers of the school at New Wilmington believe that this is the year that they will turn the trick.

James Cober, left guard on the Allegheny team, was injured in the scrimmage Wednesday, and it is uncertain at the present time whether or not he will be able to start Saturday's game. This is the first serious injury that Cober has received during his four years on the Allegheny squad.

Indications are that the Allegheny home-coming Saturday will be the biggest in the history of the occasion. A fine program has been arranged for the day, with the football game at 2:30 in the afternoon as the feature event.

Two famous systems of play will be demonstrated when Allegheny and Westminster line up against each other Saturday. The visitors will present the famous system used by Wally Steffen at Carnegie Tech, while Mel Merritt is using a modified Dartmouth system at Allegheny. There has been much argument concerning the relative merits of the two styles of play and close followers of the teams are waiting anxiously for the game in order that they may decide which really is the stronger system.

Reports have been received from Westminster which indicate that the Blue and White team will be accompanied by several hundred rooters. The great rivalry existing between the two teams always causes the entire following of both teams to attend this game annually, regardless of where it is played. With the two teams evenly matched this year, a bigger crowd than usual is sure to be on hand.

Minteer Gets Draw In Akron Battle

Whitey Minteer of the South Side fought a six round draw with Mike Goldman at Akron, O., last night. In the first round it appeared according to reports received here from fans, that Whitey would be defeated but in the last round he had the Akron boy running.

SORDS POINTS

Pennock The Puny And The Powerful

By JACK SORDS

A slender fellow with a frail physique has become one of the greatest world series pitchers of all time.

Herb Pennock, built along the line of a feather, but possessing all the toughness of a steel and concrete dugout in a battle field, equalled the record of Jack Coombs, old Athletic and Brooklyn star, when he set the Pittsburgh Pirates down in the third game of this year's world series.

It was Pennock's fifth win in the big events and he has yet to suffer a defeat. Incidentally, he is the only pitcher to retire 21 men in a row in seven innings of a series game and the only one on record with two three-hit games to his credit.

Previously, Jack Coombs was the only pitcher to win five games in the big title events without suffering a defeat. Pitching for the famous Athletics, he won three games from the Cubs in 1910. The following year the Giants were his victims in an eleven-inning game.

With Brooklyn in 1916, Coombs won his fifth game, the only game the Dodgers were able to take from Boston in that five-game series. From that day and until Pennock's recent win over the Pirates, Coombs had the distinction of being the only pitcher to win five games in the big classics without tasting defeat.

Besides his recent victory over the Pirates, Pennock set the Giants down twice in 1923, beating Hugh McQuillan and Jack Bentley 4 to 2 in his first game, and finishing ahead of Art Nehf by a 6 to 4 count in the last game of that series.

He beat Sherdel of the Cardinals twice last year by scores of 2 to 1, allowing just three hits in the first game. The second was a 10-inning affair.

Great as his world series records are, Pennock's real worth has been shown during the fearful campaigns when the big guns of the American league were battering his box and he held out while the Yankee artillery roared out victory after victory.

Pennock came to the American league years and years ago. He was with the ill-fated Athletics when they fell in the slaughter of 1914. But that wasn't Herbie's fault. He was just a rookie then.

Pennock came to the Yanks from Boston, and since his acquisition has been one of the greatest twirlers the New Yorks have ever had.

RICHMAN'S CLOTHES

Established 1879

Tailored in our own factories, by stock-owning workers, and sold under our own name, through our own stores, Richman's Clothes give the buyer definite assurance of dependable quality and honest value.

Here you will find the selection of a fall suit or topcoat an enjoyable experience—for we are showing thousands of newly designed and freshly tailored suits and topcoats in the ultra-fashionable as well as conservative styles — models adapted to every taste and type—sizes and proportions to correctly fit every figure.

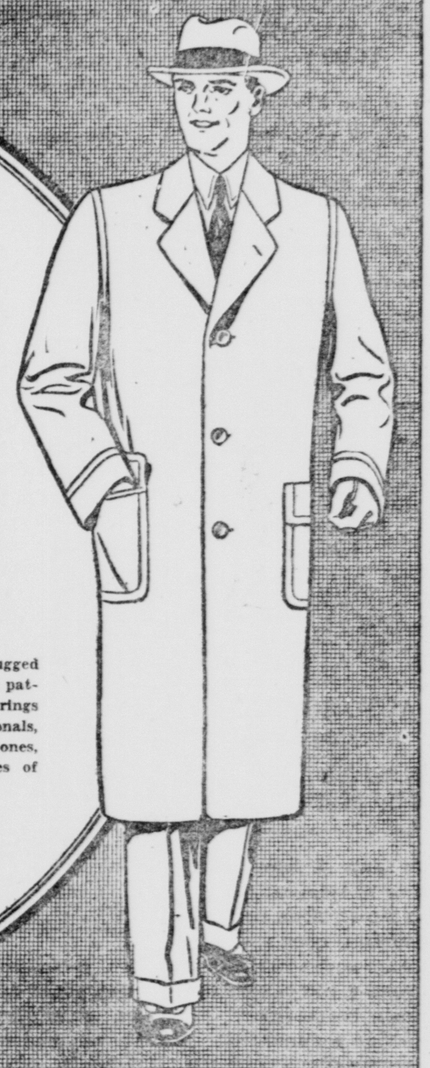
Your choice of fabric, too, is limited only by your power to decide in favor of one pattern or another—so many of these new weaves will win your admiration that you will want to select two or three suits, rather than one—only the looms of mills famed for fine quality have contributed to this comprehensive showing—every wanted weave and shade has been included.

Suits in cassimeres, cheviots, worsteds, twists and tweeds—new shades and richly blended mixtures of gray, tan, brown and blue.

All $22.50

Topcoats in rugged weaves of lively patterns and colorings — tweeds, diagonals, plaids, herringbones, and solid shades of quiet tone.

Choose as your fancy suggests—Richman's Clothes are all one price—$22.50 for any suit, topcoat or tuxedo suit—any fabric, style or size.



No Charge for Alterations

Extra Trousers $3—$4—$6

Crimson Eleven To Play Juniata

GROVE CITY, Pa., Oct. 14.—The two freshman guards on the Crimson football team will face tomorrow afternoon one of the largest players on an opposing team this fall. This man is Spengler of the Juniata line, who tips the scales at well over 200 pounds. He is reported by Grove City scouts to be a great lineman. What Coach Berry's freshman linemen will be able to do with him may be a sign of what they will be able to do with Beach and Copeland, the two giants on the Allegheny college line. Allegheny plays at Grove City one week from tomorrow.

Another player on the Juniata team, a halfback, is a player of unusual brilliance. He is none other than Camile, the famous running guard on the championship Windber high school basketball team last winter. This lad and Michaels, giant Juniata fullback, are the backbone of the visiting team's offense. Unless these boys prove too much for the Grove City defense, Captain Jim McConnell and his teammates should be able to stop much scoring on the part of Juniata tomorrow afternoon.

Panthers Arrive In Des Moines

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14.—Word was received here today that the gridiron representatives of the University of Pittsburgh had arrived in Des Moines, Iowa, early this morning. There the Panther will tangle with Drake University's eleven. Pitt ruled favorite as a result of its 40-0 victory over West Virginia, and Drake's defeat by the Navy last Saturday. All the Pitt men were reported in condition.

Ruth Insists On Big Guarantee

(International News Service)

ASBURY PARK, N. J., Oct. 14. — Babe Ruth, puts business ahead of baseball—in exhibition games at least, before starting play against the Brooklyn Royal Giants here, Ruth insisted upon collecting a guarantee of $2,500, holding up the game an hour while 7,000 fans raved.

Lou Gehrig, the Babe's partner, broke up the game with his second homer. Then several thousand youngsters broke it up permanently by swarming on the field and stealing the team's thirty-sixth and last baseball.

Burned Auto Was Stolen In Youngstown, O.

The automobile discovered Wednesday night, west of the Seventh Ward and on the Byers road, while burning on a dump, was the property of Julia Johnson of 812 Avondale, avenue, Youngstown, O., the police learned Thursday afternoon, when the husband of the woman in whose name it was registered came over to get it.

It had been stolen the previous night from in front of the Y. M. C. A. in Youngstown. Mr. Johnson had not been informed of the fact that the machine was badly damaged by fire and when he arrived here, he was somewhat surprised that this condition existed. He had the remains of the car returned to Youngstown.

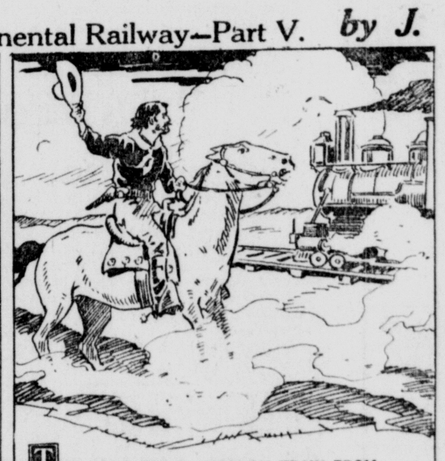
HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

First Trans-Continental Railway—Part V. by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

IN MAY, 1869, THE TRACK-LAYING GANGS OF THE UNION PACIFIC AND CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROADS, APPROACHING EACH OTHER FROM THE EAST AND WEST RESPECTIVELY, MET AT PROMONTORY POINT, NEAR OGDEN, UTAH. ON MAY 10TH THE LAST SPIKE WAS DRIVEN, MARKING THE JUNCTION OF THE TWO LINES, AND THE COMPLETION OF THE FIRST TRANS-CONTINENTAL RAILWAY.



THE NEXT DAY A THROUGH TRAIN FROM NEW YORK SPED PAST PROMONTORY POINT ON ITS WAY WESTWARD TO CALIFORNIA, THE FIRST TO CROSS FROM OCEAN TO OCEAN.

MANY AMERICANS HAD BELIEVED THAT THE EAST AND WEST COASTS WERE TOO FAR DISTANT FROM EACH OTHER TO BE HELD TOGETHER UNDER THE SAME CENTRAL GOVERNMENT. THE COMPLETION OF THE PACIFIC RAILWAY AT ONCE BROUGHT THESE TWO SECTIONS INTO CLOSE UNION!

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—If any disappointment was felt in speculative circles over the inconsequential decline in the weekly volume of brokers' loans, it was not apparent in the action of the stock market in the early trading today.

Under the leadership of General Motors, Radio, International Paper, American Smelting and other well-known industrial and specialty shares, the market advanced in good form to a higher range of prices in practically every department. The widely-heralded advance in General Motors appeared to have gotten under way under the stimulus of unusually heavy trading and United States Steel and Colorado Fuel and Iron continued the move which was in progress at Thursday's close.

High-priced specialties and mercantile stocks, like Rossia Insurance and Macy moved forward impressively, but the railroad stocks were again inactive and featureless.

Long Wear Depends Upon the Proper Care of Hosiery

It may not be amiss for us to review herein a few instructions for the care of silk stockings—things which lengthen their wear and keep them looking their best.

Pulling On

When a stocking is pulled on, threads may be torn; therefore, stockings should be rolled down to the heel and drawn over the foot when putting on.

Attaching Supporter

Do not attach supporter too tightly, because a thread may break, causing a run when the knee it bent. Supporters fastened below garter band will ruin the stocking. They should always be fastened to garter band.

Washing

Never use hot water or an iron. In a bowl of luke-warm water dissolve some neutral flake soap. See that it is well dissolved; never rub soap on hosiery.

Rinsing

In rinsing, a teaspoon of vinegar added to the water will help restore the lustre of the silk. Squeeze the water out gently and allow stockings to dry. NEVER WRING OUT.

State Employment Outlook Favorable

By GEORGE H. MANNING
(Washington Correspondent of The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 14.—A favorable outlook for industrial employment in Pennsylvania during the remainder of the year is predicted by the Department of Labor in a report of a survey conducted by the United States Employment Service made public here today.

Employment prospects in the coal mining industry are characterized as "entirely satisfactory", the report states.

The report reviews the Pennsylvania labor situation as follows:

"Industrial employment prospects for the remainder of the year in the leading industries in this state are reported as favorable. The iron and steel and allied industries are operating on a basis of approximately 65 per cent of capacity and are expected to gradually increase production and employment during the next three months. Employment in the anthracite industry will show a steady improvement. Collieries that have been closed and those that have been working on a part-time basis are resuming full-time operations, and the employment outlook in this line is entirely satisfactory. The trend of production and employment in the bituminous mines is gradually increasing and further improvement is anticipated.

"There continues to be a slight depression in the oil-drilling industry and the prospects for improvement are not favorable. The textile mills are showing a marked improvement and there is every indication that production and employment in the leading branches of this industry will continue upward during the remainder of the year.

"There are a considerable number of miscellaneous industries operating part time with reduced forces and the outlook in these lines is not entirely satisfactory, although some improvement is expected. Seasonal employment in agriculture, fruit and vegetable harvesting and canning will show a marked decline with the advent of the fall months, but this will be partly offset by increased activities in factories manufacturing novelties, holiday goods and confectionery, as well as large mercantile establishments, where many workers will be absorbed during the next 30 to 90 days.

"Employment in freight divisions of the railroads and in the railroad shops, yards and terminals is expected to show the usual increase during the fall period. Considerable public-improvement work, a large building program, highway construction and municipal improvements and repairs will continue well into the close of the year. This will insure steady employment to most of the building tradesmen and construction workers, although a surplus of unskilled labor will be apparent."

New Wonderful Face Powder

If the face powder you now use does not stay on long enough to suit you—does not keep that ugly shine away indefinitely—does not make your skin colorful like a peach—try this new wonderful special French Process Face Powder called MELLO-GLO. Remember the name MELLO-GLO. There's nothing like it.

Safe Relief

You need not guess what Tonsiline contains. We print the ingredients on every bottle. They are known to be reliable for the treatment of inflamed conditions of the throats and mouths of children and adults and have been favorites in the prescriptions of physicians for many years. Over thirty years use proves Tonsiline is the perfect combination of these valuable drugs. Don't accept a subsitute. Insist on the bottle with the long necked fellow on it.

Man Gives 800 Cents As Alimony Payment

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 14.—Money is money to Frank J. Conway of the town of Dewitt, near here. Ordered Saturday to pay $8 a week alimony to his wife, Margaret, he visited her home yesterday, she told Assistant District Attorney Mandell Wesiberg today, and left 800 cents. Mrs. Conway was told that she would have to accept 500 of the coins, but that legally she was not forced to accept more.

Blind Vet Leads Class At Oxford

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Donald J. McMILLAN-LIGO

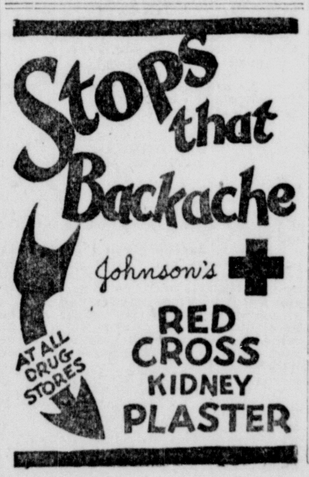
The marriage of Miss Esther Elizabeth McMillan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McMillan of this place, and Russell Ligo, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Ligo of East Lackawannock township on the New Wilmington road was solemnized Wednesday, Oct. 12, at 4:45 p. m. at the parsonage parlor by Rev. S. C. Elder. The ring ceremony was used. Mr Hawthorne was best man and Miss Leona McMillan, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McMillan and daughter Eunice accompanied the party. The bride was lovely dressed in a pink silk georgette frock and carried a beautiful bridal bouquet of pink sweetheart roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Leona, was gowned in a tan crepe costume with accessories to match. The bride and groom are both graduates of Mercer high school. They left immediately by motor on a trip. Invitations have been sent out for a post-nuptial dinner on Saturday, October 15.



RAISES BIG PIGS

Glenn Dunlap, local farmer and former schoolmaster, has just completed his ton litter project, and with eight pigs in the litter made a total weight of 2294 pounds. These pigs averaged 286 pounds, which is the highest average in Mercer county for 1927 up to this date. The lighest pig in the litter weighed 258 pounds and the heaviest 309 pounds. Seven pigs would make the ton. The breed was a mixture, they being part Doroc Jersey and part Poland China.
